Established 1887

Sadat Slain by Gunmen in Cairo Attack; Hopes for Mideast Stability Diminish

Published with The New York Times and The Washington Post

Security men and armed troops milled around the assassination after President Anwar Sadat was shot. The president's body scene at the military parade area in Cairo on Tuesday minutes was removed by helicopter. A dead security man lies on the ground.

Begin Hopes Peace Process Will Go On

By William Claiborne li ashington Post Servico JERUSALEM — The assassina-tion of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat plunged Israel into doubt about the future of Middle East peace, as Israeli leaders anxiously sought signals of continuity of the peace process that in 1977 ended three decades of warfare between the two nations. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, his voice quavering with emotion, said Tuesday night after an emergency meeting of his prayed that the first rapprocbement with an Arab world power would not also die at the bands of "the enemies of peace."

Across a broad political spectrum, Israeli leaders expressed sbock and outrage over Mr. Sadat's assassination, calling it an afront to the spirit of peace that marked the Egyptian leader's visit to Jerusalem in November, 1977.

But Israeli politicians also warned gravely that the killing in Cairo, on the eighth anniversary of the most painful war Israel has fought with Egypt may have placed in doubt the final stage of the withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula, which 1srael captured in the 1967 Six Day

Reason for Abrogation

Extremist nationalists in Israel's parliament immediately seized upon the assassination as a reason for abrogating the 1979 Israeli-Egyptian Camp David peace treaty and canceling the withdrawal from the last third of the Sinai. which is scheduled to take place next April 28.

Officially, the government took a moderate posture in response to the official announcement in Cairo that Mr. Sadat had died following an attack on his reviewing stand during the ceremonies marking the anniversary of the October war.

Mr. Begin sequestered himself and his closest advisers for more than four hours in his private residence, refusing to comment on the implications of the slaying until well after the official announcement was issued in Cairo.

Even then, his comments were more of a tribute to Mr. Sadat as a peacemaker and friend than an indictment of Israel's enemies or a dark assessment of the future of "The criminals assassinated one of the great fighters for peace in our generation. Mr. Begin announced in an occasionally break-ing voice. "The people of Israel share in the mourning of the Egyptian people for those who fell victim to the enemies of peace."

peace in the region.

Process to Continue

The Israeli prime minister called that the entire free world rejoiced over Mr. Sadat's 1977 visit to Jerusalem, and that the world. similarly, would grieve over his death. But, Mr. Begin said, the peace process will continue "as President Sadat would have wished it would continue, despite the efforts of the enemies of peace.

There were similar expressions of cautious optimism from other Israeli leaders, but also indications of doubt over wbether Israel can maintain a semblance of momenturn for peace without the chief architect of the Camp David process. Former Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said that the assassination "puts a very big question mark about the continuation of the peace treaty because of his [Mr. Sadat's] personal rule.

"You cannot ignore the personal rule of Sadat. If [Vice President] Hosny Muharak or the others will be as strong as Sadat was and will honor the peace treaty and all the commitments, then I think things will go according to the peace agreement," Mr. Dayan added.

Heir's Tendencies

Former Prime Minister Yitzhak Rahin, now in the Labor Party op-position of the Knesset, also said that the assassination "will bave a lot of influence on the peace pro-

"When you make peace with an Arab nation, it is very important peace, and how long the leader re-mains in office. It will take some tendencies of his beir," Mr. Rahin

Then, in an extraordinary and seemingly bitter indictment of U.S. process, Mr. Rabin added: "I feel I have to sharpen my arguments, against my will, and say that [for-mer President Jimmy] Carter con-tributed to the downfall of the shah [of Iran] and the Reagan administration contributed to the downfall of Mr. Sadat."

"The same way as Carter by his insistance on human rights underthe present administration one can detect clear signs of moving away from the Camp David agreements.

"The United States did not show interest in the implementation of several aspects of the agreements. including the autonomy talks. The Camp David agreements are in abeyance, and the American administration moved its emphasis from Egypt to Saudi Arabia instead of worrying about autonomy. There is no doubt in my mind that this shift in emphasis weakened Sadat's position in the Arab world aswell as inside Egypt." Mr.

Mubarek Says Policies Will Not Be Changed

By David B. Ottaway

CAIRO - President Mohammed Anwar Sadat was assassinated Tuesday in a hail of bullets when a group of soldiers participating in a military parade he was reviewing on the outskirts of the capital opened

The 62-year-old Egyptian leader was taken by helicopter from the parade grounds in the suburb of Nasser City to a military bospital across

Shortly before 8 p.m. local time (18:00 GMT), Vice President Hosny Mubarak announced on television that Mr. Sadat had died of his injuries. The exact time of his death was not disclosed, but unofficial reports circulating in the capital as early as 4 p.m. said he was already dead.

[The leftist Beirut newspaper Al Liwa said an anonymous telephone caller identifying himself as a spokesman for the "Rejection Front for the Liberation of Arab Egypt" said its secret "Free Officers" branch within Egypt's military carried out the attack, The Associated Press re-

Paratroop Officer

[The paper said the caller described the "Rejection Front for the Liberation of Arab Egypt" as the military arm of a group formed by former Egyptian Army Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. Saadeddin Shazli (retired) and known as the Egyptian National Front. Gen. Shazli, a paratroop officer, was chief of staff in the early days of the 1973 war with Israel, which

[The general's front combined exiled Egyptians from several opposition groups, including the Communist Party, It has vowed to bring down the Sadat regime and revoke the peace treaty Mr. Sadat signed with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin under the sponsorship of the United States in 1979.]

The death of Mr. Sadat came seemed certain to have major repercussions not only inside a shaken Egypt but throughout the Middle East, A Nobel peace prize winner for his historic trip to Jerusalem in 1977 and subsequent treaty with the Israelis, Mr. Sadat had single-handedly turned the course of Arab politics away from war and toward peace with the Arabs' number one enemy, Israel.

Despite Mr. Mubarek's assurances, it is far from certain that Egypt will now pursue with the same virgor and spirit the already troubled peace process that has reached something of an impasse over the Palestinian autonomy issue.

Inside Egypt, the repercussions are likely to be far-reaching for its system of limited democracy, which already was being severely tested both by leftist and Moslem fundamentalist opposition groups. Last month, Mr. Sadat had carried out a massive crackdown on both sectarian extremists and secular opposition elements to his regime. Nonetheless, Mr. Mubarek said that Egypt would continue to remain "an Island of peace and stability" in the Middle East.

Mr. Mubarek said Sufi Abu Taleb, speaker of the National Assembly, was taking over as interim president until new elections were held within the next 60 days as sripulated under the constitution. He added that Mr. Taleb bad declared n stale of emergency beginning for one year and had also named him commander in thief of the armed forces.

President Anwar Sadat

that the Egyptian government would abide by all the treaties and agreements entered into during his 11-year regime, including presumably Egypt's peace agreement with Israel and the U.S. sponsored Camp Da-accords. "We tell Sadat," said a somber Mr. Mubarck after an emergency Cabinet meeting, "your people will always remember you, will never

There was no immediate word about funeral arrangements for the slain president, but one government spokesman said he thought the ceremony would be held "in the next few days."

There were conflicting initial reports as to what organization the assailants belonged to. A little-known leftist Egyptian group clamed responsibility abroad, but unofficial army sources here said they believed the men were part of the Gamaat Islamiya, or Islamic Groups, a rightist

Libya, Iranians, PLO Vent Their Exultation

From Agency Dispatches
BEIRUT — The Arab world reacted variously with joy, grief and concern to the news of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's death. Nou-Arab Iran greeted it with sat-isfaction. Radio Moscow linked the assassination to Mr. Sadat's peace treaty with Israel

Libya was exultant. In Beirut, Palestinians and leftist Lebanese militias fired guns in the air, rejoic-ing over the shooting. At the Unit-ed Nations, hard-line Arab diplomats who had opposed Mr. Sadat had bttle comment. Diplomats, from moderate Arab countries expressed concern that Mr. Sadat's death would aggravate instability throughout Middle East.

Sudan condemned the assassination and said Khartoum stood with the Egyptian government against all forms of conspiracy, sabotage and aggression.

In the Western world, the news met with shock and disbelief. Austria's chancellor, Bruno Kreisky, said: "There is no doubt that the critical situation in the Middle East will get worse after this trage-

Courage Cited

French President François Mitterrand decribed Mr. Sadat as a "man who knew how, with courage and exceptional intelligence, to al-ricet destiny."

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt said Mr. Sadat's courage had "risen him heads above many of his contemporar-

At the Vatican, Pope John Paul II. himself struck by a would-he assassin's bullet five months ago. sent a telegram to Cairo. The pope praised Mr. Sadat as "a man of peace" who had a "noble vision of reconciliation among peoples."

Radio Moscow "his he assassination to internat apposition to his policies regard. "Israel and the United States. List month, Mr. Sadat expelled the Soviet ambassador, six other diplomats and more than 1,000 technicians for alleged involvement in a plot against him.

Radio Moscow quoted unidentified analysts as saying the sbooting stemmed ...from "discontent of Egyptians with Sadat's foreign and domestic policies, especially the peace treaty with the Israeli aggressor and military cooperation with the United States."

Syrian students and Ba'ath party militants danced in the streets of Damascus chanting "the traitor is dead." In Beirut, PLO security chief Salah Khalaf, code-named Abu Iyad, said the PLO would shake the hand of he who pulled the trigger."
In Lebanon, Palestinian guerrillas and their Lebanese leftist allies, who bitterly opposed the U.S. sponsored Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty signed in 1979, fired rifles, machine gums and even anti-air-traft guns into the air. Witnesses reported seeing at least three people who appeared to have been ple who appeared to have been and the series of the ser ple who appeared to have been in-jured by stray bullets.

"We were not surprised with they news that Sadat had been shot because we had been expecting some-thing like this at any momenti-now," Abu lyad said.

Jordan Reserved

In Jordan, there was no official In Jordan, there was no official reaction. Official sources who declined to be identified said. This was expected as a result of President dent Sadat's separate treaty with

(Continued on Page 2, Col.1)

OTHER NEWS

POLAND'S SOLIDARITY trade union showed a more radical face at POLAND'S SOLIDARLIT trade union showed a more radical face at its Congress Tuesday with publication of a tough draft program and election successes for militants. The congress, in its 11th day, also moved toward aproving a resolution condemning recent price rises, Page 3.

PRISON REFORMS FOR ULSTER were announced by Britain, but the government refused a key demand of the Irisb nationalists that jailed guerrillas be allowed to associate freely with each other. Page 3.

EUROPEAN CRITICS OF NATO'S plans to base U.S. cruise missiles on European soil will gain some ammunition from the Reagan administration's decision to put several hundred cruise missiles aboard stibmanature of NATO forces said.

President Anwar Sadat, President Jimmy Carter and Prime agreements on Sept. 17, 1978, in Washington following negoti-Minister Menachem Begin are shown as they signed one of two ations at Camp David on an Israeli-Egyptian settlement.

Outrage, Sadness and Apprehension Expressed in U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger Jr. said that "if anything should happen to him [Mr. Sadat], it would be one of the most AWACS surveillance planes to

By Fred Farris

International Herald Tribune WASHINGTON - The assassination of President Anwar Sadat. regarded as the keystone of Middle East peace as well as a firm friend of the United States, shocked Washington Tuesday, evoking expressions of outrage and grief and predictions of possibly tragic consequences for the Middle East. President Reagan read a statement on national television soon after Mr. Sadat's death was officially confirmed in Cairo, express-ing America's loss of a friend and the world's loss of "a champion of Egypt's ambassador to Washington. Ashraf Ghorbal, said in a statement that his government will continue to follow its charted "peace process" with Israel and "continue to fulfill its internation! obligations." He said the association with the United States "will a man who sought to improve a remain the cornerstone of our poli-

President Reagan and his aides were reported to be meeting, with one topic of discussion reportedly being whether Mr. Reagan would go to Cairo for the state funeral of Mr. Sadat, who greatly impressed the U.S. president during the Egyptian leader's visit here in July.

One result of the events in Cairo was that at least one Senate opponent of Mr. Reagan's controversial proposal to sell Saudi Arabia AWACS radar planes reversed bis position, and action on the plan was delayed in a House committee.

In his statement, read at 2:30 p.m. on the front portico of the White House as his wife Nancy stood at his side. Mr. Reagan said: "In a world filled with hatred.

Mr. Sadat was a man of hope, in a world trapped in the animosities of the past, he was a man of foresight.

Those sentiments were echoed by former President Jimmy Carter, who with Mr. Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin had worked out the Camp David accords bringing peace between Egypt and Israel.

Mr. Carter said in a television interview after the attack but be-fore word of Sadat's death that the Egyptian president was crucial to stability in the Middle East.

"Sada1 is bold, courageous, very knowledgable about strategic interrelationships between those countries [Arabs and Israel] and even those who publicly disagree with him, like the Saudis on occasion, give him support and admira-

Because official confirmation from Cairo of Mr. Sadat's death was delayed for about seven hours, world tormented by malice and based on reports of his wounding pettiness." based on reports of his wounding and probable death. There was widespread confusion bere as conflicting reports of Mr. Sadat's death circulated, including a report to the Senate by Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee that he had been told by Vice President Bush that Mr. Sc dat had died. That report later was retracted by the White House because the official announcement from Cairo had not yet been made.

But reports of the death of Mr. Sadat became more numerous and finally were confirmed officially in befall a man who symbolizes a commitment to peace."

Former President Gerald R. Ford called Mr. Sadat's relationship with Mr. Begin "absolutely essential" to peace, adding:
"But what scares most of us is — supposing there should be a trage-dy and we should have new leader-ship in Egypt. We don't know what it would be. It could go in the wrong direction. We need him and Tuesday morning, President Reagan, himself wounded in an attempt on his life March 30, sent Mr. Sadat a letter soon after being told at 7:30 a.m. EDT of the attention of the state of the sent market of the sent morning told at 7:30 a.m. EDT of the attention of the sent morning told at 7:30 a.m. EDT of the attention of the sent morning told at 7:30 a.m. EDT of the we pray for him ... His presence and continued leadership is abso-lutely vital to making continuing progress to a peace settlement in the Middle East." tack, calling it "outrageous and tragic that such violence should

Meanwhile, at Mr. Reagan's request the House Foreign Affairs Committee postponed its expected rejection of the U.S. sale of serious losses we could have, be-cause he's one of the most stabilizing forces in that very volatile re-

Saudi Arabia.

Senate Minority Leader Robert
C. Byrd of West Virginia urged Congress to put off all action on the controversial sale because of the Cairo shooning.

And one avowed opponent of the sale, Sen. Orrin Hatch, Republican of Utah, became the first senator to reverse his position and back Mr. Reagan.

We have to be very concerned about conditions in the Mideast at this time." Sen. Hatch told reporters. "If there is ever a time to sup-port the president, now is that

U.S. forces in the Middle East were said to be taking "prudent and necessary" precautions in the wake of the shooting hat U.S. officials, who initially said there bad been no special alert, later bad no comment on suggestions the U.S. 6th Fleet units in the eastern Mediterranean had been put on alert.

'The Man of Peace' Blended Courage With Flexibility

By Eric Pace New York Times Service

NEW YORK - "Sadat! Sadat!" tens of thousands of Cairenes chanted at the grinning figure in the open limousine. "Sadat! The man of peace!

It was the night of Nov. 21, 1977. Mr. Sadat had just come back from his epochal journey to Jerusalem. Egypt's masses were putting their frenzied seal of approval on what his trip had achieved — an Egyptian-Israeli thaw that set the stage for the peace

Suspense had begun building 11 days earlier, when the wily, daring Egyptian leader said in Cairo that he was willing to go to "the ends of the earth," and even to the Israeli parliament, in the cause of peace. Then the Israeli government of Menachem Begin said he was welcome in Jerusalem, and he flew there, al-though a state of war still existed between Egypt and

His eyes were moist and his lips tant as he arrived, but his Arabie was firm when he told hushed members of the Israeli parliament: "If you want to live with us in this part of the world, in sincerity I tell you that we welcome you among us with all security and

Protests in Middle East

Expressions of outrage were already pouring from the hard-line Arab capitals, but Mr. Begin, praising Mr. Sadat's initiative, said: "We the Jews, know how to appreciate such courage."

It took flexibility as well as courage for Mr. Sadat to become the first major Arab leader to proclaim his williamses to appreciate the first major Arab leader to proclaim his willingness to accept Israel's existence.

Mr. Sadat's flexibility, he felt, stemmed from his solitary confinement as a political prisoner in cell 54 of the Cairo Central Prison in 1947 and 1948. "My contemplation of life and human nature in that secluded place taught me that he who cannot change the very fabric of his thought will never be able to change reality and will never, therefore, make any "he wrote in his memoirs, "In Search of ldentity," which appeared in 1978, eight years after he became president he became president.

His conciliatory stand, highlighted by the visit to Jerusalem in 1977, helped bring about the treaty that, after many snags, he and Mr. Begin signed on March 26, 1979, at the White House. Before reaching agreement Mr. Sadat and Mr. Begin had drawn-out, interment Mr. Sadat and Mr. Begin had drawn-out, intermediate the state of the st mittent and sometimes acrimonious negotiations, for which they both won the 1978 Nobel Peace Prize.

The treaty provided that Israel return to Egypt in phases the entire Sinai Peninsula, which it seized in the 1967 war. It also envisaged internal autonomy for the Palestinian Arabs of the Jordan River's West Bank under continued Israeli control.

Praise From Kissinger

The Egyptian and Israeli governments were helped and prodded by the Nixon and Carter administrations. In dealings with Israel and the United States, Mr. Sadat strove to establish a harmonious mood that would make it difficult for others to disagree with him. His most audacious use of that technique was

Mr. Sadat's gesture to Israel brought him hatred and vituperation from many Arab leaders and Saudi Arabia cut back its aid to the Egyptian armed forces and the economy.

Yet his isolation in the Arab world did not undercut his domestic support: he profited politically by underscoring the idea, widespread in Egypt, that other Arabs had grown wealthy while the Egyptians had borne the hurden of the four Israeli wars.

The Saudi action made Egypt more dependent than ever on support from the United States, with which Mr. Sadat had also been careful to cultivate bonds of friendship. Under his predecessor, the fiery Gamal Abdel Nasser, Cairo's relations with the Americans. as with the Saudis, were hostile much of the time. Mr. Sadat got moral and political support from Washington as well as large-scale economie and military aid. As president, Mr. Sadat also departed from Mr. Nasser's pro-Soviet stance when, in July, 1972, be or-dered the withdrawal of the 25,000 Soviet military air force general who announced Anwar Sadat's death to the Egyptian people Tuesday and is expect-the presidency. Unlike Mr. Sadat,

he earned a reputation as n capa-

In announcing his president's assassination on Egyptian televi-

Democratic Party to assume the presidency, was to remain in charge of the Egyptian armed policies has forced Mr. Mubarak to make some of the same zig-zags that the assassinated leader made

Beirut, said: "Sadat's death is the end to all traitors who sold the land [Palestine] to Israel and America and imposed himself as a dictator on the patient struggling

The Libyan government, calling Mr. Sadat the "head of treason."

warned that any successor to the ussassinated Egyptian leader who followed the same policies would peoples of Egypt."

in his decade of power.

ble and accomplished diplomat.

advisers in Egypt. "I wanted to tell the whole world that we are always our own masters," he wrote. Last month, he expelled the Soviet ambassador and hundreds of technicians. The changes in the relationship with Washington and Moscow were made after Mr. Sadat concluded that the Arabs could not achieve a satisfactory end to their confrontation with Israel as long as they were allied with the Soviet Union while Israel enjoyed allout U.S. support.

He was able to make such drastie shifts in part because his power was not seriously challenged at home during his later years as president. A career officer and longtime confidant of Mr. Nasser, he was named vice president in 1969, came out ahead in a brief power struggle after Mr. Nasser's death in 1970 and was formally made president by a rubber-stamp vote of members of the Arab Socialist Union, the only legal political organization. He consolidated and enlarged his power in the spring of 1971 when, with army aid, he forestalled what he said was a coup and arrested his opponents.

Mr. Sadat was widely thought to be popular with the masses, with which, in his highly emotional way, he felt a warm and almost mystic bond.

Early in his presidency, Mr. Sadat enhanced his popularity by eliminating many of the police-state controls that Mr. Nasser relied on to keep power in the years after the officers' revolt that ended the king-

As an administrator he concerned himself with broad lines of policy and, for the most part, left it to his subordinates to carry it out. Although he was a highly emotional man, he could conceal his true feelings and be extremely devious: He repeatedly lied his way out of trouble when he was a young officer plott-ing a military revolt, and as president he pulled off a master stroke of deception when he concealed his preparations for the 1973 war, which began with a surprise attack on Israel.

Mr. Sadat had many personal quirks. He disliked offices and rarely appeared at Abdin Palace, the presidential residence in Cairo, preferring to work in his modest villa and in government-owned rest houses around the country. He wore elegantly out British-style suits, though even as president he liked to stroll around his native village in a long Arab shirt. He never learned to dance. He could be the high-toned statesman one minute, relishing his hobnohbing with other world leaders, and the humdrum homebody the next, always beginning the day with a dose of Eno's Fruit Salts, a British-made aid to digestion.

Mr. Sadat was divorced from his first wife, who was from his native village; they had three daughters. He is survived by his second wife, Jihan, who has played an active role in public affairs, particularly concerning the lot of women and children; they had four children, a son and three daughters.

Mohammed Anwar Sadat was born Dec. 25, 1918, In Mit Abul Kom, a cluster of mud-brick buildings in Minufiya province between Cairo and Alexandria. He was one of the 13 children of Mohammed Sadat, a government clerk, and his part-Sudanese wife, a heritage manifest in the dark color of Mr. Sadat's skin.

His first schooling was at the hands of a clerie who instilled in him a deep and lasting faith in Islam—so lasting that as an adult Mr. Sadat bore a dark mark on his forehead, the result of repeatedly touching his head to the floor in prayer.

In 1925 the father was transferred to Cairo, and the family moved into a small house on the outskirts of the capital, not far from Kubba Palace, one of the residences of Egyptian kings. Anwar gave early evidence of the audacity he showed in later life, stealing apricots from the royal orchard.

Although the elder Sadat rose to be a senior clerk, the family was poor. In time the schoolboy, like other Egyptians of his generation, came to have a burning political desire: he wanted his country freed of the control of Britain, which had maintained troops there and exercised power in other ways since the decline of Ottoman Turkish power late in the 19th century.

President Anwar Sadat (back to camera) Imoged Prime Minister Menachem Begin as President Jimmy Carter looked on after signing the Camp David accords in Washington on Sept. 17, 1978.

Wanting to play a role in Egypt's future, young Sadat decided to become an officer. Despite lacklus-ter schooling, he managed to gain admission to the Royal Military Academy. Graduating in 1938, he was assigned to a signal corps installation near the capital, where, as he later told it, he became active in the formation of an organization of officers who wanted to mount armed revolt against the British

When World War II broke out Capt. Sadat continued to look on Britain as the main enemy. He was arrested but released for lack of evidence in one plot. Then he was implicated by two Nazi agents in another plot and sent to a succession of jails, where he polished his English and learned German.

In 1944 Capt. Sadat went on a hunger strike and was transferred to a prison hospital, where he dodged his guard, jumped into a friend's car and escaped. He lived as a fugitive for a year, helping for a time with work on a house being built near the Pyramids for King Farouk, who later was to be ousted by the junta of which Mr. Sadat was a part.

Helped by Friends

With the end of the war came the lifting of the martial-law regulations under which Capt. Sadat had been detained, enabling him to resume his real identi-ty. He also resumed plotting against the British and their Egyptian supporters.

He worked for a while in a Cairo publishing house and in 1950 got himself reinstated in the army. He was soon promoted, thanks to help from the dissident officers' clandestine network, the Free Officers Organization, which had been growing in size and power under the leadership of an old friend, Lt. Col. Nasser.

One evening, he found a note from Col. Nasser lying "operations" were beginning that night and directing Maj. Sadat to join the revolutionaries.

"My heart leapt," Mr. Sadat recalled in one of his books, "Revolt on the Nile." I tore off my civilian elothes and threw on my uniform. In five minutes I was at the wheel of my car." At army headquarters, where the rebels had taken control, Col. Nasser told him to take over the Cairo radio at dawn and to broadcast a proclamation announcing the coup. Maj. Sadat carried out that historic task after waiting for the daily reading from the Koran to be completed.

The revolution led to the exile of King Farouk, the withdrawal of the British troops from Egypt and, be-fore long, the emergence of Mr. Nasser as strongman and president, roles he filled until his death of a heart attack in 1970. Although Mr. Sadat filled various high posss during the Nasser era, and despite his long record of revolutionary activity, his abilities were un-derestimated by many in the Nasser entourage and for more than a decade be was given a succession of an ambassador (it was not clear whether from North or South Korea) and two other unidentified persons, one of them a security

(Coutinued from Page 1)

27 Others Wounded

In addition, initial reports said 27 others, including eight Egyp-tians, four Americans and the Belgian ambassador, were wounded in

The attack occurred toward the which began on Oct. 6.

The assailants, either civilians dressed in military uniform or reg-ular soldiers, were riding in a Sovi-et-made truck that was towing a new South Korean long-range ar-tillery piece. There were six of them sitting in the back, though some witnesses thought there were a total of eight involved in the at-

As the truck drew up parallel to the reviewing stand at about 15 yards distance, it came abruptly to

Few of the some 2,000 spectadown last month.

jobs that were highly visible but of secondary impor-

When Mr. Nasser named Mr. Sadat vice president, it was widely thought that he got the job because it On Mr. Nasser's death, Mr. Sadat, as the only vice president, became acting president. Then and in his first months as president he had to share power with others prominent under Mr. Nasser, some colleagues backed him for the presidency because they thought he could be manipulated.

Building a Reputation

In those first weeks many ordinary people found it difficult to take him seriously. With his grin, his fancy suits and his frequent hollow-sounding vows to wage war on Israel, he did not seem to be a strong and purposeful leader. He showed his strength of will when, after a few months, he moved to consolidate his power by imprisoning two of the most powerful fig-ures in the regime, Vice President Ali Sabry, who had close ties with Soviet officials, and Sharawi Gomaa, who controlled the secret police.

Mr. Sadat enhanced his popularity by displaying and following an intuitive sense of what the masses wanted. He was doing what they wanted when he cut back the powers of the hated secret police, when he ousted the Soviet military experts and when he pre-pared for war with Israel — even though Golda Meir, israel's prime minister when he took office, appraised him, as she later wrote, as a "reasonable man who might soberly consider the benefits" of ending the confrontation.

Economic Strengths

His popularity benefited also from the fairly strong condition of the economy, which had seemed on the brink of disaster after Egypt's catastrophie defeat in the 1967 war. By late 1979 the economic growth rate had reached 9 percent a year and was one of the highest in the developing world, thanks largely to more than $1 billion a year in U.S. aid.

As the new decade got under way Mr. Sadat seemed confident of his policies, but events seemed to have worsened somewhat; criticism mounted at home and in unfriendly Arab capitals in March, 1980, when the deposed shah of Iran moved to Cairo, where he died that July, Cairo's isolation in the Arab world and, beyond that, in the Third World was galling, and its almost total reliance on Washington for food, aid and weapons was a source of concern. Inflation was running at 30 percent a year, there were signs of increasing repression — the recent arrests of Moslem and Coptic fanatics — and Israel's policy of multiply-ing settlements on the occupied West Bank intensified pessimism.

Power Vacuum Plunges Mideast Into Deeper Political Uncertainty

By Joseph Fitchett

PARIS - The death of Anwar Sadat — so often predicted by his extremist foes and so unexpected when it happened — leaves a momentary power vacuum in Egypt, plunging the Middle East into deeper political uncertainty than could any other event short of

His assassination — and the disappearance of his political charis-

NEWS ANALYSIS

ma and psychological authority— is a major blow to U.S. policy in the Middle East. Egypt had be-come a comerstore of Arab-Israeli peace-making and an increasingly important ally in U.S. military plans for the region. Mr. Sadat also was a vigorous, outspoken op-ponent of the Soviet Union.

The deep Western concern about the loss of an ally of such stature was reflected late Tuesday in questions pondered by diplo-mats as they waited for details of developments in Egypt:

• How much of Egypt's peace with Israel will survive Mr. Sadat's

• Will a new Egyptian leadership seek legitimacy by moving closer to Arab countries, even the most moderate of which espouse harder-line policies toward Israel than Mr. Sadat's?

· If Mr. Sadat's successor tries to maintain the U.S.-sponsored Camp David accords, will Israel keep its pledge — despite Mr. Sa-dat's murder — to evacuate fully the Sinai Peninsula next May?

None of these questions is likely to he clearly answered for weeks, until Mr. Sadat's succession is firmly decided in Egypt, Mean-while the removal of Mr. Sadat, and his personal authority as a peace-maker, jeopardizes the Egyptian-Israeli negotiating momentum, leaving greater regional political disarray for policy-makers in the Middle East and in the Umited States, Europe and the So-

Listing risks and a few possible opportunities, several officials said the most explosive imminent contingency was possible Libyan im-plication in Mr. Sadat's death. Col. Moamer Qadhafi, the Libyan leader, was the most bitter personal enemy of Mr. Sadat, and he - along with some other radical Arabs gave support to numerous groups viet Union.

seeking to overthrow the Egyptian

"If the Egyptian leadership docides to blame Col. Qadhafi, I wouldn't exclude a war with Libya. with unforesecable consequences," a U.S. analyst said, echoing similar statements by several senior European officials.

Soviet support for Libya — and Egyptian criticism of Col. Qadhafi have hardened in recent weeks since the Gulf of Sidra episode in which two Libyan warplanes were downed by U.S. fighters.

The Reagan administration's The Reagan administration's first priority now will be to help Vice President Hosny Mubarak—a protege of Mr. Sadat—consolidate his hold on power. Alarmed by the loss of Mr. Sadat, the United States may well seek to tighten its bonds with other key Arab allies—notably Sandi Arabia and lies — notably Saudi Arabia and Jordan — which have recently had difficulties in their relations with Washington. Mr. Sadat's disappearance is bound to lead the Kremlin to seek a new Soviet opening in Egypt and to revive Soviet influence in the Sudan and other Arab countries closely allied with Egypt.

Moderate Arab governments, notably Saudi Arabia, and the Palestine Liberation Organization, bitterly opposed Egyptian policy but were quietly improving their relations with Mr. Sadat in recent months. They are believed by diplomats to share Western alarm-over the diplomatic stagnation or possible disorder - that could follow his death.

West European Alarm

West European governments, which initially criticized Mr. Sadat for putting Egypt's interest ahead of an overall Middle East settlement, including the Palestinian question, had started improving their relations with Egypt as a Palestinian solution proved elusive. Several European officials expressed alarm about the risks of a political stalemate now appearing between Israel and a fragmented Arab world.

Mr. Sadat's death could open the way to a realignment in the Arab world, in which some moderate Arab governments mend their fences with Egypt, the strongest single Arab country.
While widening the moderate

Arab consensus, however, any new Arab alliance also carries the risk of Israel citing it as a threat, justifying Israeli retention of castern

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Iranian Consulate in Istanbul Seized, Ransacked : United Press Internationa

ANKARA - Opponents of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini shot up and ransacked the Iranian consulate in Istanbul on Tuesday to protest the mounting death toll in Iran after the execution of 61 Mujahaddin

A Turkish and an Iranian guard and a consulate employee were wounded in shooting during the consulate seizure, police said. The Iranians then led the consul-general and eight staff members at gunpoint to basement rooms and locked them up. They bung an anti-Khomeini banner on the building, threw out furniture and other property and caused extensive damage. Police surrounded the building, and the siege ended when the 26 Mujahaddin supporters surrendered.

Tchran's Kayhan newspaper reported that 61 more Mujahaddin dissidents were executed in Tehran on Monday.

Israelis to Probe Ship Mishap on Saudi Coast

Washington Post Service JERUSALEM — The Israeli Navy has ordered a court of inquiry to determine how one of its missile boats ran aground at high speed on the Saudi coast, touching off a brief but tense confrontation that was resolved by U.S. diplomatic intervention.

The disclosure in Washington of the bizarre incident, which occurred on Sept. 24, was attributed by Israeli military sources Tuesday to part of a propaganda ploy by the U.S. administration to gain congressional approval of the sale of AWACS surveillance aircraft to Saudi Arabia by portraying the Saudis as susceptible to U.S. moderating influence in the face of a crisis.

The missile boat, en route from Haifa on the Mediterranean sea to Eilat, at the northern tip of the Gulf of Aqaba, had passed through the Suez Canal and past Ras Mohammed when it ran aground on the Saudi shore opposite the Sinai village of Dahab, about 48 miles (77 kilometers) south of Eilat.

Unemployment Targeted by Danish Leader

COPENHAGEN - Danish Premier Anker Jorgensen formally opened a new session of the Folketing, or parliament, Tnesday and declared that reducing unemployment was a goal of his government.

Pointing to Denmark's jobless rate of 9 percent, the head of the Social Democrat minority government told the 10-party assembly that "first and foremost, we must create more jobs."

and foremost, we must create more jobs."

Mr. Jorgensen said it was his government's goal to create 50,000 jobs a year through 1985 by continuing to rely on three small parties — the Center Democrats, Social-Liberals, and Christian Party — to help push its programs through.

SDP Moves Meeting From Scotland to England

BRADFORD, England — Britain's newly formed Social Democratic Party moved its first national conference south Tuesday, from Scotland The consultative conference, where no votes are being taken, moved to Bradford in northern England after an initial session in Perth, Scotland. Delegates will go to London later this week to complete the conference. Roy Jenkins, a former Labor minister and one of the party's founding members, told the 700 delegates in Perth Monday that they could form the next government. The party has 18 members in Parliament and says that it has 60,000 members.

17 Feared Dead in Crash of Dutch Airliner United Press International

ROTTERDAM -A Dutch jetliner flying near a thunderstorm exploded Tuesday night after apparently being hit by lightning, the Dutch news agency reported. All 17 persons aboard were feared dead.

A witness said the plane, a twin-jet Fokker operated by the domestic subsidiary of KLM, exploded and scattered wreckage along the south bank of the Rhine estuary at Moerdijk, south of Rotterdam. The plane had just taken off on a flight from Rotterdam to Eindhoven in the southern Netherlands.

An official of the State Aviation Service said it was feared there were no survivors among the 13 passengers and four crew members on the 65-A flight control official at the Schiphol International Airport said,

The plane just disappeared from the radar screen. The pilot did not have a chance to say anything."

وهازلان) ويخوي

Indochina Refugee Flow to U.S. Breaks Record New York Times Service

GENEVA — The Intergovernmental Committee for Migration said Tuesday it flew a record number of 20,605 Indochinese refugees from Southeast Asia to the United States last month. It were the largest monthly total of Indochinese refugees to reach U.S.

shores, the agency said. In addition to the indochinese refugees, most of whom were Vict-namese boat people, the United States last month admitted 1,555 East

Sadat Killed Egypt Vice President By Attackers Was Groomed to Lead At Parade Mr. Mubarak commanded the By Richard Homan Washington Past Service WASHINGTON — Vice President Hosny Muharak, the former

ed to inherit the presidency, has shown himself to be an energetic and practical leader, loyal to Mr. Sadat's foreign and domestic poli-Since his appointment as vice president six years ago, it has been clear that Mr. Mubarak was being prepared by Mr. Sadat to assume

In the past 11 months Mr. Mua vice president virtually unknown outside Egypt when Gamal Abdel Nasser died in 1970, Mr. Mubarak was repeatedly thrust into sensitive international negotiations where in Menufia, a village in Mr. Sa-dat's home region of the Nile Del-sion in a strong, reassuring voice. Mr. Mubarak pledged to "follow After Egyptian military training the late 1940s and early 1950s. his path," honoring all the treaty commitments made by Mr. Sadat and standing with Egyptians "as one solid front around all the banners [that Mr. Sadat] has raised." He said that Sufi Ahu Taleh, the parliamentary speaker, would be the acting president until the Peositions in Egypt and from 1967 to 1969 he headed the country's Air ple's Assembly elected a successor. Mr. Mubarak, who already has been nominated by the National tery advisers in Egypt. Mr. Mu-barak immediately was brought along with Mr. Sadat on a feace-mending and arms-shopping trip barak has visited the United States twice, most recently last week to request U.S. military aid to Sudan to help that Egyptian neighbor protect itself from possible harass-

Egyptian Air Force in the October, 1973, war against Israel and then he traveled to hostile Arab countries in an effort to explain why Egypt was entering a peace treaty with the Israelis. Soviet Air Training He received much of his military training in the Soviet Union and was a frequent visitor there, and then he was in the forefront later of Egyptian moves to expel Soviet technicians and put the Kremlin at arm's length.

ment by Lihya.

Mr. Mubarak was born in 1929

he went to the Soviet Union for the first of many visits, to take ad-vanced flight training. He went back for bomber training and later took courses at the Frunze General Staff Academy in Moscow, the top Soviet military training facility. He held air force command po-

Force Academy. In 1972, Mr. Sadat appointed Mr. Mubarak commander-in-chief of the Egyptian Air Force, replacing a general who had complained about the presence of Soviet mili-

Hosny Mubarak

to Moscow, and he returned to Moscow a few months later, reportedly to consult about the tacics Egypt later used to launch the gan ambassador, were wounded in the shooting. Among the Egyp-tians was Bishop Samuel, whom Mr. Sadat had appointed last month to a committee replacing Pope Shenuda III as patriarch of the Christian Coptic Church.

1973 war against Israel. Gaining Experience

The attack occupred toward the When Mr. Sadat promoted Mr. Mubarak to vice president in April, 1975, the air force general had little political and diplomatic experience. Mr. Sadat promptly entrusted him with one sensitive chore after another to give him end of the two-hour parade, which was being held to celebrate what Egypt regards as a victory over Israel in the 1973 Arab-Israeli war, that experience.

In his first year as vice president Mr. Mubarak mediated the dispute among Morocco, Algerin and Mauritania over the future of the former Spanish Sahara, ending the shooting war if not achieving a political solution.

He also drew the difficult assignment of going to several Arab capitals to explain Egypt's decision to sign the Sinai disengagement agreement with Israel, and he was sent on a landmark mission to Pe-king, where he successfully nailed down arms and trade agreements.

> tors in the reviewing stands took note of the stalled truck because all eyes were riveted on a spectacular air acrobatic show in which Egyptian Mirages were making low passes over the reviewing

Suddenly, there was an explosion, seemingly a grenade, and then another as the soldiers in the truck opened fire wih bursts of automatic rifle directly on the reviewing stand. Several of the soldiers jumped off the back of the truck and rushed toward the stand firing

West's Fears Revived On Mideast Oil Supply

By Axel Krause

Moslem organization that was a major target of Mr. Sadat's crackin Western economie planning cir-cles after President Anwar Sadat's Police sources said eight other assassination, centering on re-newed fears over the future of oil persons were killed in the attack, including Mr. Sadat's private secretary, Fawzi Abdel Hafez; the chief chamberlain, Hassan Allam;

Tuesday.
We are less volnerable than in the president's official photogra-pher, Mohammed Rashwan; a rep-resentative from Oman; the Korethe 1979 Iran crisis, but our Western economies are still very dependent on Mideast oil - that is. why Sadat's death raises new and very disturbing fears about energy security," a scnior West European > gered in Egypt and possibly in the Middle East, the underlying support for the area's oil situation also has been changed, perhaps funda-mentally," said J. Paul Horne, a European economic analyst for Smith Barney, Harris & Upham, a U.S. securities firm.

Echoing the views of other business, economic and oil industry

Shazli's Group Opposed Sadat

tional Front — whose military wing allegedly has claimed Anwar Sadat's assassination was formed by Gen. Saadeddin Shazli, a pararroop officer who was Egyptian chief of staff at the start of the October war when Egyptian troops stormed the Suez Canal, and then was fired by Mr. Sadat.

After the war, Gen. Shazh accused Mr. Sadat of compro-mising with Israel and taking undue credit for Egypt's mili-

After Mr. Sadat's trip to Jerusalem in 1977, Gen. Shazii resigned from a diplomatic post in which he had been relegated by Mr. Sadat and formed his opposition group - initially with Libyan financial belp and with offices in Libya, Algeria and Lebanon.

In a broadcast over Algerian television Tuesday, Gen. Shazli called on the Egyptian armed forces to "quickly put an end to treason and the alliance with Zionism and imperialism." This appeal for a break with Mr. Sadat's policies and an alliance stopped short of accepting responsibility for his murder.

analysts, Mr. Home said it was still too early to make precise as-other Arab capitals, particularly those of OPEC nations such as Saudi Arabia and Kuwait energy planner said. He added that despite energy diversification and substitution schemes that have been developed

Middle Eastern and North African By the end of this year, oil will account for about 48 percent of Western industrialized nations' primary energy requirements, representing a total 32.9 million barrels a day, according to the Parisbased International Energy Agen-

OPEC's proportion in supplying the West's oil has been declining somewhat, as production has grown in such areas as the North Sea and Mexico. IEA officials also said they were sticking with previous estimates that oil would fall to about 37 percent of total energy requirements by 1990 and to around 26 percent by the year

But, as a U.S government offi-cial added: "Despite all we are doing, IEA nations still have hanging over them the threat of disturbances affecting our Middle East oil, which Sadat's death reminds us which now is producing about 9.2 million barrels daily.

Mushrooms Kill Yugoslavs

Enemies Exult as Grief Expressed in West (Continued from Page 1) upon an Arab nation's honor and Israel in 1979 and of Sadat throwsurrendered its rights. ing himself into the lap of the United States and Israel." The agency denounced what it called Mr. Sadat's "imperialist" policies and said that on the day The pro-Soviet Democratic that he paraded his military forces Front for the Liberation of Pales-"the bullets turned toward him tine, in a communique issued in

'Dawn of Freedom'

Lihyan state radio exulted over the assassination, "Every tyrant has an end;" "Sadat has fallen with all his shame, giving way to a dawn of freedom over Egypt." Libya's leader, Col. Moamer Qadhafi, never forgave Mr. Sadat for making a separate peace with meet the same fate. The Lihyan Israel through the Camp David acnews agency JANA said in a state-ment that Mr. Sadat had trampled cords. The two countries fought a to the dying shah after his over-hiref summer border war in 1977.

sincerely that the Egyptian people will overcome all difficulties that it is facing and will restore to Egypt its great and effective national role within the Arab family." Egypt was suspended from the league after signing the peace treaty with Israel.
franian state radio hailed the assassination as the death of a traitor dictator of Egypt joined his old friend Mohammed Reza Shah," the radto said. The Iranian authorities bore Mr. Sadat special animosity because he gave sanctuary

"Anwar Sadat, the mercenary and mercenary.

The secretary-general of the Arab League, Chedli Klibi, issued a statement that said: "We hope stand and leaving behind billowing trails of red white and blue smoke.

a halt

wildly into the crowd. As spectators suddenly realized what was taking place and that this was not another parade stunt. pandemonium broke out in the reviewing stands, with everyone rushing for the exits to escape the

International Herald Tribune
PARIS — Shockwaves registered supplies from the Middle East, senior European and U.S. govern-ment and business officials said government energy planner said. "With political stability endan-

International Herald Tribune
PARIS — The Egyptian Na-

more radical Arabs

sessments on how specifically the West's oil supplies might be affect-

The fears and risks expressed by those interviewed centered on what might happen politically during the next few days in Cairo and

"At this point, we are mainly concerned with the potential risks to oil," a senior U.S. government during the past few years, Western Europe, the United States and Ja-pan remained "disturbingly vulnerable" on oil, and particularly OPEC nations supply IEA's 21member nations in Western indus-trialized nations with roughly 13.5 million barrels of oil each day, with Middle East and North African nations accounting for about 80 percent of that total, agency officials said.

2000, mostly because of conservation and substitution

Much of the concern and specu-lation regarding the future of sup-plies centered on Saudi Arabia

The Associated Press

BELGRADE - Three people have died after eating poisonous mushrooms in the central Yugoslav town of Doboj, the Tanjug news agency reported Tuesday.

(حکوامن المول

Militants of Solidarity 'rtig Gain in Voting; Draft Of Policy Toughened

By Brian Mooney

GDANSK, Poland - The Solidarity free trade union congress showed a more radical face Tues-day with publication of a tough draft program and election results showing successes for militants.

The congress; in its 11th day, was also expected to approve a resolution condemning recent price rises, which included a 100-percent increase in the price of cigarettes.
With elections of the 69 contest-cd places on the union's policy-making national commission almost complete, there were indica-tions that Solidarity's moderate leader, Lech Walesa, would be iso-lated by a majority that espoused a tougher, more radical line.

Mr. Walesa ran into serious trouble from his own colleagues Monday night, only three days after being re-elected as the union's national chairman. He was rebuked for inconsistency and submission to the authorities in a "cignostic war" that has empted into a arette war" that has erupted into a major row at the congress and pro-voked protests across the country.

Searching for a Response

Charging that the government did not consult the union on the rises, delegates have voted down four resolutions and refused to consider 10 others in their search for a determined response to the Communist authorities.

Many of the resolutions proposed strike action, and a big elec-trical appliances factory in the city of Torun stopped work for one hour Tuesday in a symbolic pro-

The new draft program, described by Communist Party ob-servers as tougher than that sub-mitted at the beginning of the con-

By Serge Schmemann New York Times Service

MOSCOW — As the second stage of Solidarity's national convention in Gdansk nears an end; Soviet news outlets have fallen into a pattern of almost daily attacks on the independent Polish union's actions and resolutions.

But while a few months ago many of the Soviet commentaries would have aroused anxiety and apprehension in Poland and the West, diplomats in Moscow find that the reputitiveness and level of the current attacks suggest a sort of holding pattern in the campaign against the Polish labor movement.

The themes regularly sounded by Soviet commentators in recent days include attempts to document tility to the Communist system and charges that the union is bent on seizing power and restoring "bourgeois" order; accusations of anti-Soviet activities at the Gdansk convention; charges that Solidarity's activities are prodded and supported by a hostile West, and indirect criticisms of Polish leaders for failing to take any action against the union.

Congress as Sece by Tass

Friday's Prayda, for example, carried a Tass dispatch from War-saw that said that the convention is dominated by the questions of how and when should Solidarity start the final spurt in the fight for power, how radical the restructur-ing of the Socialist order existing in Poland and of its alliances should be, and how far Solidarity can afford to go now in violating the constitution, its own charter, and the agreements which this association signed with the govern-

Another commentary, also in Pravda, detailed at length what the author, Vitaly Korionov, described as the West's "political and ideo-logical subversion against Poland." Mr. Korionov, a prominent com-mentator, charged that a "special group" exists in the State Depart-ment to "create and maintain controlled tension in Poland."

Some of the recent commentaries have made obvious references to the fundamental threat posed by the Kremlin — the possibility by the Kremlin — the possibility of a military intervention. A long excerpt from the Czechoslovak weekly, Trybuna, published in Thursday's Pravda and read in full

Canada Is Suspending Some Air Controllers

United Press Internal OTTAWA — The Department of Transport has begun suspend-ing more than 150 air traffic controllers who refused to handle flights between Canada and the United States last August, spokes-man Dave Austin announced.

Mr. Austin said Monday that many of the controllers have been told they would be suspended from one to 10 days, depending on their past record and the severity of the offense. He said the review had not been completed and as many as four controllers might be still be fired.

gress, made no mention of Social-ism and called for a multiparty system, free elections and social control over the economy.

There have been repeated calls at the congress for Solidarity to take effective control of the economy to cope with a situation which a congress publication said "had driven society to the verge of de-

Separation of Powers

The program called for estab-lishment of a supreme state coun-cil through which society, as opposed to the minority Communist establishment, would control the economy. It said it was essential to separate economic power from po-itical power and that while Soli-darity favored instituting other po-litical parties, it had no intention of transforming itself into one.

With fewer than half a dozen places on the national commission left to fill, no Communist Party members had been elected.

Among the contenders were Bogdan Lis, generally regarded as Solidarity's third-in-command, and Zbigniew Iwanow, who earlier this year led an unsuccessful drive to bring descent to bring democracy to the Com-munist Party at the grass-roots

Boleslaw Geremek, Mr. Walesa's moderate adviser, had also failed to win a seat on the commission. But persons associated with the recently disbanded dissident group KOR appeared to have fared better.

The Polish news agency Inter-press quoted Solidarity official Henryk Sienkiewicz as saying the congress should end by Wednesday evening, but some delegates say it is more likely to end on Fri-day.

Soviet Attacks on Solidarity NATO Link May Reflect Tactical Review Is Advocated on the Soviet radio, compared Solon the soviet rains, comparer solutions, in Hungary in 1956 and Czechoslovakia in 1968, which were put down by Soviet troops.

Attempts to Conceal Solidarity's assertions of independence, the paper charged, were only attempts to conceal the un-ion's struggle to wrest power from the Communists. "It does not matter," the commentary declared, "whether the counterrevolution is acting openly, as it did in Hungary in 1936, or under the slogan of So-cialism with a human face, as in Cacquesionaica in 1968, or is hid-ing behind the 'independent trade unions' and is trying to operate le-

Such ominous comments in the past would have prompted nervous reactions. But references to Hungary and Czechoslovakia have aiready been made more than once, as have the charges of a bid for power by Solidarity with the help of the West. The commentaries on the second phase of Solidarity's convention were preceded by a furious barrage at the first, which chmaxed with Soviet accusations that the union had indulged in an orgy of anti-Sovietism and anti-Communism. The impact of the public attacks was greatly enhanced by large-scale military mancuvers.

But the denunciations and the show of strength apparently failed to sway the delegates at the Soliconvention. The current tone of Soviet commentaries, dip-lomats said, suggests a re-evaluation of tactics and a debate on

San Francisco Told Big Quake Is Coming Soon

United Press International STANFORD, Calif. — Earthquake-conscious Stanford University says that the San Francisco Bay area had better get ready for the "big one."

In a new report, the Stanford Committee on Earthquake Pre-paredness said Tuesday there was a 30-percent chance that a major quake would hit the bay area within the next decade.

The committee said that there has been no great earth-quake in the region since the 1906 catastrophe and that po-tential fault displacement now totals 15 feet.

The earthquake hazard at Stanford is becoming steadily more severe, said the report, which arged the university to upprade seismic safety features.

The report said that a major carthquake in the bay area could be expected to kill between 500 and 25,000 people, depending on the magnitude and timing prior rainfall, the scope and quality of advance preparation and the response of people to the event.

Résidence commerciale en Suisse

AIRPORT PROTEST — A demonstrator watching fellow environmentalists dig ditches and build barracades and huts to protest the construction of a third runway at Frankfurt International Airport. A spokesman for the protesters said that the runway construction would cause 400,000 trees to be cut down and that other damage to the environment would result. About 1,000 policemen moved in Tuesday to clear the several thousand protesters from the scene.

Reagan Cruise Missile Plan Bolsters Case Of Europe Critics, NATO Commander Says

sion was helpful from the stand-point of showing U.S. resolve, gaining strength for any future arms-control negotiations and complicating the life of any would-be attackers.

'Strategic Reserve Force' him concern because it could "fuzz up" the distinction between tactical and strategie nuclear weapons and would provide ammunition to West Europeans already critical of another key NATO plan. Under that plan, agreed to in 1979, U.S. built Pershing-2 missiles and Cruise missiles would be deployed in Britain, West Germany, Italy and possibly Belgium and the Netherlands.

Netherlands.
The decision to deploy several hundred nuclear-armed Cruise missiles aboard U.S. attack submarines is one of the less-publicized aspects of the $180.3-billion strategic-weapons program unveiled by President Reagan last Friday. The idea, as explained by the White House, was to use the missiles to help plug gaps in the nucle-ar balance with Moscow. The missiles would serve as a "strategic re-

As commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, however, he said that the decision caused Rogers, said in effect that the decision was helpful from the stand-attacks on U.S. naval forces.

The potential problem, however, is that Washington has been pressing the West Europeans not to back away from the 1979 missile-deployment plan, which was in-tended to offset bundreds of new Soviet SS-20 missiles already de-

There is considerable political opposition to such deployments, especially in West Germany, Belgi-um and the Netherlands. The concern now is that the U.S. decision to put other Cruise missiles on submarines will make it easier for critics to argue that the European missiles also should be at sea. State in European public opinion.

NATO plan is not helpful.

United States.

By Michael Getler

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's decision to put Cruise missiles aboard submarines will provide some ammunition to European critics of earlier NATO plans to base U.S. Cruise missiles on European soil, the U.S. com-mander of NATO forces has Speaking Monday at a breakfast meeting with reporters, the com-mander, Army Gen. Bernard W.

By Spaniard

MADRID - Foreign Minister José Pedro Pérez-Llorca predicted Tuesday that Spanish officers would have commands on the Brit-ish colony of Gibraltar if Spain joined NATO.

The minister was speaking at the start of a parliamentary debate on the government's plan to bring Spain into NATO by early next

He said the country would gain clear advantages in its efforts to secure the return of Gibraltar from Britain once it became a member of the alliance.

Britain, which captured Gibraltar in 1704, has pledged not to hand over sovereignty to Spain against the wishes of its 30,000 inbitants, who remain pro-British. A 1980 agreement under which Spain agreed to open the frontier in return for a Brinish pledge to ne-gotiate Gibraltan's future status has not been implemented.

The leftist opposition in Spain is conducting a vocal campaign against Spanish membership of the alliance, and police have broken up three anti-NATO demonstrations in less than a week.

Spanish political analysts say the government is resisting leftist calls for a referendum on the issue and, with support from small conservative and regional parties, seems assured of gaining a com-fortable parliamentary majority in favor of Spain becoming NATO's 16th member.

Premier Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo made NATO membership his top foreign policy priority when he took office after a military coup attempt failed last February.

The government argues that joining NATO will end the international isolation Spain suffered during the 40-year dictatorship of Franco and give it a voice in the councils of the democratic West.

The opposition contends that by entering the alliance, Spain will upset the East-West power balance and heighten world tension.

Afghan Guerrillas Said to Execute 10 Soviet Troops

NEW DELHI — Afghan rebels executed 10 Soviet soldiers who were captured during a weeklong Soviet-Afghan government offen-sive near Kabul at the end of last month, a Western diplomatic source said Tuesday.

The source said that the Soviet soldiers were killed approximately between Sept. 23 and 29, when a large contingent of Soviet and Afghan troops occupied the town of Pagman, 12 miles (19 kilometers) southwest of Kabul.

The source said the 10 Russians were captured during intense fighting and reportedly were executed immediately. The gnerrillas also captured 12 Afghan government soldiers and took them higher up in the mountains for trial, the diplomatic source said.

The diplomat said other diplomats based in Kabul also confirmed reports that a high-ranking Soviet military adviser was killed late last mouth in the southwestern province of Ghazni.

U.S. Launches 2 Satellites

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. --- A Delta rocket carried two satellites into orbit Tuesday for tests of chemicals in the atmosphere and radio waves in space, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

Mitterrand, Schmidt to Meet Today

Bonn Likely to Seek Backing on Missiles

BONN - Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, under pressure from a eftist "peace movement" at home, s likely to seek backing from French Socialist President Francois Mitterrand at private talks in France Wednesday.

Mr. Schmidt is making a two-day visit to Mr. Mitterrand's counry home at Latche, in southwest France, on the eve of a march in Bonn at which up to 150,000 people are expected to demonstrate against plans to station U.S. medium-range missiles in Europe.

Mr. Mitterrand has already sigoaled strong approval of the chan-cellor's commitment to deploy the missiles if arms control talks be-tween the United States and the Soviet Union do not achieve a major reduction in Soviet warheads aimed at Western Europe.

Diplomats say the French leader has made statements of support for NATO nuclear strategy largely with the intention of using his in-fluence as a Socialist with waverers in Mr. Schmidt's Social Democratic Party.

Official French sources said they expect that Mr. Schmidt might seek a further public endorsement of his security policy to strengthen his hand in dealing with the peace movement.

Tougher Stand

Mr. Mitterrand has taken a tougher public stance toward Moscow than his predecessor, Valery Giscard d'Estaing, and used his first presidential press conference last month to urge the West to counter the Soviet military challenge.

Diplomatic sources said Mr. Mitterrand shared a concern ex-pressed by U.S. and British offi-cials about pacifist and neutralist tendencies in West Germany and was likely to bring up the issue with Mr. Schmidt.

Department officials acknowledged that the recent decision Both leaders are also likely to offer plans for greater cooperation within the European Economie probably will cause some problems Community, Bonn is working with Gen, Rogers maintained that the Italy on a plan for closer European Europeans needed to stick to the political union to be presented to next month's London EEC summit land-based scheme to show European resolve, alliance cohesion and meeting. to share the nuclear risks with the France's government is also seeking closer collaboration within Without being critical of the the Common Market, though it specific presidential plan, Gen. Rogers said that anything that di-verts attention from the 1979 puts its emphasis on social measures such as a reduction in the workweek and in retirement age throughout the EEC.

Britain Partially Meets IRA Prison Demands

BELFAST - Britain's Northern Ireland Secretary James Prior on Tuesday said that convicted Irish Republican Army prisoners can wear their own clothes and will get half the parole time lost through cellblock protests restored if they halt their action.

But, while giving some ground on two of five demands made by the prisoners, he made only partial promises on two other key de-mands — "free association" in prisons and exemption from penal

The concessions went only half-way toward meeting the demands made by jailed members of the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army and the Marxist splinter group, the Irish National Liberation Army.

Gerry Adams, vice president of Sinn Fein, political arm of the Irish Republican Army, cautiously welcomed the reforms, but leaders of the province Protection of the Irish Republican Army, cautiously welcomed the reforms, but leaders of the province Protection of the Irish Republican Army, and the Irish Republican Army and the Irish Marxist splinter group. of the province's Protestant major-ity swiftly condemned the package as a "sellout."
Mr. Adams said: "We haven't.

read the small print of Mr. Prior's document and essentially, we await a response from the political

The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of the Protestant Democratic Unionist Party, called the reforms "a complete sellout." "It is absolutely disastrous," he said.

Mr. Prior, announced the changes three days after the IRA prisoners called off their seventently hunger strike campaign for month hunger strike campaign for reforms amounting to political sta-tus. Since March 1, 10 men have starved themselves to death at the maximum-security Maze prison near Belfast.

Mr. Prior called the package a "take-it-or-leave-it" offer and said that reforms will apply to all 2,500 prisoners, Protestants and Roman Catholics, including ordinary criminals. The changes were approved by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her Cabinet. "There will be no question of a political or military system of ad-ministration," Mr. Prior said, "or any return to 'special category' sta-tus" for jailed IRA members. That status was abolished by Britain in March 1976.

Mr. Prior refused to allow the IRA men the right of "free associa-tion" within Maze's H-shaped, 25-cell blocks, but hinted at the possibility of "prisoners in adjacent wings" being allowed to have limited "association in recreation rooms and exercise areas,"

Under a 50-percent "remission" rule, prisoners in Northern Ireland who obey prison regulations serve half their sentences. Mr. Prior said that parole would be restored for protesters if they did not participate in any protests for three months. This would bring almost immediate release for about 150 IRA and INLA men at Maze and 20 women at Armagh women's prison, officials said.

The IRA prisoners had also demanded exemption from mandato-ry prison work. Mr. Prior said that prison work could be redefined to include educational pursuits.

The minister made no specific mention of the fifth demand that the prisoners receive more mail and visitors each week. The gov-ernment had said earlier that nonprotesting prisoners already receive more of both.

Arab League Receives A Dutch Office Permit

THE HAGUE — The Nether-lands has given the Arab League the go-shead to open an office in The Hague, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Monday night.
The Arab League, which includes the Palestine Liberation Organization, has similar offices in London, Bonn, Paris and Brussels. The European Economic Comnunity has been trying for years to forge closer cooperation with Arab countries within the framework of a so-called Euro-Arab dialogue.

PARIS 8º

Enjoy a refreshing break on your next long business trip. Free when you make your connection on KLM.

For a free "Stay-on-the-Way" in Amsterdam, you can rely on KLM.

KLM gives you an Amsterdam good deal when Airport and the city air terminal. you fly Royal Class or Business Class and stop over in Amsterdam.

We'll surprise you with the warmth of our welcome, the charm of our canals, our cafes, museums, night life, shopping and the biggest bargain in Europe—a free "Stav-on-the-Wav"!

You get a free stay at a Deluxe or First-Class hotel for one day or one night. Enjoy a free meal or drinks at the hotel-up to 40 guilders (about U.S. $18). A free continental breakfast when you stay the night. And you get free bus transfers between Schiphol

"Stay-on-the-Way" is offered by the Holland Promotion Foundation to KLM Royal Class and Business Class/Full Economy passengers and must be reserved when you book your trip. It is available when you make connections in Ainsterdam on an intercontinental journev by KLM. Passengers from North America are only eligible when they are connecting in Amsterdam to or from a point outside Europe.

This free "Stay-on-the-Way" offer is limited, so book now. Call your Travel Agent or KLM Royal Durch Airlines for full details and reservations.

Sadat and Great Questions

It is hard to conceive of a single act, short of an outhreak of open war, that at this time could more sharply imperil the fragile peace in the Middle East than the assassination of President Anwar Sadat.

The potential consequences of this tragic event are incalculable at the moment. Even were one to assume that the leadership void in Egypt will he quickly and effectively filled. and - even less likely - that Sadat's heirs will continue his Middle Eastern policies, the violent death of Egypt's courageous and visionary leader will almost certainly set in motion forces that are not likely to be controllable, at least in the near future.

It may not matter a great deal whether the assassins represent a mainstream group of significant numbers and influence, or merely an aherrational dissident faction without real support in Egyptian society. It may not even matter what the assassins' motives were, or whether they had the support of an outside power. It is likely that the damage has been done, for ooe does not see on the horizon a new leader to replace Sadat who has the charisma and determination that Sadat eventually demonstrated after replacing President Nasser a decade ago.

There is time enough to mourn Sadat the man. History will be a better judge of his policies, foreign and domestic, and especially of his extraordinary visit to Jerusalem and all that has followed. Better now to reflect upon a situation, all too commoo in today's world, where the fate of so many millions seems to hang by a thread - a handful of leaders here and there whose untimely deaths threaten chaos. How vulnerable we are when so much of the future may depend on whether a bullet strays an inch or two from its intended path, and wheo there appear to be so many willing to fire the hullet.

In the United States, had President Reagan beeo less fortunate, there was at least an accepted system and a reasonable coosensus to absorb the shock.

Anwar Sadat often said that his most valuable hours were oot spent at his desk or in the councils of state, but walking along the Nile contemplating the great questions of his time. And it was by his response to these great questions, he said, that he expected to

If the judgment is that he left the world in his debt, now is the time for the world's leaders to find a way to pay that deht. There may not he many more opportunities to do so.

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE.

This Is No Time for Fanaticism in U.S.-Soviet Rivalry

The writer was deputy secretary of state in the Carter administration.

OS ANGELES - The United States L OS ANGELES -- The Ollino are now engaged in a rivalry that is inexorable, worsening and potentially fatal. The highest obligation of American leadership is to responsibly face the central foreign policy challenge of our time: how to effectively defend American interests in the competi-tion with the Soviet Union while also preserving the peace.

There should be considerable skepticism toward any policy that not only seeks to defend U.S. interests but also aspires to interfere indiscriminately with Soviet interests. Such a policy assumes that anything harmful to the Soviet Union is, on that basis alone, a desirable thing to Such a strategy regards an arms race as not only acceptable but also worthwhile. It relies upon superior American technology to keep pace, while forcing the Soviet Union to spend comparatively more from its smaller economy, thus weakening Soviet society. It aims to arm and support Moscow's rivals, especially China, to beighten the pressure. In a nation fond of coasts, analogies, such a policy right he sports analogies, such a policy might be labeled the "full-court press."

The full-court press approach could make U.S. Soviet rivalry more dangerous. A strident posture on Washington's part might strengthen those in the Kremlin who favor higher military spending and a more adventurous foreign policy.

There is an alternative. It is not, of course, blanket cooperation or uncritical friendship. It is what I would call "man-aged competition." Such a strategy would be selective entailing choices among vari-ous means to protect American interests and influence Soviet behavior.

By Warren Christopher

The selective approach would exclude actions that would be gratuitously harmful to the Soviet Union, actions not related to specific Soviet conduct that the United States seeks to change. It would also avoid inflammatory thetoric — that having the flavor of a global, moral crusade against the Soviet Union.

Positive

If America wants to influence Soviet behavior, rather than simply condemn it, some positive inducements need to be available and some negative ones should be held in reserve. For example, before trade with the Soviet Union could be curbed in response to the invasion of Af-ghanistan, there had to be a meaningful level of trade in the first place.

Too often, some policy-makers forget that there are cases in which the United States and the Soviet union, despite their rivalry, genuinely have interests in common. The prevention of nuclear war is the most observer seeks and as part of it the most obvious case, and, as part of it, the negotiation of agreements to limit nuclear

Obviously, the United States must bar-gain hard in arms control negotiations. But such negotiations are not a method to confirm a Soviet surrender. They are ways to improve the safety of the American people, a worthy objective even if, in the process, the risk is also lessened for the people of the Soviet Union.

A related area of common interest is nuclear nonproliferation. Here the Soviets have been sensitive to the risk - and considerably more cautious in sharing nuclear technology than some of the Western nations. Cooperation with the Soviets to reinforce restraint among nuclear-supplying countries is in both nations' interests. Other areas at least deserve thought.

For example, America discourages its al-lies and its own industries from entering into contracts to help the Soviets expand their oil production. Meanwhile, it is developing contingency plans, and rightly so, to defend against a possible Soviet thrust into the Gulf, where it fears that the Soviets would take control of vital energy supplies. All things considered, is it prudent to seek to thwart the Soviets' development of their own energy resources? Is the aim to squeeze them to the point that the enticement of the Gulf becomes a necessary gamble? Short of that, are they wanted on the world energy market, where their needs would cause the price to be raised for everyone?

Unimaginable

It would be a great mistake if Americans let themselves become mesmerized by the Soviet Union. There are many perils that are not authored by Moscow but still require attention. Such issues as population mellution trade and activation. ulation, pollution, trade and oatural resources will have a profound influence on current and future well-being. And that would be true even if Marx had never lived and if the Soviet Union did not exist. America should not be enthralled by one international challenge, however grave, to the exclusion of all others. It should not concentrate solely on the ways that the two nations compete directly in arms and alliances and sanctions - to the point at which more subtle, indirect the point at which more should, indirect competition is ignored. A foreign policy spellbound by the Soviet Union will be largely misdirected and widely ineffectual.

There is one indelible reality that some in the administration seem to have underestimated: the unimaginable power of nuclear arms. Responsible leaders in both the United States and the Soviet Union must be constrained by the realization that their frail, human hands hold the power to transform even the world's richest civilizations into rubble. Within hours after the order for an all-out war, tens of millions of people, perhaps hundreds of millions, would perish. Whole cities and industries would be demolished.

Vast territories would be rendered unfit for human habitation.

Neither side, while inflicting such hor-ror, could prevent the same to itself. Thus derives the strategy of Mutually Assured Destruction—the prevention of nuclear attack through the guarantee that the at-tacker will be pulverized along with the

It is useful for the leaders and citizens of both the United States and the Soviet Union to think on such dark visions regularly, if only to remind themselves that in a nuclear age, more than at any time in-human experience, war could totally consume civilization itself.

The philospher George Santayana once explained that "fanaticism consists in redoubling your efforts when you have forgotten your aim." This is no time for a foreign policy afflicted by fanaticsm. Rather, it is time for an approach that is steady and firm, coolheaded and mature, a time for both vigilance and vision.

01981, Las Angeles Times.

Reagan and Foreign Aid

On Keeping Money Tight

One of the better-kept secrets in Washington is that the Reagan administration approves of foreign aid. You'd oever guess it from the president's speech last week before the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, or from Secretary of State Haig's earlier address to the General Assembly. Both advise the world's poor to seek salvation in what Reagan calls "the magic of the marketplace." He praises development aid with faint damns.

There is this much method in Reagan's strategy: Next week he goes to Cancun, Mexico, to talk about aid for global development with 21 other heads of government. He has oow forewarned them to expect oo sugarplums. But there is a danger in this hardnosed tone. It leaves the public and Congress in doubt as to what he really wants.

Formally, the administration strongly supports the World Bank and its president, A.W. Clausen. Haig insists that foreign aid - bilateral and multilateral — is a vital diplomatic tool. Congress has been asked to honor the American commitment to the World Bank and its soft-loan affiliate, the International Development Association.

But when the president makes a speech in which he finds little favorable to say about foreign aid, he sends a signal of indifference. Without vigorous administration lobhying, Congress may cut more than a third from $3.2 billion pledged to the IDA over four · years. A default would be cootagious. Other truth, but President Reagan has yet to find donors in a 34-nation consortium have announced that they would cut back their con-

What the United States oeeds, according to the secretary of the Treasury, is a little more mooey. It's fine for the Federal Reserve

Board to keep a firm hold on the money supply, Donald Regan says, but in his view it would be better oot to keep squeezing quite so tightly. You are not to leap to the cooclusion that he has any fundamental change of policy in mind, Mr. Regan cautions; he's only talking about a matter of degree. "The end result," he says, "would be a sufficiency of money to enable the economy to recover

With those words, the administration begins to acknowledge that its defective supply-side strategy shows no signs of working, and that the political risks are rising. Mr. Regan gives the appearance of a man who has caught a faiot whiff of smoke and is beginning to wonder, for future reference, where

It has been clear from the beginning last winter that the administration's economic plan was an inconsistent attempt to pull in two directions simultaneously. Very tight restraint on the money supply was to hring down inflation, while a huge tax cut was to stimulate economic growth, create jobs and raise incomes. Public policy can make either of these things happen, but oot both of them.

So far the anti-inflationary part is working quite effectively; the inflation rate is sharply lower than a year ago. But it is not working through any special oew magic. It is working through the familiar and costly mechanisms of orthodox economics - growth at zero, or perhaps in a slight recession, and unemploy-

Among other ironies, this administratioo has been telling the world since January that the only real question in its strategy was nicely from its current flat period."

the fire escape might be.

ment rising.

tributions in proportion to reductions made by the United States.

Considering the stakes, Reagan's nonchalance is remarkable. He gives the impression that helping the IDA is a matter of charity. That is an unfortunate and inaccurate portrayal. Here is how it looks to Clausen, formerly of the Bank of America: "An IDA credit is oot a welfare check. It is a productive investment." There has never been a single default on a World Bank loan. These loans have succeeded impressively in stimulating the private investment Reagan prizes.

Another hanker, David Rockefeller, argues that developing countries constitute a larger export market for the United States than all the developed nations put together, excluding only Canada. In 1978, he observes, the $4.8 billion spent for official foreign aid amounted to less than what Americans spent on flowers and plants.

Unarguably, poorer countries could do more to help themselves, and they ought to give a wider role to foreign investment. But private money won't build roads and bridges, it won't teach children, or show farmers how to use fertilizer. Without seed money, investments do not flower.

The ills of the Third World can't be solved by foreign aid. But the free market alone can't solve them either. What aid can do. while helping some, is to promote American security and prosperity. That is a homely the tongue to state it.

whether the Fed would actually have the oerve and stamina to stick with drastic restraint. Now there's a congressional election year ahead, and you will ootice that it's not

To make its case for easing up on the moo-ey supply, the administration points out that one measure of mooey, known as M-1B, is running below its target range. But all the measures of money are being distorted by the rapid changes in the ways people hold and use their mooey. They are currently taking it out of conventional checking and savings accounts, which are counted in M-1B, and flinging it into the money market funds, which are oot. The mooey market funds are reflected in something called M-2, which, oot to anyooe's surprise, is growing faster than its target range. It's a fair conclusion that the

For the administration, the choices are just

Federal Reserve is approximately on target.

as they have always been. The country can continue to hold tight oo the money supply, work the inflatioo rate down and pay a cost in business failures and lost jobs. Or it can ease up on the money supply, throw the economy into recovery and growth, and be-with monetary restraint at least into early

1982. A very large tax cut is now taking effect, and its impact is oot entirely predictable. There are risks in either choice, but the greater ones are still in the possibility of renewed inflatioo. From the beginning, the question has been the administration's reaction when time eventually demonstrated the internal cootradictioo in its strategy and the real costs that either half of it threatens to impose. That time seems to have arrived.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Unfortunately, toe right course is to stick gin another wave of inflation.

the Federal Reserve that's backing off.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

After Sadat: At Best, Weeks of Uncertainty

By Robert Bailey

ONDON - Anwar Sadat, the architect of Egypt's peace with Israel, never denied anecdotes that he slept with a pistol under his pillow. He died at the hands of his own troops at a parade commemorating the 1973 war with Israel.

The worry for Sadat's successor, whether or not it is Vice President Hosny Mubarak, is whether the assassination can be seen in isolation or whether it is part of a new movement that will sweep away the existing order.

How much opposition to Sadat has existed in the armed forces is a matter of speculation. With 367,000 men, they are the largest in the Middle East and represent a constant factor in Egyptian poli-tics. Nasser and Sadat came from the army. Mubarak, as deputy war minister and air force commander, reorganized the air force.

He was appointed vice president in 1975 and has been a key although largely silent figure in the government since then. Perhaps main quality as the heir presumptive is that he has not nade enemics. Western financial sources with knowledge of Egypt say that there may be a period of uncertainty but that if the transfer of power is smooth, trade, which has been expanding rapidly, will be main-

Late on Tuesday, Mubarak said that "a new leader" would be elect-ed within 60 days. When Sadat took over after President Nasser's death in 1970, be was appointed provisional president by the Cabi-net, and only later confirmed in office by a national referendum.

The most obvious result of the end of Sadat's rule will be a change from the personalized style of government he brought to Egypt, which some have described as "open glamor." His close identification with the peace treaty with Israel has meant that little common ground could be established with moderate Arab states which broke with Egypt after Camp David. Sadar's successor is likely to move steadily to mend many of the

Oadhafi

If the normalization of relations with Israel is halted, or seriously held up, the return of the remaining Israeli-occupied areas of Sinai could be in jeopardy. Evacuation hy Israel of its Sinai air bases and settlements and the return of the entire area to Egyptian control was to be the final triumphant justification to the people of Sadar's dra-matic visit to Jerusalem in 1977. Sadat gambled correctly that in-tellectual and Moslem fundamentalist opposition to the peace treaty would not be reflected in general discontent in a country tired of war and economic deprivation. Yet the personal attacks that Sadat was prone to make on Arab states and leaders who opposed his strategy exacerbated relations with

Egypt's neighbors, in particular the Libya of Moamer Qadhafi. Such was the vehemence of the verbal attacks by each on the other in recent months that a war has seemed increasingly likely. Apart from opposing Sadat's peace with Israel, Libya has close military relations with Moscow. A joint plank of Sadat's foreign poli-cy, along with peaceful relations with Israel, was a realignment with A month ago a final break with the Soviet Union was effected with the expulsion of the Soviet ambassador and the civilian remnants of what was once a formidable Soviet military presence. This coincided with a clampdown on domestic religious, political and media oppo-nents of Sadat's rule. Some 1,500 Egyptians were arrested and are still under detention.

Robert Bailey is on the staff of the Middle East Economic Digest. He wrote this article for the International Herald Tribune by far the lowest population densi-ty in the EEC and its railroads are infinitely less encumbered than those of most other European countries. Even the TGV can attain its maximum speed only on certain stretches of freed track de-

Most wonder trains tend to run to the disadvantage of the average train. I fear this will be the case void of dangerous curves.

Much Still Depends On Botha

By Desmond Tutu

The writer is an Anglican bishop and the general secretary of the South African Council of Churches.

WASHINGTON — After all the buffeting that blacks have taken in over 30 years of apartheid rule, you would think that by oow they would have become seasoned cynics.

Former Prime Minister John Vorster proclaimed that he wanted just six months to transform the political face of South Africa. R.F. Botha, who was at that time his ambassador at the United Nations, declared with a great flourish that South Africa was moving away from discrimination based on race. And what happened? Nothing more than the sort of intransigence that caused the 1976 uprisings and the orgy of bannings and deten-tions without trial capped by the death in detention of Steve Biko.

And yet when P.W. Botha came on the scene as prime minister, hopes began to rise again. Here was a man who appeared quite decisive and who knew white South Africa must adapt or die. He was speaking in a way that we had not ected to hear from a N ist prime minister.

Privilege

He seemed to have set his sights on reform and realized be would need new allies, hence his successful overtures to the private sector. Botha also knew that the traditional supporters of his party would be appalled at having to give up so much ol white privilege. A survey showed that 60 percent of the blacks thought Botha was doing a good job as prime minister. That is how high bopes were flying.

Nearly two years have since passed, and there has been little more than reformist rhetoric, which has not yet been translated into reality.

Boths has made a valuant effort to streamline government bureaucracy, but he has also been concentrating power more and more in his hands. He is increasingly seeking to bypass government, as wit-oess his abolition of the Senate and a new scheme for nominating parliamentarians.

He deserves credit for the advent of the President's Council, which represents revolutionary thinking on the part of the Nationalists in that it says other races excluding blacks — would join whites in determining the future of South Africa, constitutional or otherwise. Having got so far, however, he greatly weakened this po-tentially revolutionary move by providing for a nominated rather than an elected membership.

Afrikanerdom

Even after this setback, many people boped against hope that change, real fundamental change which has to do with political power-sharing, still might happen. Others, however, were beginning to suspect that Botha, like all his predecessors, did not want the du-bious honor of going down in history as the man who split the Nationalist Party and so also Afri-

The prime minister was, for instance, humiliated by Andries Treumicht, the arch-conservative leader of the Transvaal Nationalist Party, on the question of whether schoolboys of different races could play rugby together. Treumicht declared in public, contradicting

Prime Minister P.W. Botha

he took this momentous issue to the party caucus he would lose to Treurnicht. And so he backed

For various reasons, Botha decided to call an election some two years before he needed to. Perhaps he wanted his own mandate from the people. Perhaps he hoped to wipe the floor with the right wing and so be rid of it forever. And he might have done both these things had he gone boldly for a reformist

Unfortunately, he retreated into the larger of well-tried traditional Afrikaner policies, and predictably this time he lost to both the right and the left. He was not conservative enough for the right and not reformist enough for the left — if these terms mean anything in South Africa. If he were bright, he would realize that he has been relieved of the albatross of Afrikaner unity. It no longer exists.

History

I have spent time on Botha be-cause he holds the key to a peace-ful future for South Africa. The indisputable point is that we who are copressed will be free. That is not in question. The logic of history, even Afrikaner history, dictates that this is so. All that the whites can do is decide whether they want can do is decide whether they want freedom to come reasonably peacefully or through bloodshed and armed struggle. Those are the only options available.

Botha can play a decisive role by opting for a bold policy of change. Anything else will fail. He can never satisfy the right wing. So he should go all out to win the world and the rest of South Africa by and the rest of South Africa by opting for political power-sharing. Unrest, in the schools and on the labor front, is endemic in our country and will continue to be so until political power-sharing becomes a reality. More and more blacks are becoming disillusioned. as those of us calling for change by peaceful means bave our credibility eroded by the authorities' often brutal and excessive action. Calls for peaceful change are being answered by tear gas, police dogs, bullets, detention without trial and banning orders. The authorities are growing in intransigence; be-latedly, Botha wants to demonprime minister, that it would strate that he is tough and cannot

He is too late because he has not come to terms with the determination bordering on recklessness of black youth who openly flaunt the emblems of the outlawed African National Congress. He cannot control the militancy of black is-bor unions, which are going to be the power to watch.

S. Lail

Million ich.

The House

Mill Isli

Crisis

There will be more and more police harassment, bannings and detentions, but these will not deter those who are determined to be come free.

Finally, a word about foreign corporations in South Africa Multinational corporations are not yet involved in the business of belging to destroy apartheid. They have done some good things for their employees, but all within the framework of apartheid, and really no more than what a good employer should have been doing. Ultimately, their efforts are improvements and are the statement of the ments and not changes. They are making apartheid more comfortable rather than dismantling it. The international community. must make up its mind whether it wants to see a peaceful resolution of the South African crisis. If it does, then let it apply pressure — diplomatic, political, but above all economic — on the South African government to persuade it to go to the negotiating table with the au-thentic leaders of all sections of the South African population before it is too late.

Maybe it is too late, judging from the conduct of the Reagan administration. If so, then what Mr. Vorster called the alternative too ghastly to contemplate is upon us. But hope springs eternal. 0/981, The Washington Post.

Letters intended for publica-tion should be addressed "Letters to the Editor," and must include the writer's address and signature. Priority is given to letters that are brief and do not request anonymity. Letters may be abridged. We are unable to acknowledge all letters, but value the views of readers who submit

Publisher

Executive Editor

Editor

Deputy Editor

Chief Editorial Writer

In the International Edition

Seventy-Five Years Ago October 7, 1906

LONDON — Though Mr. William Waldorf Astor has not nearly finished his restoration of that old and historic pile known as Hever Castle, in Kent, the work is so far forward that he now finds himself able to take up residence in it. In the ancient village of Hever, to which King Henry VIII so often traveled to woo the ill-fated Anne Boleyn, Mr. Astor has recently been seen superintending the installation of his 20th-century belongings in the castle, and in the brand oew Tudor village he has built in his private grounds about it. There is no modern note struck throughout the scattered hamlet of Hever. Mr. Astor, who is keenly interested in every detail of

Fifty Years Ago October 7, 1931

LONDON - Another of the unemployed riots that appear to be becoming endemic broke out today in the heart of London. A brief but bively battle took place between police and unemployed, the former making a baton charge and the latter retaliating with sticks and stones and whatever weapons were handy. Several persons were injured and a number of arrests were made. In the meanwhile a campaign begins in England tomorrow for what will be one of the most curious elections in British history. Some 29 million voters will be asked to vote for individual parliamentary candidates tagged with labels of three existing parties, but who will stand on platforms as yet vaguely defined.

Sweets Immemorial

_Letters-

Re the editorial "Bribery, Rain-makers and the Law" (IHT, Sept. 18): At a time when the United States is afflicted by astronomic unemployment, exports become indispensable and vital. It is only natural, and unfortunately strictly necessary, that business should use practices adopted universally since Adam and Eve by all competitors, and for that matter also by the salesman selling chewing gum to the corner candy store. What about an investigation of the big candy stores scandal? No limits to the pretensions of No limits to the role of universal laughing stock? WILLIAM PASSIGLI.

Le Wonder Train

Minusio, Switzerland

Much ballyhoo has accompanied the announcement of a new French wonder train, but the great problem facing almost all European railroads today is excessive traffic density. Most existing trains passenger and goods — could go much faster than they do, but their performance is frustrated by tight schedules making speed a great danger. This is particularly true of my country, Britain, birthplace of the railroad. Between the two world wars, the British broke several world records with super steam trains. But the joke was that the average British train continued to go slower than

What makes the train à grande vitesse at all possible? France has even in France. For all these reasons, the TGV is not likely to be profitable when all factors are taken into consideration. B. CHARLESWORTH.

Grand-Sacounex, Switzerland.

It Isn't the Same Can it be than even William Safire, whom we need so badly, can get his etymology wrong? "If lesbians argue," he writes (IHT. Sept. 28), "that "bomosexual" Sept. 28), "that 'bomosexual' should be limited to men, I would put up a feeble fight." I would put up a stonger one, "Homonym," "bomosexual," etc. derive not from the Latin homo, meaning "man," but from the Greek homos, meaning "same."

DAVID WINGEATE PIKE

Your friendly philologist has just opened a yawning credibility gap.

D.M. KENYON Romsey, England.

As my dear old illiterate grandmother used to say, beware of the homograph. STEPHEN O. HUGHES.

Herald Tribune

John Hay Whitney

Katharine Graham Arthur Ochs Sulzberger Co-Chairmen

L'accronneux Heraid Tribmes, S.A. on capital de 1200000 F. R.C.
Parlo No 73 B 2112 179/181, par Charles de Gardie, 25331 Nessilyter-Solor, Ed. 471/146 Tribre 161781 Heraid For Colde, Heraid, Fares, Diverseux de la publication: Walter N. Thayer U.S. salesciptony paire 2515 yearly. Scenat class postage parts at Long Island Cry, N.Y. 11101 © 1991 International Heraid Tribune. Al tights sentred. General Manager, Asia. Alah Lecous 24-34 Hermany Road. Rapon 1804. Hong Kong. Tel. 5-23 56 1879. Teles: 61170 [HTHR/CK.

Roland Piason René Bondy Francois Des

Lee W. Huebner

Philip M. Foisie

Walter N. Wells

Robert K. McCabe

Stephen Kleidman

Associate Publisher Director of Finance Director of Circulation

Richard H. Morgan Director of Advertising

the renovation, has visited every week.

Commonwealth States May Urge Global Talks On Aid for 3d World

MELBOURNE -Commonwealth oations on Tuesday prepared a communiqué calling for the dismantling of trade barriers, new efforts to boost food supplies, and belp in tapping energy

Senior officials, in a draft communique still to be approved by government leaders attending the Commonwealth talks here, agreed it should issue a strong call for global negotiations on aid re-sources between the Third World and major industralized countries.

This is a key issue to be discussed at a 22-nation North-South meeting at Cancun, Mexico, Oct. 22. President Reagan, who will be at Cancun, has so far withheld U.S. approval for the global talks long sought by the Third World.

If agreed, the communique would put the Commonwealth on record in supporting "every effort to remove obstacles to an early start to the global negotiations." Seven Commonwealth leaders are also going to Cencun.

The communique, to be issued when the eight-day meeting ends Wednesday, will express Com-monwealth views on all major is-

But diplomats said it would be less tough than Western nations wanted on disputed East-West is-sues such as Poland, Afghanistan and Cambodia because of the Commonwealth's broad ideological span. The grouping of states formerly ruled by Britain includes Marxist-run governments sympa-thetic to the Soviet Union, and most members also belong to the

Grenada's prime minister, Mau-rice Bishop, meanwhile, accused the CIA of plotting to destabilize

his Caribbean island state.
The United States had conducted military exercises that were a trial run for an invasion of his 133square-mile (340-square-kilometer) island, he told a press conference. The destabilisation efforts "Can easily be traced to the CIA. There is no doubt about it, it is very re-

Mr. Bishop said his government had complained to the United States and after six weeks "we got a stock denial but no clarifica-

Jamaican Prime Minister Edward Seaga said later he knew of no instance of U.S. interference in the domestic affairs of a Carib-

He said journalists should have asked Mr. Bishop for evidence to back up his accusations. Not having asked for that I suggest you

ing asked for that I suggest you treat the information he has given you very warily," he said.

Outside the conference proper, David Chipp, editor in chief of Britain's Press Association news agency, told the Commonwealth Press Union that official restrictions on newspapers therete to tions on newspapers threaten to make it increasingly difficult for journalists around the world to report the news. "The attack is insidious and slow and is often justified by what are superficially very worthy motives."

Mr. Chipp said the press should ensure that its own attitudes were positive and brave to protect itself from activities like those of the Unesco, which is seeking to

House Approves Extension Of U.S. Voting Rights Act

ington Post Service WASHINGTON - The House overwhelmingly approved extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, giving Democrats and civil rights groups one of their few legislative victories this year.

The bill extends anti-discrimination laws at the polls indefinitely but gives jurisdictions covered by the act an easier way to escape its provisions with good behavior.
The 389-10-24 vote-came Monday night after a coalition of Democrais and moderate Republicans brushed aside nine amendments designed to weaken the bill and climinate the requirement for printing of bilingual ballots.

Today, the House has made good its commitments to the major : Massachusetts Democrat, said a few minutes before the vote. "It is guaranteeing the right to vote."

With the administration's position on many provisions of the bill unclear, the extension faces an uncertain future in the more conservarive Senate, which is not scheduled to begin hearings on it until at

Lopsided Victories

While civil rights lobbyists crowded the corridors, supporters of the extension had rolled up lopsided victories as they insisted that any amendment to the extension bill would weaken it and was unac-

This tactic rankled opponents such as Rep. Daniel E. Lungren, a California Republican, who accused civil rights groups of engaging in "emotional and moral blackmail."

moderate Republicans crushed opas the extension moved toward passage. Key provisions of the bill do not expire until next August, but civil rights groups had pressed for early House action because they fear Senate opposition.

teracy tests, poll taxes and other devices used to keep minorities from voting. States with a history of voting rights discrimination are Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., a from the Justice Department for any changes in state or local elec-

Since that time, the number of blacks registered to vote in the South has climbed from 29.3 percent to 56.6 percent in 1980, and the number of blacks holding elective office from less than 100 to 1,813. This has led to pressure for relief from pre-clearance condi-tions, which apply to Alaska and eight Southern states and parts of

they could show no voting viola-tions for 10 years.

Baseball Hall of Fame, died Sun-

Mr. Lindstrom starred for the

Jud Strunk

CARRABASSETT VALLEY

DIAMONDS

YOUR BEST BUY

y ordering direct from Antwerp.

the world's most important cut-diamond market. Give diamonds to the ones you love, buy for investment, for your enjoyment

Hirze annual in tree price ha

Joschim Goldenstein

Belgium - Tel.: Q3134.67.51. Telex: 71779 syl b.

at the Diamond Club Bldg

Gold Model

diamantexport
Established 1909
instrant 62, B-2000 Antwerp

day after a long illness.

Author Clotilde Marghieri Dies at 80; Published Berenson Correspondence

Marghieri, 80, has died. Her latest work was the publica-

OBITUARIES

can art critic Bernard Berenson under the title "Lo Specchio Dop-

Her most successful work was the 1970 book "Il Segno sul Bracrio" (The Mark on the Arm), which won Italy's Villa San

William M. Rand

LINCOLN, Mass. (AP) - William M. Rand, 95, a naval aide to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt in World War I, and president of Monsanto Chemical Co. from 1945 to 1951, died Monday.

Fred Lindstrom

CHICAGO (NYT) — Fred Lindstrom, 75, a third baseman and outfielder for nine seasons with the New York Giants and other National League teams from 1924 to 1936 and a member of the

Kekkonen Sick Leave Extended by a Month

HELSINKI - President Urho Kekkonen's sick leave was extended Tuesday by a month during an extraordinary session of the Cabi-net. Mr. Kelkonen, 81, who is suf-

"The president's office an-nounces that on the basis of a doc-tor's certificate the president will be prevented from taking care of his official duties for a month's

A coalition of Democrats and position by ratios as great as 3 to 1

The Voting Rights Act, passed at the height of the civil rights movement, banned the use of li-13 other states.

The House Judiciary Committee worked out compromise "bailout" procedures that would allow juris-dictions to avoid being covered if

ROME — Italian author Clotilde

tion in Italy of her 28 years of correspondence with the late Ameri-

Giants against the Washington Schators in the 1924 World Series as an 18-year-old rookie, getting 10 hits. He batted 379 in 1930 and had a career average of 311.

pio" (The Double Mirror).

Maine (UPI) — Jud Strunk, 44, who wrote the hit song "Daisy a Day" and played a country bumpkin newscaster on television's "Laugh In" program, died Mon-day in the crash of his antique Giovanni prize. She died Monday: open-cockpit warplane. A friend, Richard Ayotte, 43, was also Lofton A. Cooper MIAMI (UPI) — Lofton Alfonso (Al) Cooper, 70, leader of the Savoy Sultans orchestra at New York's Savoy Ballroom in the 1940s and a jazz saxaphonist, died Saturday of a heart attack.

The Associated Press fering from fatigue and a cerebro-vascular disorder, has been on leave since Sept. 10.

time as of Oct. 10," the announcement said.

gary, an honorary U.S. citizen. From left are: Nina Lagergren, Mr. Wallenberg's sister; Sen. Claiborne Pell; Vice President Bush; Rep. Tom Lantos, who was in the Hungarian anti-Nazi underground and was saved by Mr. Wallenberg; and Mr. von Dardel. Mr. Wallenberg was reported to have died in a Soviet prison camp after the war but this has never been confirmed.

Nonaligned Nations Seem to View U.S. as Sole Threat to World Peace

By Bernard D. Nossiter

New York Times Service UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. -- If the 93 nations professing nonalignment are to be taken literally, the United States is the only threat to world peace and prosperity.

This is the thrust of a 21-page document that the group adopted this week after two days of private discussion. "It has been a strongly anti-American formulation," said a senior Arab diplomat who was a senior Arab diplomat who was unhappy with the proceedings. In the document, the United States is accused of "aggression" for downing two Libyan planes that Washington said had fired first over international waters. The United States is also "condemned" in the document for its "hostility" toward the "inalienable rights" of Palestinian Arabs, for planning to baild new strategic links with Isra-el, for attempting to "destabilize" Nicaragua, Grenada and Cuba, and for refusing to grant Puerto Rico independence even though the island's voters have repeatedly rejected this option at the polls.

NEWS ANALYSIS

The 93 nations also "deplored" the U.S. veto of the resolution condemning South Africa for its raid into Angola in August. The communique implies that Washington will breach its treaty to hand over Panama Canal to Panama at the end of the century. The docu-ment voices alarm over the accelerating arms race but singles out only one weapon, the U.S. neutroo bomb. It has oothing to say about Soviet deployment of medium-range missiles in Europe.

In fact, the Soviet Union and its allies are oever mentioned, save as victims, anywhere in the survey. It time to reach the capital.

says that "foreign forces" should pull out of Afghanistan but fails to describe them as Moscow's. Similarly, it says unidentified "foreign forces" should also withdraw from Cambodia. It discreetly does not name them as Vietnamese. The nonstigned group, celebrating its 20th anniversary, organized in the name of independence from the camps led by Washington and Moscow. Several delegates to the conference acknowledge that the latest communiqué is more strongly tilted toward the Soviet Union than any produced since the group's meeting in Havana two years ago. These diplomats, how-ever, contend there is both less and more here than meets the eye. Cuba is still chairman of the group and its foreign minister, Isidoro Malmierca, ran the latest meeting here with an iron hand. According to those present, when a delegate demurred at some language. Mr. Malmierca would re-ply: "Don't waste time. Send your reservation in writing." This way he could preserve an artificial appearance of consensus or unanim ty, required at nonaligned gather-

The moderates never org nized," said an Asian envoy. "The extremists did." The meeting was

At Least 1,500 Killed As Floods Hit Nepal

United Press International KATMANDU, Nepal — The worst floods in 30 years left 1,500 people dead to the Himalayan mountain kingdom of Nepal, thousands homeless and destroyed crops last week, according to the newspaper Sanghu.

There are fears that the death toll may be higher as reports con-presented with a relatively mild working paper. But Syria, Libya, Algeria, Nicaragua and the Palestine Liberation Organization - a 94th "nation" in nonaligned circles — introduced carefully timed amendments to stiffen the document's anti-American tone. Several dozen members of the oup, including Bangladesh, Nepal Bhutan, Zaire, Senegal and Gabon, say they will file objections to one section or another. But for the record, the paper stands as the group's unanimous view. "It was just not important enough to fight over," said an Asian diplomat.

Some nations did, however fight for their own cause. Egypt succeeded in crasing words that would have condemned Cairo for signing a peace treaty with Israel. Pakistan got rid of language dilut-ing the section dealing with those anonymous "foreign forces" in Af-

The moderates concede that their unwillingness to insist on a less one-sided document reflects a widespread undercurrent of dismay with the policies of the Reagan administration.

"You're sending out the wrong signals," said an African diplomat. Io the African view, the administration's proclaimed neutrality between South Africa's ruling whites and its black population is immoral. Washington's repeated actions to support Pretoria or spare it from rebuke have aroused deep suspicion over U.S. intentions toward the South African-administered territory of South-West Africa, also known as Namibia. In the eyes of the nonaligned, Namibia is the last colonial possession, and black Africans fear that Washingtoo is secretly encouraging Preto-

Reagan Proposal Would Enhance CIA's Surveillance Powers in U.S.

By Judith Miller New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - After months of internal debate, the Reagan administration has drafted a proposal that would grant U.S. intelligence agencies broad authority to infiltrate domestic organizations and review bank, medical, telephone and other private records, according to congressional

The 23-page proposal, written by an interagency group headed by the Central Intelligence Agency, has stirred intense opposition from some members of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, Mem-bers of the Senate panel have asked the Justice Department and the CIA to explain how they would interpret the authority granted under the proposal.

The draft is the administration's third effort to replace Executive Order 12036, the basic framework for intelligence activities signed by President Jimmy Carter on Jan. 24, 1978. The revised order would have the force of law if signed by President Reagan. The CIA apparently is seeking expanded authority to strengthen its ability to collect information about U.S. citizens and foreigners may pose a threat to the nation's A senior intelligence official said Monday that the proposal con-tained a broad requirement that all intelligence agency activities must be conducted according to the law. Therefore, be said, there would be no illegal electronic surveillance directed against U.S. citizens.

residing in the United States who

The first draft of the order was quickly disavowed by White House officials when its disclosure last March prompted outcries that it would weaken civil liberties and privacy protections. A second draft, issued last May, assuaged many of the concerns of civil libertarians, but was opposed by Richard V. Allen, the president's national security adviser, and other administration officials who favor granting the intelligence agencies greater flexibility.

Several congressional sources said Mooday that the oew proposal would grant the agencies what they called "sweeping power" and "broad authority" to infiltrate U.S. organizations, open mail without court orders and engage in other activities prohibited by the existing order. Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., a Delaware Democrat, and other senators expressed opposition to the proposed order, which they argued could pose a threat to the civil rights and liberties. Sen. Biden reportedly vowed to "spend the rest of my career in the Senate opposing this order."

Pope to Give Audience In St. Peter's Square

The Associated Press
VATICAN CITY — Wednesday's general audience by Pope John Paul II will take place in St. Peter's Square - not inside, as previously announced — to give more pilgrims a chance to see the pope, the Vatican announced. Earlier, the Vatican said the weekly audience, the first since the pope was shot in the square nn May 13, would be in the Pnpe Paul VI Hall, with a capacity of 17,000.

sources familiar with the document, the order would do the fol-

Delete existing prohibitions on the CIA's conduct of "special activities" or covert actions within the United States, as long as the activities were not intended to influence official policies or politics. Appear to give the CIA new authority to participate in developing procedures approved by the at-torney general that govern criminal narcotics intelligence activities abroad.

Free intelligence agency beads from being required to re-port possible federal crimes by their employees.

 Broaden the CIA's authority and that of other intelligence agencies to collect information about U.S. citizens or foreigners residing in the United States. One source said that under this procedure, the CIA could obtain access to bank, medical, telephone and other private records.

 Delete a provision in the existing order that requires the secre-tary of state to "coordinate" with the director of intelligence to ensure that intelligence activities are "useful to and consistent with United States foreign policy."

 Delete standards that limit physical surveillance of U.S. citizens abroad to present or former employees and cootractors, those reasonably believed to be acting on behalf of a foreign power or engaging in international terrorist or narcotics activities," and those in contact with subjects of foreign intelligence nr counterintelligence in-

OFFICES TO BE LET 26, Champs-Elysées: from 447 M2 to 2100 M2 17,19, Rue de Ponthieu: from 447 M2 to 1200 M2 REALISATION Weatheralls SAI. 26, Champs-Elysées SCI. 17, 19, 21, Rue de Ponthieu 563 05 50

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

THE GOVERNMENT OF JAMAICA INVITE TOP-LEVEL DISCUSS OF JAMAICA INVITES FOR TOP-LEVEL DISCUSSIONS

with the Jamaican Foreign Minister ond Deputy Prime Minister The Rt. Hon. Hugh Lawson Shearer P.C., M.P. and members of the Jamaican delegation visiting the Federal Republic of Germany from October 19 to 29.

Main topic: Investment of German Enterprises in Jamaica.

Experts are available for questions relating to: Export • Subsidiaries • Port and navigation Kingston export free zone Bank of Jamaica. International and German businessmen report on their business experience with Jamoica.

For appointments in Munich, Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Cologne, or Hamburg please contact the Embassy of Jamaica in Bonn at 0228/35.40.45 or 36.33.25.

Oil and Gas

Are you considering Investment Opportunities?

Internationally known energy consulting firm, Keplinger and Associates, Inc., will be holding their Symposium on Oil and Gas Investing and Financing.

London, England During each two-day seminar, the Keplinger staff along with other foremost energy experts will outline the legal, accounting and financial espects of an oil and gas investment. Petroleum Geology, Petroleum Engineering and Exploration Techniques

October 15 & 16, 1981

Royal Lancaster Hotel

For more information contact Mary Fraser. Keplinger and Associates, (U.K.), Ltd. 27 Monpelier Street, KNIGHTSERIDGE London SW7 1HF, England Telephone: 01-584 4351 will also be presented in a non-technical manner.

October 12 & 13, 1981

Hotel Concorde La Fayette

Would you like to be the owner and shareholder in a holding company in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. agement, telephone, telex, office at your disposal

For further information write to: Box D 1829, international Herald Tribune 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

ART GALLERY FOR SALE

EQUITY INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY SOUTH FLORIDA, U.S.A.

Our dient, a major real estate development firm in conjunction with an international hotel chain and leading financial institution is seeking an equity partner with up to $10,000,000.

The development is a luxury hotel/condominium complex on the ocean in the most prestigious location in South Florida. Scheduled completion in 3 years with a high return to investor.

For information please contact: MR. ALLAN KRIEFF Krieff Advertising 500 N.W. 165 Street Road Suite 101, Miami, FL 33169

(305) 940-9973

EUROPEAN GENERAL

AGENT NEEDED!

Charter Security Life Insurance Co., an A.M. Best "A" rated company with over 1 billion dollars in assets, is anticipating D.O.D. dearance in Octobe to solicit on military installation

Carl Ogden, V.P.

P.O. Box 41310

Telephone (904) 358-4641.

ille, Florida (U.S.A.) 32202

throughout Europe.

If interested please contact:

PORTUGAL

t4 years in London, Good repu-tation with profitable certified stock as going concern. Management available. New, fair

Highest references available.

Write to Box No 033377

international Herald Tribune.

Kingsway, London WC2.

15 years lease.

Seeking new suppliers? Looking for Agencies? Portuguese exports are among the best business opportunities in Europe.

To know more about Portuguese exporters, their products and their services, come and see us. Or write for our brochure. Like our services,

EXPORAIR Trade Center Rua Castino, 3 - 1200 LISBOA - Portugal Telex. 13706 EXPO P

CAPITAL AVAILABLE For viable laternational projects, R.E. Bus. Expansion, Working Capital, Stant-ups, Stand-by Letters of Credits and Bank Guarantees Available.

BROKERS INVITED $500,000 Minis Also excellent U.S. and Foreign investment opportunities available (Said Investments backed by Interna

YEKTURE CAPITAL CONSULTANTS 16311 Ventura Blvd., Sette 999, Encine, Galifornia 91436, U.S.A. Telex: 651355 VENCAP ISA U.S.A. (213) 789-0422.

PUBLIC AUCTION SECURITY AGREEMENT SAI Re: FLECK INDUSTRIES, INC DALEY-HODKIN CORP. - Auctioneers/Appraisers

METAL FABRICATOR STRAIGHT SIDE PRESSES

1979 BLISS 400 TON S.S.

DBL. CRANK POWER PRESS

MOD. SC-2-400 96" X48" W/EGAN PRESS PARTNER 24" POWER

STRAIGHTENER, COIL CRADLE, ROLL HED, CONTEOL CRITTER

W/DIGITAL TEAD OUT; BLISS 250 TON S.S. DBL. CRANK POWER

PRESS MOD. S2-250-84-48 W/AMERICAN 10,000 BL. ROLL RED &

STRAIGHTENER; 2 NIAGARA 125 TON S.S. DBL. CRANK POWER

PRESSES MOD. SC2-125-84-42.

DI-ACRO MOD. 20 N/C, 20/36 TURRET PRESS 5 POWER BRAKES 5 %. TO 10 %.
POWER SHEARS
CINCINNATI 2 % X3/16" GA. MOD. 1412;
NIAGARA 6 % X 10 GA. MOD. 16-96;
MACHINE TOOLS

VIBRATORY DEBURRING & FINISHING MACH., ULTRAMATIC MOD. CTOHD-24144-NEW 1979, COMBINATION 18"X 12 ft. CONTINUOUS BATCH TYPE.

MACHINE TOOLS, RIVETERS, WELDERS, PAINT & BAKING LINES, AIR COMPRESSORS, MATERIAL HANDLENG, etc. RISPECTION: TUES. & WIEL, OCT. 20 & 21 9 A.M. TO 4 P.M. EACH DAY TERMS: 25% DEPOST, CASH OR CERTIFED FLINDS FOR FULLY DESCRIPTIVE SKOCHLIRE WRITE OR CALL Auct'rs, Office: L50 Brood Hollow Rd., Mahille, N.Y. 11747 AUCTIONEER'S TELEPHONES: (516) 421-1414; (212) 895-2049.

ADOLFO BULLRICH & Co. IN ARGENTINA

SINCE 1867 INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Real Estate

Cattle and agricultural Land

Farms Management

 Financial Company Thoroughbred Sales

Insurance Company

Posadas 1257 - Buenos Aires - República Argentina Tel. 22-1042 y 22-0092 - Telex 22901 ABSA AR. In London (Up to 10 Nov. 81]:

Mr. Conrado Etchebarne Bullrich, Vanderbilt Hotel 76 Cromwell Road, London SW7 - t-584049 t

Theater

'Nicholas Nickleby' Extravaganza Hits New York

By Ula Ilnytzky

The Associated Press

TEW YORK — "Nicholas Nickleby." Broadway's most expensive show at $100 a ticket left much of the opening-night audience feeling it got its money's worth, but had some critics questioning whether its 8½ hours was too much of a good thing.

Many who saw the show Sunday — including some who paid $30 for standing room said they came away feeling refreshed.

"I never expected it to be so exciting. You cheer for the hero and you curse at the vil-lain." said Charlene Brandt, of Manhattan. "I haven't felt the time. It's just gone by in a

"It's absolutely incredible. At every intermission, we were amazed that we didn't no-tice the passage of time," said Joseph diCor-cia, who said be flew from North Carolina, where he teaches at Duke University, especially to see the play.

Asked whether the $100 was well spent, and if he would sit through another 8½ hours for the play, diCorcia replied, "Absolutely." Theater Filled

The Plymouth Theater was filled to capacity, with 985 spectators attending the $4.4-million extravaganza, the Royal Shakespeare Company's adaptation of Charles Dickens' tale of a young innocent in early Victorian

Although most reviewers landed the producers' undertaking and the fine acting, some thought the play contained chill passages. "While the high points of this 'Nicholas Nickelby' are Himalayan indeed," said Frank Rich in The New York Times, they are separated by dull passages, which clog the production's arteries.

'Great Acting Company'

But Rich praised the "great acting company" with which "two ceaselessly imaginative directors. Trevor Nunn and John Cand, periodically reveal that they can indeed translate Dickens into pure theater." He added, "The novel's atmosphere — that dense and sweep-ing social canvas of a Victorian universe also receives its due," for which he lauded the "unbeatable costume and lighting designers," John Napier and David Hersey.

Jay Sharbutt of The Associated Press wrote, "Alas, the production, which gets off whole. Also, the production, which gets off to a rousing start with flying muffins and actors dashing down the aisles . . . isn't always engrossing, particularly in the first act. . . Luckily, the dull passages are few, the dramatic and touching ones many."

But Douglas Watt in the Daily News said such leaves the manufacture of the party of the said such leaves th such languid moments are probably "due as much to the spectator's momentary lapse of attention" in what it termed "big, sweeping theater of a kind you are unlikely to encounter more than once in a lifetime."

David Richards of The Washington Post called the spectacle "a prodigious experi-ence" and "a teeming wonder," and found it "ruthlessly faithful to Dickens' tone."

"With uncommon audacity, Nicholas Nic-kleby' not only takes on Dickens' sprawling novel, it fractures all the petty limitations we have imposed upon the stage as well," Richard wrote. "It is a show unto itself. A landAnd Clive Barnes, writing in the New York Post, praised the producers and the fine acting and called the play "one of the great theatrical experiences of our time."

Even spectators who stood through the performance found it lively.

Ruth Lee Adams, a student from Florids, said the play "keeps your interest and is fast moving." Mel Malen, of Manhattan, said the standing "wasn't as bad as we thought it would be."

Connie Childs, a student at Skidmore Col-

Connie Childs, a student at Skidmore Col-lege in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., who sat through the performance, said she found the play not in the least dull.

"It never dragged. This is theater history happening in a big, big way," she said. But she lamented the cost of the tickets. "It's un-fortunate that it's only a rich person's play," she said. "Dickens didn't write just for the rich"

Outside the theater, 45th Street was filled with chauffeured automobiles waiting for the

The $100 evening did not include the price of dinner, and most of the viewers had reserved seats at nearby restaurants ahead of time, although there were a few who brownbagged it.

Local cateries that did not require reserva-tions, posted signs addressed to the "Nicho-las Nickleby" viewer, promising to "serve-you and get you back in a Dickens."

The play is in New York for a 14-week engagement, through Jan. 3. Tickets have been sold out through October.

Fashion

The Rivalry of Giorgio Armani, Gianni Versace in Milan

By Hebe Dorsey

Imernational Revold Tribuni MILAN — Giorgio Armani and Gianni Versace are the two big guns of Italian fashion and they are constantly shooting at each other. Not openly, you under-stand, but indirectly, a hit like in the days of Elizabeth Arden and Helena Rubinstein when a peeved Arden would refer to Rubinstein as "the uther one."

Io the heated world of fashion, Versace and Armani have reached a new peak. Both look like movie - but while Armani is Robert Redford, Versace is more Robert De Niro. Both move with an entourage of gorgeous, doe-eyed boys and clever, funny women. In a city where good restaurants are a dime a dozen, both like the same one, El Toula, bot management is careful to have them sitting at opposite ends of the room. Armani is the darling of Women's Wear Daily, which reports on his every move and snaps all those sexy pictures - including Armani getting out of his tub but keeping his towel on. Versace gets almost total attention from Italia Harper's Bazaar (whose editors report somewhat sadly that they are barred from Armani's). Both Versace and Armani have split from MODIT, the well-organized Milan fashion fair with its twice-a-year showings (the current ooe lasts through Oct.

son. He quit the fair, he said at the time, because he was tired of pay-ing nearly $100,000 to temperamental foreign models. So what's with Versace this season? He too has decided that he does oot want to be at the fair and he is having smallish, intimate shows at his premises. He says his clothes get lost on the buge MODIT runway.

High Tech in the Palazzo

Now everybody has to troop to both Armani's and Versace's, and go to the fair. But Armani, who is still one step ahead, is oot bothering with a regular collection this like butterflies on a decor of black industrial tubing, a bit of high tech for that frescoed palazzo of his. Assistants take you around and explain the lines, the fabrics and the colors. The master is also there, in his usual baby bloe sweater (matching his eyes) and he, too, is charming and most available. There is salami and white wine and fresh strawberries at the buffet. After the little tour, which (be thankful for the colors in the clothes) is conducted in almost pitch black rooms, there is a pro-jection of color slides, letting you look on life-sized models, which, let's face it, is not as good as the real thing.

Meanwhile, you bear reports that Armani is thinking big — and including his women's wear and U.S. men's wear for fashion giant GFT (Gruppo Finanziarin Tessile). GFT also has Armani doing a 40-percent-cheaper, so-called Mani line and has now asked him to do a still cheaper line (by 15 percent), called Mixmatch,

The latter is a collection of separates, angled at the young market, which Armani says he can do by using solid color cottons, instead of the intricately researched and expensive fabrics that are the basis of his refined look.

Armani has also branched out into what he calls Emporio Armani shops, of which there will be 13 in 1982. Those are closely copied oo American designers' forays into the highly profitable designereans market and functional outdoor clothing. Armani, whose business turnover will be $120 million in 1982, expects to gross $18 million on jeans alooe.

Versace Sales and Scent

Meanwhile, life is not treating Versace too badly. At only 34, he racks up sales of $80 million a year, with 80 boutiques all over the world.

His first perfume, Versace, was launched last weekend by Charles of the Ritz, whose only other European design talent is Yves Saint Laurent. Said Charles of the Ritz executive Robert Miller: "We've invested $2 million which we don't expect to get back before two or three years." So Versace gave a big party at his palatial Lake Como home last Saturday. It was cold and rainly but here were a let of and rainy but there were a lot of pretty girls in Versace's pageboy black velvet around, including actress Ornella Muti, whom Versace whose English is somewhat hesi-tant, kept calling the star of "Flesh Gordon.

MONTMARTRE

The al fresco dinner was a bit too al fresco and, as water kept filtering onto the beautiful white canvas-canopied terrace, some guests felt as if they were on some Dutch dike as men kept piling up sandbags to hold the water back. But to get back to that Armani and Versace rivalry, the upshot is that now they are imitating each other. Unconsciously, no doubt, bot it is quite clear this season. Armani's softer, fuller and more relaxed look as well as his sudden exploitation of color is a drastic and deliberate change reminiscent of Versace's flamboyant approach — while some of Versace's blazers look like that famous restrained Armani tailoring.

Because both designers are enormously talented, the results, if not the duel, are a plus for the fashion

Versace in tax.

Alda: Man of All 'Seasons'

By Thomas Quinn Curtiss

PARIS — Alan Alda's "Four Seasons" is a hot hit in the United States. Its instantaneous success there comes as suprise for it is neither science-fiction epic nor sadistic melodrama, the two surefire spe-

Alda, who wrote and directed it and plays its leading role, has drawn a collective portrait of three fairly affluent couples coasting into middle age. His approach is that of a John O'Hara novel, as he outlines the characters and background with dry, objective humor.

This trio of husbands and wives enjoy each other's company. Their professions differ — as do their opinions on certain matters — but they have similar tastes in food and travel and always holiday together and their long association has bred affectionate friendship. We have them their long association has bred affectionate friendship. We have them weekending at a country home, sailing the sunlit Caribbean seas and indulging in winter sports. Their unity is disturbed when one of the fold, a banker, divorces his wife and replaces her with a flighty young woman whose flashy presence is alien to the lifestyle of the group.

Curiously, the part that Alda has designed for himself — that of an able lawyer — provides on range. It is altogether too static and inert. Despite experiences, the man remains exactly the same as though he had been embained and filed away in a safe deposit vanit. As a writer the anthor-director-actor does better with the lesser folk of his fable, particularly with the obese deutist with an obsession with death, admirably impersonated by Jack Weston. The case of the abandoned wife who becomes dangerously neurotic, actually the pivot of such story as there becomes dangerously neurotic, actually the pivot of such story as there is, receives second-hand attention, though Sandy Dennis in the role makes the most of her opportunities. There is a nimble performance, too, by the ingratiating comedience Carol Burnett as the lawyer's mate and another by Rita Morenn as the worried dentist's soothing sponse.

All in all you will not be bored by this attempted expose of upper-middle-class American life as it is lived today. Its details, if not all its people, have an anthentic ring. It contains platitudes, but they have been freshened by sprightly treatment. Foreign audiences, like the American ones, will find its social satire instructive. (At the UGC Biarritz, UGC Opéra and the UGC Odéon in English.)

Why anyone should want to revive "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" again is as much a mystery as why anyone would want to revive flannel underwear. It is possible that the obsolete hair-raiser might be reproduced in the nature of a wheeze — as has happened often to "Dracula" — but you will find it its old straight-faced self, with agonizing pseudo-scientific gabble, in Ken Russell's "Ahered States," which is derived not from the Stevenson story but from a covel by Paddy Chayefsky.

To the familiar transformation scenes — a speciality of ham actors in the theater of the 1890s and of countless movie actors even since — have been added the visions of hallucinations visited upon the experimenting scientist as he movernose the changes from man-into-monkey and mon-scientist as he ungergoes the changes from man-into-monkey and monkey-into-man.

The sight of the protagonist (William Hurt) in hairy nakedness scampering through the dark streets in search of prey is less frightening than funny. (At the Gaumont Champs-Elysées, the Quartier Latin and the Gaumont Les Halles in English.)

"In God We Trast" is so bad it is a miracle that it was released. Such awful accidents are customarily shelved. Marty Feldman, more likely to evoke pity than laughter, is entirely responsible for it, having written and directed it and having taken the chief part, that of a ronaway monk who discovers his Thais in the person of a foul-spoken hooker.

With his whammy eyes, salacious grin and Cockney chirp — "the bumpy parts," he says, in describing feminine anatomy — he should be consigned to minor bits as the grotesque jester of medieval despots. (At the Saint-Michel and Gaumont Colisèe in English.)

More people prefer to look at Alain Delon, according to box-office statistics, and so he is back in a thriller, 'Pour la peas d'un lie,' an action thriller of familiar ingredients, making his debut as a director and as a co-scenarist. As a director and as a writer he discloses no technical covelties. Both script and mise en scene are predictable from the start. He has the advantage of being an attractive actor and it is this attribute that unfailing draws the crowds.

American director King Vidor, oow 86, is in Paris as a guest of the French Ministry of Coloure. French Culture Minister Jack Lang decorated Vidor with the insignia of Commander of Arts and Letters Tuesday and he was honored on Monday at the Cinemathèque Français with a showing of "Voyage à Galveston." a documentary of his career made by the French cineaste, Catherine Berge, and a projection of his silent 1928 comedy about the Hollywood studios, "Show People," which stars Maroo Davies. Silent films require musical accompaniment and Albert Levy obliged at the piano during the unrecling of the latter.

Several of Vidor's earlier silent films are scheduled for projection at the Cinémathèque at the Palais de Chaillot, the program continuing until Nov. 15. Among these, rarely seen, are "Peg O' My Heart" with Laurette Taylor: "Wild Oranges," from the Joseph Hergesheimer novelette, shot, however, out in Griffith Park but in the Everglades of Florida, and "His Hour" with John Gilbert. These will be followed by all the Vidor talkies from "Hallelujah," the initial film with an all-black cast, to "War and NYSE Nationwide Trading Closing Prices Oct. 6 Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street.

12 Mooth Stock Pre 1885, Migh Low Gost, Class Pre High Low Div. In 5 Yid. F/E 1885, Migh Low Gost, Class

GAF 1.58
124, GAF 1.58
124, GAF 1.58
124, GAF 2.58
124, GAF 2.58
124, GCA 2.58
125, GCA 2.58
125,

2.20 2.20 2.20 2.30 1.10 1.13 .40 1.480 2.54

.80 .24 .40 .44 .28

247516有,1967年,1978年,197

23% + % 17% - % 8% + % 24% + H 24 + H

°€ NO

WC 13

Control | 1.70

Control | HALES OF 11 PF 123 OF 140 OF 1 18 Amar 20
2 Amir wt
17: AAir wt
17: AAir st
11: ABout 255
15: ABred st
15: ABred st
16: ABred s 2044 + 10 1764 + 16 2764 + 16 2764 + 16 2764 + 16 2764 + 16 1764 + 16 1764 + 16 1764 + 16 1764 + 16

1.40 pt4.75 1.40 pt3.75 Th 8.14 29 1.19 1.40 r 2.40 pt4.50 pt4.50 pt4.50 pt4.75

MA ATRA BETT ATR 34 14 BT Mtg ZW Bonner 18
18 Berder Al
18 Berder Al
18 Berder Al
18 Berner 18
17 Berfin 17
17 Berfin 18
17 Berfin 18
18 Beer 18
18 12 13 17 14 17

以外,是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人的,我们是这个人的,我们是这个人的,我们也不是这个人的,我们也不是这个人的,我们也是这个人的,我们也是这个人的,我们就是这个人的,我们也是这个人的,我们也是这一个 1.405 204 - 164 -

2.40 50 Fn pr 1.10 1.760 1.72 2.34 1 1 .92 IS CANA MI STANDAM STA

ANNERS DE STANDE DE LE STANDE D 4416—11715—1

神の大は 746 674 1394 1794 134 Dentk 83.40 4614 DetoGn 644 DetoGn 644 Detyge 1344 Detyge 11 Deyco 54 40 Deytld 3 47% 779 46% 13% 54% 244 Deany
16th Delimp
16th Delimp
16th Delimn
21 Diach
15th Denny
17th Denny
11th Descript
11th Desc 7.0 1 1.40 in 8.72 274 EGG 90 135 EGGPP 94 134 EGGP 124 134 EGGP 124 134 EGGP 125 EGGPP 125 EGG 34 11984 4345 11984 1198 1.40 pr 2.25 .46 .38 24 61179 72 3 24 49 300 24 7 87 73 44 24 3 225 12 8 25 8 3 6 13 11 36 57 24 FAMC pri 12 Fabrya Atla Pobrci 14 Fabrya Atla Pobrci 14 Fabrya Atla Pobrci 12 Fabrya Atla Folia Pobrci 14 Fabrya 14 Fabrya 14 Fabrya 14 Fabrya 15 Fabrya 17 Fabrya 1.30 1.32 1.10 1.90 1.20 1.20 2.35 40 pt 40 255

4814 5014 + 76 4616 - 176 1316 - 16 5776 + 176 - 1444 + 1544 +

20 Horsell Harrish Har Maria da an maria de la companya de la companya de la companya da an maria da de la companya de

THE STATE OF THE S 240 Inger R 240 230 Inger R 240 240 Inger R 240 Inger 18% JWT s 1.44
21% JWSF 1.40
21% JWSF 1.40
21% JWSF 1.50
21% JSF 1.50

25 1.5

Armani in jeans.

PARIS NOUYELLE REVUE COCORICO !

WORLDWIDE ENTERTAINMENT WATUSI DANS FRENESIE

20 h 30 Dîner dansant 20 h 00 Dîner dansant champagne et revue champagne et revue 295 F 295 F 22 h 00 Revue et 0 h 00 champagne 22 h 30 Revue et Oh 30 champagne 200 F

Place Blanche 606 00 19:78 02 et agences as des Champs-Élysées

PRIN NETS SERVICE COMPRIS NORMANDIE

Banking and Finance in SCANDINAVIA

-A SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT

NORWAY: Shift to Conservatives Puts Focus on Economic Issues

OSLO — The Labor Party's defeat in Norway's mid-September elections has generated expectations among the more conservative voters of marked changes in the volters of accordance with in the political and economic out-look of this oil-nich nation.

But some observers have raised a crucial question: Will the new government of Conservative leader Karre Willoch really be in a position to alter things significantly?

Norway's center-right voters clearly think that the time has come to put the country's economic house in order after years of what they see as mismanagement by Labor Party governments.

They are looking to the new gov-ernment, whether it is a coalition of non-Socialist parties or a Conservative minority Cabinet, to re-store a more optimistic climate and inspire a new taste for work. They believe a Willoch Cabinet should try to rid Norway of all constraining regulations, contain the bureaucracy, ease the tax burden and boost productivity.

But the same observers question the political feasibility of such a shake-up. There are strong indica-tions that the evolution in Norway may be determined by certain structural factors, whether the Socialists or the Conservatives are in

It is certain that the swing to the. right in the new Storting (parliament), elected for a four-year term, is the most significant in six decades. The non-Socialist majority can therefore be expected to pro-vide a basis for stable government. Even so, there are reasons to believe there will only be relatively minor adjustments to the main political and economic course pursued by Norway.

For one thing Premier Willoch will have to pay attention to the Center and Christian People's parties in everyday politics even though his Conservative Party alone has secured almost three

NORWAY

Population (1980).. 4,090,000 Area (sq. kms.)..... 386,300 GDP (billions of kroner)283.0

GDP per capita (Nkr)...... 69,200

Value added in manufacturing (1979) (billions of Nkr)

Total work force... 1,947,000 Employed in manufacturing384,000 Exchange rate. . $1 = 5.84Nkr

Conservative Party called for substantial tax cuts, reduction of public spending, liberalization of inter-est-rate policy and increased private sector participation in the de-velopment of offshore oil and natural gas resources.

Differing Views

The Center Party, still basically agrarian, and the Christian People's Party have differing views on all these issues, sometimes as a matter of principle. So any major change seems unlikely in the short run, even on the tax issue, despite the high expectations of the center-right. The small, extreme rightist Progress Party, which secured two seats in the new parliament, will keep up the pressure on this point. The new government can be expected to carry through changes of lesser importance, including the adoption of measures to ease pub-lic control of the banking sector, incentives for saving and a liberalization of transactions in the hous-

The main challenges to be faced by the Willoch government will come from elsewhere, in the fundamental problems confronting the Norwegian economy. They include low output and low productivity growth in industry, sharp growth in the public sector and continued high inflation.

Will a new government be able to give the economy the boost that many Norwegians are hoping for? Will it be able to slow public spending, make fiscal policy less expansive and less inflationary, and thus improve the competitiveness of Norwegian industry?

The problem is that in these fields the government is faced with the biggest constraints. The eco-

DENMARK: Hope Rising As Measures Begin to Bite

ficials appear in a more hope-ful mood. Belt-tightening measures during the last two years have be-gun to take effect and crude oil has started trickling from new wells in the Danish sector of the North

The Social Democratic minority government of Premier Anker Jorty balance of payments deficit — level in 1982, which may take years to eliminate Moreover. as the other two groupings.

— and Denmark's accumulated
Before the September polls, the foreign public and private debt re-- and Denmark's accumulated

-0.5

-1.6

THE NORDIC COUNTRIES

Gross Domestic Product

1980

4.9

3.8

Current Account

-1.3

-0.1

1.0

-0.2

Φ0

NOPENHAGEN - Danish of- cently reached the 100-billion-

Denmark is faced with zero growth at best this year, after a 1percent decline in gross domestic product in 1980. And unemploy-ment, boosted by stagnating indus-trial output, has risen from 180,000, 7 percent of the labor force, a year ago to close to 250,000, slightly more than 9 pergensen is still struggling with a hel- cent. It may well remain at that er, the 1982 budget sented to Parliament in August by Finance Minister Svend Jakobsen. shows a deficit of 40 billion kroner, one-quarter of the planned outlays of 164 billion kroner. The net borrowing requirement is set at 48 billion kroner.

Optimistic View

Figures of this order would no doubt send a shudder down the spine of some of Mr. Jakobsen's foreign counterparts. But Economics Minister Ivar Norgaard and his aides prefer to take an optimistic view. They consider that the anstcrity measures administered during the last two years have shown in the current-account deficit, in private consumption and in the competitive position of Danish exporters in foreign markets.

"I think we have started a trend," Mr. Norgaard said. He is confident that Denmark will have restored balance in its foreign pay-ments toward the end of the current decade, while at the same time braking the growth of its foreign

Nordic Investment Bank Expands at Steady Pace

By Jan Kristiansen

HELSINKI — The Nordic Investment Bank (NIB), jointly operated by Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden, has carved a niche for itself in North European finance and is steadily expanding its borrowing and lend-ing activities.

The five governments, which have cooperated through the Nor-dic Council throughout most of the postwar period, established the bank within this context in 1976 to promote investment and the ex-promote investment and the ex-pansion of trade in the region.

By last August, NIB had chan-neled nearly 580 million special drawing rights (SDRs, the paper currency issued by the Internation-al Monetary Fund), or about $650 million, into Nordic industrial projects and export financing. The NIB statutes stipulate that, to qualify for a loan, a project must involve cooperation between firms and/or institutions of at least two of the five member countries, or must be of significant benefit to at least one other Nordic country.

The overall lending figure, involving 110 loans, might seem fairly modest by international standards, but the sponsors and the NIB management have preferred to build up operations gradually and carefully in the initial phase.

The bank has proved its usefulness, according to senior officials in member capitals who note that it has helped pipe in funds from overseas markets at a time when most countries of the region are running payments deficits as a re-sult of high oil costs.

Industry, in particular those companies that have benefited from NIB's activities, has welcomed the bank as an additional source of medium- and long-term

Scandinavian bankers initially expressed some skepticism on the ground that it appeared to be a government creation with political overtones. But the bank operates on strict professional principles and is bound by its statutes to seek profit. Its cooperation with com-

DENMARK

Population (1980)..5,100,000 Area (sq. kms.)...... 43,100 GDP (billions of kroner)

GDP per capita (Dkr).....

Value added in manufacturing (1979) (billions of Dkr)

Employed in manufacturing374,000 Exchange rate.. $1 = 7.19Dkr

ual to nearly one-quarter of th Although Danish businessmen and bankers tend to agree that the government ought to try to reach its objective over a shorter period, they are quick to remind a foreign visitor that running a high current-account deficit and borrowing on a large scale were virtual necessities when Denmark began its conver-sion from a predominantly agricul-tural to an industrially based economy barely two decades ago. The situation was complicated by the 1973-1974 oil crisis and develop-ments in the energy sector since

Steering a nation through an in-ternational crisis is no easy task for any government. It is even more archous for a minority Cabinet like Mr. Jorgensen's. The 1979 ansterity package was put together after endless bargaining and nu-merous compromises between the Social Democrats and center-right parties. It involved cutbacks in public spending and tax increases to curb oil consumption, and was

(Continued on Page 9S)

SWEDEN: Trying to Agree on a Remedy

20

-0.3

-1.0

STOCKHOLM - "There's a near-consensus about the diagnosis — we all know that strong medicine is needed," a Swedish economist said. "But we cannot agree on the color of the pill."

Finland

The main symptoms of the so-called Swedish sickness are illustrated by the latest economic forecases of the Federation of Swedish Industries. It foresees a 1.1-percent decline in gross domestic product this year, a 3-percent drop in industrial output; a 6-percent fall in industrial investment and a 13-percent rise in consumer prices. This would be accompanied by a pay-ments deficit of about $5 billion and a further loss of market shares by Swedish exporters.

The federation's forecasts were just a shade more pessimistic than those released last June by the Paris-based Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development

Reducing the current-account deficit must be a prime objective for economic policy," OECD economists said in their annual report on the Swedish economy. "To this end, a shift of resources from the sheltered sector to the competing sector would be necessary. report added: "It may be asked whether absolute cuts in government expenditure will not be required" to improve the economic valance within a reasonable time, even at the cost of higher unemployment in the short run.

The innegative rate was 2 percent lest year but could rise to 27 percent lest year but could rise to the federative. This is low by West European standards but high in a country where nearly half a country of Social Democratic rule his turned full employment into a commentance of economic policy.

SWEDEN

Population (1980).. 8,318,000 Area (sq. kms.)..... 486,700 GDP (billions of kronor).....

GDP per capits (Skr)..... Value added in manufacturing (1979) (billions of Total work force ... 4,194,000 Employed in manufacturing

930,000 Exchange rate...$1 = 5.505kr

With general elections due next September, Sweden's economic predicament appeared to have set off a bit of early electoral cam-paigning last August, centering on problems accumulated since the first big rise in oil prices in 1973-

By mid-September, the minority two-party coalition headed by Premier Thorojorn Falldin, the Centrist leader, messpectedly an-nounced a 10-percent devaluation of the krona against the currencies of Sweden's 15 main trading partners. To neutralize the short-term negative effects of the devaluation, the government set a price freeze until the end of the year and apparently deferring to the OECD prescriptions -- announced cuts in spending totaling 6 billion kronor. In a concession to flagging industry, Mr. Falldin also knocked about 3.5 percentage points off the value-added tax, reducing it to 20

The premier said that the packph 2 become tufficing a small in sent next hear any teques imbours age acount posts and teques imbours industrial output that would help create an estimated 30,000 to 40,000 jobs. The spending cuts will mainly affect public sector industry. Describing the package as the starting point of an economic offensive, Mr. Falldin said that the measures could improve Sweden's competitiveness

Determination

It will no doubt take some time before the full effect of the package is felt, but it showed the govthe crisis. Outsiders have increasingly tended to criticize the politi-cal establishment for the failure to face up to the problems.

"We have had weak governments throughout most of the 1970s," an industrialist said, adding that general elections every three years may be too frequent. He admitted that he was worried about the possibility of the Social Democrats returning to power next year after a six-year absence.

Sweden is faced with two key problems, a top government offi-cial said. "Our economic efficiency is too low. There are too many obstacles to a flexible functioning of the economy -- in housing construction, in the labor and capital markets. They have to be eliminated," he said, adding, "The second major task is to reduce public controls and public spending." He noted that the combined expenditure of central and local govern-ment and the social security system now amounted to 67 percent of gross domestic product. And growth in the public sector is faster than overall economic growth. The government seeks to bring expan-sion in that sector down from 5 percent to 1 percent in real terms. The most important problem, perhaps, is the absurd tax system we've had in this country for many years," said Sten Westerberg, state secretary in the Economics Ministry. "Lowering the marginal in-come tax rate to 50 percent is an extremely important ingredient in efforts to restore a healthy Swedish economy." Other measures have been taken or are being planned to remove "bottlenecks" that lead to inflationary pressures, pushing up cost levels, Mr. Westerberg said.

Asked what effect high U.S. interest rates have had, he said that Sweden's problems had largely been created at home. "I don't think Sweden is in a position to moralize about other countries' policies. But our problems would clearly be eased with a different relationship between the Swedish krona and the Dentsche mark and U.S. dollar."

When the Falldin government

devalued the krona, the currency had since the beginning of the year appreciated by 10 percent against the mark and lost 15 percent of its value against the dollar. This meant that West German industry had obtained a competitive edge over Swedish exporters in key sectors of industry, while dollar-priced raw materials and oil had become much more expensive, said Lars Virin of the Federation of Swedish Industry.

The Swedish economy is an open one, with exports and imports both in excess of 25 percent of GDP - which explains the exchange rate adjustment announced last month. A long-term solution requires adjustment efforts, however. They must be rapid, "but not so rapid that we destroy the social consensus," Mr. Westerberg said. "It will be a belencing act."

-JAN KRISTIANSEN

The NIB has won international recognition as a highly credit-worthy borrower.

mercial banks is now smooth. Moreover, NIB has won international recognition as a highly cred-it-worthy borrower. It was awarded AAA ratings a year ago on the U.S. market both by Moody's and by Standard and Poor. "As a fund-raiser, we are enjoy-ing a special status in the region. We are its only international financial institution," said Petter Skouen, NIB vice president and treasurer. With the AAA rating this has helped the bank gain access to Japan's domestic capital

'Other Holders'

Because of NIB's status as an international body, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) last year designated it as one of the select group of "other holders" of SDRs, which are authorized to acquire and use the IMF's reserve asset at will in transactions and operations with IMF members and other holders. This group includes the World Bank, the Bank for Interna-tional Settlements and various re-

NIB rather than placing the amount otherwise, making NIB the first "other holder" to use SDRs in that way. Since its establishment, NIB has made extensive use of SDRs as a unit of account. NIB denominated its capital stock in SDRs because the bank was set up at a time of wide exchange rate swings. Between 1979 and early this year, it had floated three SDR-denominated bond issues on the Euromarket. The latest of these long-term fixed-interest is-sues was the first on the market since the SDR "basket" was reduced to the five main currencies. NIB has made more than half its

But only recognized institutional borrowers such as the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank and have been allowed into the Tokyo market. The loan of 20 billion yen signed by NIB on July 27 was for 15 years at 0.2 percentage point above Japan's long-term prime rate, which means an interest rate of 8.7 percent a year. The loan, which was NIB's largest single borrowing, was orga-nized by a Japanese bank syndicate with the Industrial Bank of Japan as lead-manager. "No other borrowers in the Nordic region could have achieved this, not even the governments," Mr. Skouen

The yen raised in Tokyo were earmarked mainly for four major loans in the energy sector, which has so far received roughly 40 percent of NIB's total lending of $650 million during the last five years. Lending to costly energy projects, requiring long-term financing at fixed interest, accounted for the lion's share of 22 loans for a total of about 140 million SDRs awarded by the bank during the first eight months of this year. In all of

(Continued on Page 9S)

But there are no outward signs of crisis in this Northern country.

which sits on the divide between

East and West. The Finns seem confident they will be able to steer their ship safely through the chop-py waters ahead. They certainly feel Finland is better-placed than its Scandinavian neighbors to cope with the effects of higher energy prices — the cost of imported oil more than doubled in the last two years - and the surge of the dollar, which European economists have likened to a third "oil shock."

Finland's current "growth reces-sion" and the renewed inflationary pressures since mid-1980 are considered by experts there as largely mported problems. To a great extent they reflect the fact that Finland's main exports, especially pulp, paper and other wood-indus-try products, remain sensitive to cyclical fluctuations on key export markets. There is usually a lag of up to a year before these fluctuations make their full impact known

This year's decline will be sharp. Funish growth topped the 24-nation Organization for Economic

in Finland

year and next

HELSINKI — After a startling-ly strong performance in 1979-1980, when Finland's gross domestic product grew faster even than Japan's, the Finnish economy is headed for a marked downturn Rising unemployment and continued double-digit inflation are key features of the short-term outlook, and Finland's foreign payments position could worsen this gional monetary institutions.

Last July, the Norwegian Central Bank transferred 20 million SDRs from its reserves as a loan to lending in SDRs.

Recognized Borrowers

NIB executives are especially pleased that Japanese authorities gave the bank direct access to their domestic market. Because of the high level of interest rates on the world market, foreign borrowers have been lining up for long-term yen loans at much more favorable

FINLAND: Downturn This Year

West East Germany

ه کوامن المول

SCANDINAVIA

OSLO(®)

/Sweden/

Poland

Finland

FINLAND Population (1980)..4,780,000 Area (sq. kms.)..... 337,000 GDP (billions of marks)

GDP per capita (Fmk) Value added in manufacturing industry (1979) (billions of Fmk) Total work force ... 2,315,000 Employed in manufacturing Exchange rate. $1 = 4.39Fmk

Cooperation and Development (OECD) for two consecutive years. Its gross domestic product (GDP) expanded by 7.2 percent in 1979 and by 4.9 percent last year. Forecasts indicate a slowdown in the growth rate this year to a modest 2 percent. It could be no higher next year, depending largely on what happens on the main Western markets, including Swe-den, West Germany and Britain. Overall OECD growth was 3.3 percent in 1979 and 1.3 percent percent and 2 percent have been forecast for 1981-1982. But Westem Europe's performance is likely to be weaker. The four-party coalition govern-ment of Social Democratic Premier Mauno Koivisto has taken a few cautious steps to counter the downturn and partly to sustain employment. The jobless rate was last year, and average rates of 1.25 down to 4.5 percent last year, well below the OECD average. But latest predictions point to a rate of slightly more than 5 percent this

USSR

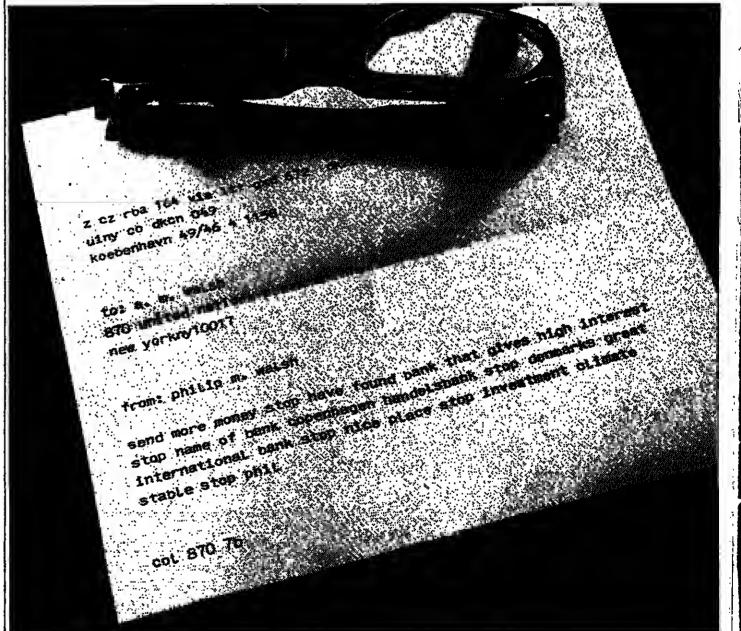

Nonetheless, Kari Nars, a Bank of Finland director, said, "The most important thing now is to fight inflation and keep it at a manageable level." Finland's consumer price index reached a peak increase of 13.7 percent last year but has leveled out since January. Prices are now rising at an annual rate of 11 percent, according to Mr. Nars. The Finance Ministry hopes to hold the increase at about 10 percent for 1981 as a whole. This would be higher than the expected OECD average, and two points more than Finland's rates in 1978-1979. Finance Ministry experts share the Bank of Finland's concern about cost levels. Inflationary expectations remain high, and the sharp rise in the dollar's value could cause renewed pressure on prices, they warned in their latest survey of economic trends,

The central policy question is how to sustain employment while dampening inflation, they said. The survey counseled self-control both by authorities and the private sector, to ensure that the recession will be mild and to prevent the index clause of a two-year general wage agreement reached last spring from setting off a new wage spiral.

The problem is to maintain the (Continued on Page 8S)

13% interest at call

This unprecedentedly high rate of interest is also an attraction of our new shareholder's account, and holders of a Dkr. 1,000 share registered by name-may deposit up to a maximum of Dkr. 25,000. Similarly, holders of a Dkr. 5,000 share may deposit up to Dkr. 50,000.

It's easy to become a shareholder. Contact your bank or your broker now. Our shares have been obtainable on the London Stock Exchange since 1973.

Another sound investment is the convertible account, which allows any non-resident to deposit up to Dkr. 200,000 at 13% at 12 months' notice.

Interest rates for other accounts as on 10th April 1981:

At call	5%%
At 3 months' notice	10%
At 6 months' notice	12%
At 12 months' notice	: 13%

COPENHAGEN HANDELSBANK A/S

Head Office: 2 Holmens Kanal, DK-1091 Copenhagen K., Denmark, Telephone: + 45 1 12 86 00, Telex: 12186

HELSING

LUXEMBOURG

SINGAPORE

It pays to do business with Finland's leading international bank.

That's Union Bank of Finland. Its dynamic international approach made it the first Finnish bank to open a whollyowned subsidiary abroad - Union Bank of Finland International S.A. in Luxembourg - and the first in South-East Asia -Union Bank of Finland (Singapore) Ltd. They enjoy the backing of the parent bank's extensive resources and offer you the same specialist know-how and fast

Union Bank of Finland is also represented through representative offices in Luxembourg for the Federal Republic of Germany and the Benelux countries, in Moscow, Sao Paulo and Tokyo and through affiliated banks in London, Geneva, New York, Bahrain and Hong Kong, ensuring expert access to the Finnish market wherever you are.

21

UNION BANK OF FINLAND

HEAD OFFICE Aleksanterinkatu 30, P.O.Box 868, 00101 HELSINKI 10, Telephone: +3580 1651

Telex: 124407 unit sf (general) 124525 unex sf (foreign exchange) 122161 unep sf (eurobonds).

UNION BANK OF FINLAND INTERNATIONAL S.A. 189, Avenue de la Faiencerie, 1511 LUXEMBOURG Telephone: 477611-1. Telex: 1575 ubfin lu (general) 1576 ubfex lu (foreign exchange).

UNION BANK OF FINLAND (SINGAPORE) LTD 3401 OCBC Centre, SINGAPORE 0104.
Telephone: 916533, Telex: rs 34253 util sin (general) rs 34254 ublsfx (foreign exchange).

Norwegian Banks Report Gains

OSLO — Norwegian bankers and a 15-month price freeze to and businessmen predict a check soaring inflation. Commercial banks are still feeling the effect of the Bank of Norway's tight money policies, although they have been eased slightly since spring.

They expect to the Bank of Norway's tight money policies, although they have been eased slightly since spring.

"Our biggest borrower is the Norwegian area," Mr. Peringgreen. They expect no panacea for the problems plagning the economy, despite the wealth generated by Norway's offshore oil and gas fields.

A variety of recent forecasts indicate that the consumer price in-flation rate could reach 13 percent to 14 percent this year, accompanied by near-stagnation of economic growth and a further loss of market shares for Norway's traditional industries.

Compared with neighboring countries and Norway's West Enropean partners, there are certainly some bright spots. The Norwegian Bankers Association expects a current-account surplus for the second consecutive year in excess of 8 billion kroner. The jobless rate — 1.7 percent early this year but rising — is minimal compared with the West European average.

"Norwegians are willing to pay a higher price than anyone else for full employment," said Trond R. Reinertsen, managing director of the Bankers Association, citing historical causes. This explains why the Labor Party government dug into the country's mounting oil revenues in a bid to bridge the recession that followed the first big oil price rises in 1973-1974. The reout pince lists in 1975-1974. The re-sult was a swelling in public spend-ing since 1975, partly through indi-rect subsidies to flagging compa-nies, municipalities and the housing construction sector via

"There were just no financial limits," Mr. Remertsen said. The spending spree was followed by re-strictive policies beginning in 1978

Norwegian state," Mr. Remensen said. Aside from a basic reserve requirement of 8 percent, commer-cial banks are required to hold 30 percent of their assets in government bonds; therefore 38 percent of the banks' funds are tied down. Other regulations cover lending and interest rates. There are countless restrictions on the use of the banks' assets," Mr. Reinertsen

The commercial banks three major banks, which hold about two-thirds of the commercial banks' assets, plus about 15 regional and local banks - nevertheless reported a slight improvement in profits during the first four months of the year. The average 1.05 percent, up from 0.75 percent in the final four months of 1980, but still far below the 1976-1978 average of 1.3 percent and the 1979 ratio of 1,45 percent.

Bankers and businessmen hope the new government will take steps toward the deregulation of the Norwegian economy. They stress the urgency of action to improve profitability in banking as in instry. The stagnation of industry has been brought about by the crowding-out effect of public sec-tor growth, said Egil Bakke, dire-tor of the Federation of Norwegian Industries.

Profitability

"We can't speed up mainland Norway again through credits alone," he said. "It is profitability that has to be improved. On the other hand, it is clear that there is no point in compensating the failure to hold down public spending. by reducing banks' lending. That's not rational." profit-to-assets ratio came out at

Foreign Banks Hopeful

On Approval by Finland

TELSINKI — Citibank, a leading U.S. bank, hopes to be the first foreign bank to receive the go-shead to set up a subsidiary in Helsinki, banking sources here say.

A major French bank and a number of other foreign banks have reportedly applied for government authorization to establish branches here, under terms of legislation adopted early in 1980. They had previously been allowed only to have representative of-Finnish banks have objected to the change. They argue that it would be unfair for subsidiaries of foreign banks to be allowed to compete for deposits without being bound by special obligations they themselves face such as financing housing loans, loans to students and underwriting state bond issues.

The Bank of Finland has not yet announced the ground rules for foreign bank operations under the legislation.

Banking and Finance in SCANDINAVIA

If government oil revenue were excluded, the budget this year would show a deficit of about 20 billion kroner, or 8 percent of gross domestic product (GDP), Mr. Bakke said. He maintains that public spending, consumption and transfers must be dampened. Transfers account for one-half of the government's budget, but "things could be simplified without affecting important social concerns," he said.

The government's revenues las year from the oil sector were 25 billion kroner on a total crude and gas output of 50 million meric. tons. Counting the income of in-dustrial supplies to the North Sea operations, Norway's oil earnings grossed 38 billion kroner, about 15 percent of GDP. The ratio could rise to 25 percent toward the end of the 1980s

This would imply a substantial increase in capital flows. Estimates indicate that the oil sector invest-ment will double from 10 billion hroner last year to about 20 billion by 1983-1984. These prospects are behind the permanent debate concerning the proper use of oil mon-

Sverre Walter Rostoft, deputy general manager of Christiania Bank and Kreditkasse, Norway's second-ranking bank, said that an increasing part of the oil money must be used for direct investment abroad by Norwegian companies. He said this would strengthen export opportunities of domestic in-dustry and help maintain employment at home

He said that 80 percent of Sweden's exports to Latin America go to subsidiaries of Swedish companies. Internationalization of Norwegian industry would be a significant means of channeling surplus funds abroad and revitaliz-ing the domestic economy.

Mr. Rostoft, like most of his col. leagues, is convinced that Norway will become a net capital exponer within a few years. He cites one projection indicating that the san plus available for export could reach $50 billion by the end of this decade. Banks must play the cen-tral part in channeling the surphis into overseas' markets rather than state institutions, Mr. Rostoft said

Lars Uno Thulin, executive vice president of Den Norske Credit-bank (DNC), said there has been a lack of understanding in Norway concerning trade in "invisibles" such as currency trading and other banking activities. This "is a growth sector worldwide where we in Norway are competitive. Banking form a foreign exchange earning industry in their own right," he

Top Traders

DNC, the largest Norwegian commercial bank, was the first Enropean bank to set up its own pa-troleum department, led by Ma. Thulin. "Forty percent of DNC income is generated internationally.

Bankers in Norway are pleased to note that, despite the relatively small size of the Norwegian banking system, two banks — DNC and Christiana Bank — are among the top 15 currency traders in the "Norwegian commercial bank-ers are very efficient," said a for-eign banker based in Oslo who describes the DNC foreign exchange dealings room as one of the best in the world. According to him, the Norwegian krone will surely get international market stature although Euro-krone issues have not yet exceeded 500 million kroner a

- JAN KRISTIANSEN

NORWAY: Shift to Conservatives Puts Focus on Economic Issues

(Continued from Page 7S)

mic forces seem to be moving ahead according to their own in-herent logic and without reacting much to political stimuli.

Norway has become an oil-producing country for better and for worse. Oil and gas account for nearly one-quarter of the state's on the other hand, will continue to tax and other revenue. The proportion is likely to rise more toward the end of the decade. The oil sector's output nearly matches that of the traditional industries of continental Norway.

and gas exports have reached the same level as sales of its liberal social benefits or lead to other industrial goods and ser-vices. By the year 2000, the oil sec-tor will probably account for half enument will be to pe of all wealth generated in Norway.

budget deficits and have to trim spending in vital areas, but Norway will have a surplus this year of about 10 billion to 15 billion

Other countries face serious external imbalances. Their only means of maintaining competitiveness is to reduce domestic comsumption and imports. Norway, this year in the area of 10 billion kroner. Over a period of time, the surpluses could grow to dozens of billions of kroner annually. Norway will therefore not be forced to follow a policy that could threaten

A major task for the new goverument will be to persuade the Norwegian people that cutbacks in In many respects Norway has public spending are inevitable, and had fantastic hick Other countries that the high standard of living are faced with heavy government may have to be lowered in spite of the strength of the country's exter-

Much will depend on the trade unions. Despite some foot-drag-ging, the labor movement has agreed in recent years, partly out of solidarity with the Social-Democratic government, to hold down domestic consumption in order to make up for competitiveness lost during the mid-1970s.

However, it is doubtful that LO, the powerful labor union con-federation, will show the same kind of loyalty toward a Conservative government, analysts say. The unions could easily demand a larger share of Norway's oil wealth, in the form of higher pay, after the moderation shown in recent years.

Practical Solution

If the new government implements any significant tax reduc-tions, as promised by the Conservatives during the electoral campaign, the overall impact could be an explosive increase in inflationary pressures, according to ana-

In a situation of sharply increasing wages and prices, it would not be easy to improve the competitive capacity of Norway's traditional industries. The only practical solu-tion would be to secure a substantial improvement of productivity - the output per worker.

In recent years, productivity growth in Norway has been among the weakest in the industrial world Since the first crude oil was pumped from the North Sea fields have not only experienced the sharpest increase in private con-sumption in their history, they have also implemented social re-forms that tend to reduce labor efficiency.

It would be hard to improve efficiency without touching on these social advantages. Any attempt to do so would certainly set off a po-litical storm and probably lead to defeat for the new government.

mentator of NRK, the Norwegian

FINLAND: A Downturn After a Period of Growth

(Continued from Page 7S)

competitiveness of Finland's export-oriented industry, said Kai Saramo, a senior official of the Finance Ministry's economic division. Any weakening of Finnish exporters' position in foreign markets, which has so far remained fairly good, could hit Finnish jobs.

The Koivisto government has had little leeway in working out its cautiously stimulative budget proposals for 1982, partly because of its commitments not to raise the tax burden in relation to GDP, and to avoid borrowing.

A sharp row among the coali-tion partners over details of the budget brought the government to the brink of collapse early in September. In a move many obervers saw as a deliberate attempt to get nd of Mr. Koivisto, who is popular enough to be considered a poten-tial successor to 81-year-old Presi-dent Urho Kekkonen, the Center Party called for a 0.6-percent in-crease in the sales tax. The party, which has a rightist orientation, claimed that any other measures would raise costs to enterprises.

Mr. Koivisto, on an open-ended leave from his post as central bank governor since he formed the coalition in May, 1979, rejected the proposal, as did the Communist ministers who had previously pressed for increased spending to support employment and housing construction.

A crisis was averted through a last-minute compromise, when President Kekkonen caught a bad cold and was ordered to take a month's sick leave. Mr. Korvisto was asked to take over as acting president, an ironic outcome to the latest round in what is known here as the "presidential game" — the jockeying for postions by would-be successors to the aging president.

Government Crisis

A government crisis could have had serious consequences for the "social consensus model" backed by the trade unions, said Pekka Korpinen, director of the Labor Institute for Economic Research. The mechanism could explode, leading to higher inflation in Finland than cisewhere, and undermine its external competitivity, which is still fairly good," Mr. Korpinen said.

The Institute believes the spring wage settlement will result in a 12percent rise in wage costs this year, but this could be down to 8.5 percent next year. The settlement is considered very moderate by government experts, given an antici-pated 2-percent annual improvement in productivity.

Mr. Korpinen also believes there is no real case for stepped-up structural adjustment efforts in Finnish industry after the four-year slimming period that preced-ed the boom conditions of the last

Investment, buoyant during the last two years, has eased off but should pick up at the end of the year as a result of an easing of the financial market, according to the Finance Ministry. Investors have been helped by the Bank of Fin-land's relatively low discount rate (9.25 percent), although the bank has kept a tight rein on liquidity to prevent overheating during the recent boom. In addition to the bank's tough credit squeeze and successive de-valuations of the Finnish mark, the harsh measures that entailed sharp temporary rise in unemployment included severe curbs on the growth of public spending, a refus-al to bail out ailing industries, and steps to reduce the tax burden from more than 40 percent to about 35 percent of GDP.

As a result, the government budget deficit has been reduced to roughly 2.5 percent of GDP thisyear (against 15 percent in Denmark) and the gross borrowing roquirement will remain unchanged from last year, in the range of 5: billion Finnish marks to 5.5 billion

Finnish marks.

But what is remarkable, Mr.
Nars said, is the reduction of Finland's overall net indebtedness from 21 percent of GDP in 1977 to 15 percent by the end of last year.

The oil import bill has risen sharply, but the impact has been mitigated through favorable trading arrangements with the Soviet Union that help Finland meet the major part of its crude import re-

Combined with better-than-an-ticipated trade figures in the first half of this year, this points to a fairly limited widening of the country's current-account deficit from last year's 5.2 billion Finnish

Against that background, the Bank of Finland has moved cantiously to ease its stringent mone-tary controls. Last April it lowered the interest on call money (it has been raised slightly since) and eased the cash reserve deposit obligation imposed on the deposit-taking banks. These deposits with the central bank reached a peak of nearly 3.5 billion Finnish marks last March, but were down to 2.3 billion by the end of June.

Finland's seven commercial banks have meanwhile reduced their total debt to the central bank from about 4.8 billion Finnish marks at the end of last year to 3.5 billion last July. "They consider the situation as more satisfactory." Mr. Nars said.

Soaring interest rates on the in-ternational market have deterred corporate borrowing abroad. Companies should have increased access to domestic funds toward the end of the year, according to analysts in Finland,

The top two commercial banks, Kansallis-Osake-Pankki and Unkansallis-Osake-Pankki and Union Bank of Finland, recorded balance sheets of 24 billion Finnish marks last year, respectively 27 and 20 percent higher than in 1979. Figures for the third-ranking commercial bank, Bank of Helsindian Descripantial bank, Bank of Part Off ki, and Postipankki, the Post Office Bank which is the third largest deposit-taking bank, were respectively 4.4 billion and 15.1 billion Finnish marks, for increases of 15 percent and 12 percent.

— JAN KRISTIANSEN

Société Générale a leading French bank and one of the world's largest full-service banks.

Société Générale is a full-service bank providing a comprehensive range of commercial and investment banking services.

Investment banking today calls for professional expertise, flexibility and, more and more often, important financial resources.

Société Générale is active on the Euro-bond market and was, in 1980 and the first three months of 1981, lead-manager of 12 issues and co-manager of 57 issues for a total of US $ 1,075 million and US $ 3,686 million respectively.

In order to expand its services in the secondary market of fixed-rate US S and £ securities, Société Générale has created a new company with Strauss Turnbull, known as Société Générale Strauss Turnbull Ltd. (S.G.S.T.). S.G.S.T. maintains an active market in all issues led by Société Générale and several hundred others.

In 1980 and the first three months of 1981, the issues lead-managed were the following:

Ente Nazionale Per l'Energia Elettrica, US $ 200,000,000 (1980-1987) Ente Nazionale Per l'Energia Elettrica, US $ 200,000,000 (1980-1987) United Mexican States, FF 150,000,000 (1980-1985) European Economic Community, US $ 70,000,000 (1980-1995) European Economic Community, US $ 26,000,000 (1980-1985) CIT-Alcatel, FF 150,000,000 (1980-1990 conv.) Renault, FF 300,000,000 (1980-1985) CII-Honeyweil Bull, FF 225,000,000 (1980-1985) La Redoute, FF 125,000,000 (1980-1985) Gaz de France, US $ 80,000,000 (1981-1986) ED.F., US $ 125,000,000 (1981-1988) S.N.C.F., US $ 75,000,000 (1981-1991) B.F.C.E., FF 500,000,00 (1981-1986)

® SOCIETE GENERALE

Head office: 29, boulevard Haussmann, 75009 Paris, tel. 298.20.00, telex SOGINT 642951

Professional Investors Have Their Own Broker Link To Scandinavia

As a professional investment manager you should be offering your clients the highest-yielding secur-

Jyske Bank operates in the whole of the Scandinavian securities market - which issues some of the most stable and highest-yielding securities in

> Danish Mortgage Bonds Scandinavian Blue Chips

In addition to Scandinavian securities we specialize in Eurobonds. Jyske Bank is Denmark's 6th largest bank, with total assets amounting to US$ 1.1 billion. Our 111 branches cover the whole of Denmark, and we have our own subsidiaries in the Cayman Islands and Zurich, Switzerland - ready to serve 20,000 customers from all round the world benefit from our services. This tells you a little about Jyske Bank's professionalism - from which you and your clients also can benefit.

Jyske Bank

Tel.: +45 1 21 22 22, Telex: 27479 Vesterbrogade 9, DK-1501 Copenhagen V.

Danish Bankers Take An International Tack

By Steffen Lenschau-Teglers to take costomers from other banks on a large scale is too costly. OPENHAGEN - More aggressive competition at home and the growing involvement of Danish companies in overseas markets are prompting Danish banks to put increased emphasis on the internationalization of their Top executives of Denmark's five leading banks say their stategy during the next few years will be to increase their capacity for offering corporate customers comprehensive international services - ranging from market information and advice to financing and capital management — and credit media-tion between Denmark and the international markets.

At the same time, the banks envisage much greater use of elec-tronic technology. By the end of this decade, they could emerge as "financial supermarkets" capable of providing private customers advice and assistance in all areas of household economics, from consumer financing to tax problems.

A leading banker said, "People won't be going to their banks so much in order to get money as to get advice." Denmark, too, is moving toward the cashless society.

The big five Danish banks -Kjobenhavns Handelsbank, Den Danske Bank, Privatbanken, An-delsbanken and Provinsbanken feel they have to follow, or in some cases precede, Danish firms in foreign markets to provide financing advice and other services, abroad and at home. Otherwise they risk losing customers to major foreign banks with branches already estab-lished in Copenhagen.

More important, they expect foreign operations to account for a growing part of their earnings. Competition is sharp on the domestic market, and the possibilities for increased profits are limited. lending, said Knud Sorensen, one Experience has shown that trying of the bank's executives. He feels

The banks believe their best opportunity for maintaining earnings growth is to make headway in the international market as intermediaries for credits to Danish corporate borrowers, the state, municipalities and public utilities. In-creased participation in organizing syndicated loans should bring good income over a period of time because of the volume involved.

Leading Danish bankers believe that banking, in a decade or more, will become a currency-earning in-

"The outlook for domestic growth is dim," said Han-delsbank's Henning Gade. The idea behind the growing emphasis on activities abroad is to follow the customers just like the big American banks have been doing for years," he said.

Foreign Loans

Through participation in Nordic consortium banks with subsidiar-ies in world financial centers — the course chosen by Handelsbank or by setting up their own subsidi-aries and branches abroad, Danish banks are in a position to provide foreign loans directly to their Dan-

For 10 years, lending by Danish banks was curtailed by a credit calling system applied to each bank. This accentuated the bank's go-between role for loans from foreign banks to Danish customers.
"It is bad having to lend other peo-ple's money when you have funds of your own," Mr. Gade said.

The caling system was suspended last November and replaced by liquidity control based on the sale of government paper and regulat-ed access to central bank credit.

Den Danske Bank already derives a substantial share of earnings from overseas operations that forms the basis of much of its

Scandinavia's 25 Largest Banks

Ranked by Total Assets at Year's End

				Change in income
Resk Vised 19 Seek officer .	Aspets	79-80	騆.	79- 8 0	Emp-
		• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
1 St. Berlin Speckelp	30 1754	+20,4	952.5	- 36.6	$ 752
2 2 Millione Southolm	22 128	+18,3	556,2	-214,4	3 010
3-3 St flimbaleterten Stockholm
4 4 Sperbentukoncernen Stockholm	54 177,0	+352	244,0	+ 52,0	691
5 5 Den Haratio Brazo Plante Oute	37 643,3	+12.3			278
Tax Appendicus fandada Regardense					E 210
7. 7 Der Deuts Berli. Kippelaren					2 043
3 Strontogenation Hebiteglors	32 424,1	+23,1	196,0	- 52.1	5.455
. S III Entertte Deuts Parket Helsingforn	2551,2	+26,1	740,2	+-31,9	7484
TO I Principality Kipschaum	24 827,5	+ 5.1	190,5	+ 27,3	3 280
77 18 Den Schrifte Creditions Outo	22 830,0	+30.3	200,8	- TIA	3 464
12 12 Geniuskan Götsberg	22 322	f f10,2	257,7	- 213	2 028
12 11 Ronger Communicated Only	Z) 576,	+ 3,7	2360	+147,6	50
54 43 Specialistic SOS Kapenhann	19 758,0	+34	188,5	- 74.4	3 762
15-12 Kreithann	17 944,4	+25,4	185.3	+ 46.1	3350
15 M. Printerplan And Street, 18 No. Printerplan Street, 1971 Street,	17 257,	+12.8	1207	+ 112	2 612
1770 Sugarday	15 235,1	+24,5	34,5	- 08	2 205
To the State of States	13 244,1	+14.2	20,3	58.0	3011
14 14 Salesberger Stranger	11 698.7	- + L	3.5	~ II J	2317
A CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF TH	111747	· +44	040	- 1	Z 305
A TOMOREM STATE STATE OF	9 342,	444	35,0	- 243	293
Control of the Contro	- 5 952.1	4.100	41,5	- 40.0	414
Control of the State of the Sta	170/		42	701	1 272
	CHAR	1200	112	Shid?	879
	-	1		St E Vector	of officer

the bank will place a larger emphasis, in the future, on exporting Danish banking expertise and re-patriating profits that would benefit the bank's growth and the Danish balance of payments.

Expansion Abroad

Privatbanken's Sten Rasborg nd, "Expansion abroad is seen as our ticket to continued growth and earnings through the 1980s."

Privatbanken has done many things to help small and medium size enterprises move into the ex-port business. It has set up an ex-port financing department that helped four companies arrange the financing of a 500-million-kroner order for prefabricated houses to El Asnan, the earthquake-stricken tential export market in the housing constructing sector, Mr. Ras-borg said.

Kjeld Knudsen of Andelsbanken sees good prospects opening up for Danish banks internationally. Aside from the growing financing needs of Danish business and industry, he cites the large publicworks projects being planned in Denmark's energy sector. "I believe we have to be increasingly in a position to organize financial packages," he said.

Eigil Hastrup, director of Pro-vinsbanken, said overseas expan-sion by the big Danish banks is a

Steffen Lenschau-Teglers is a staff writer for the Danish economic and financial monthly Maaneds Borsen,

DENMARK: Hope Is Rising as Measures Begin to Bite

(Continued from Page 7S) followed by a devaluation of the Danish krone.

Stimulating Output

In a second package in the spring of 1980, the value-added tax was raised, the 1979-1980 oil price rises were passed on to households through higher taxation, and companies were granted investment incentives and tax relief on profits. The purpose was to stimulate output and job creation.

As a result, real disposable in-come of households has dropped by 13 percent to 14 percent from the insid-1970s. There is hardlyby 13 percent to 14 percent from the mid-1970s. "There is hardly deficit of 15.3 billion. "This year's deficit practically matches the total interest payments on our forstriction of buying power," one of Mr. Norgaard's aides said.

These measures, combined with, the rise of the U.S. dollar, have helped improve Danish exporters' competitiveness by 15 percent during the last two years, officials say. They have regained market shares despite sluggish demand on major export markets.

Social Spending

At the same time, authorities see a clear downward trend in the cur-rent-account deficit. It remains large, at an estimated 13.5 billion kroner, but this amounts to 3.3 percent of GDP, more than one

The huge debt and the current-account deficit are clearly linked with the high level of social spending—social benefits of the Danish welfare state account for 36.8 per-cent of public expenditures this year—as well as the additional cost of generous compensation to the jobless through state-backed unemployment insurance. "The jobless should not have to shoulder the burden of the recession," La-bor Minister Svend Auken said.

Unlike Norway and Sweden, Denmark has avoided subsidizing uneconomic enterprises, which explains the nation's much higher jobless rate, a company economist said. At the same time, it has made Danish companies healthier.

In addition, the prospect of re-ducing Denmark's dependence on imported oil by the mid-1980s is a cause for intense satisfaction in povernment and industry.

Denmark spent 21 billion kroner, about 5 percent of its GDP, on energy imports last year. By 1984-1985, if all goes well, oil and gas from Damish offshore fields in the North See should fields in the North Sea should meet 40 percent of the country's requirements. This will mean welcome relief for the payments bal-

The Gorm field, about 700 kilometers west of Jutland, came on stream in the spring. With output from smaller wells, Danish production should total about 500,000 tons of crude this year. It should rise to 24 million tons next year, representing nearly one-lifth of the 1980 import level of 13.3 million

- JAN KRISTIANSEN

NIB Expanding At Steady Pace

(Continued from Page 7S) 1980, NIB granted 31 loan equivalent to 132 million SDRs. Of last year's lending, 66 percent was investment loans in member countries. Under this heading, only 16 percent went to the energy sector, whose share will rise substantially this year. About onefifth of the investment loans went to the engineering industry as a contribution to much-needed structural adjustment and improved efficiency.

Of last year's overall lending, 12 percent was earmarked for export credit, involving capital goods sup-plies to African countries and the delivery by a Finnish group of a ferro-chrome plant to be set up in Greece on a turnkey basis, with companies from other Nordic countries taking part as subcon-

THIS special report on banking and finance in Scandinavia was prepared by the International Herald Tribune's special supplements staff in cooperation with Agence France-Presse and its bureaus in Scandinavia. A report on Scandinavia's new wave of economic conservatism by IHT staff correspondent Axel Krause appeared on Page 1 of the Oct. 6 editions of the IHT.

The remaining 22 percent went to a regional lending scheme launched for a two-year trial peri-od last year with funds being channeled via regional development au-thorities to medium-size and small companies in the five countries.

The bank hopes to get the going that would focus on participation in project investment loans. The intention would be to help finance joint project exports by Nordic companies, involving technology, know-how and equipment.

ahead soon for a new type of lend- to developing nations and perhaps to state trading countries.

"We have made this bank function well," said NIB vice president Erik Rindal. "I think industry. bankers and politicians will sub-

CHRISTIANIA BANK LUXEMBOURG S.A.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE AND FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Providing Individual Eurobanking Services to Corporate Clients, Banks and Private Customers

MAILING ADDRESS: TELEPHONE: P.Cl.B. 544 (352) 471515 general business 2845 xiabk-lu general business TELEGRAM: (352) 41 426 foreign exchange 1286 xiafx-lu foreign exchange XIA BANK

Den norske Creditbank (Luxembourg) S. A.

Energy is an important asset for growth, why don't you grow with us for your Euro-financing, deposits and foreign exchange? We are a wholly owned subsidiary of the largest commercial bank of Norway, the country of oil and hydroelectric power. Our equity capital _ including the subordinated loan capital _amounts to Flux 1885 mill. (USD 59 mill.)

35, Bd. du Prince Henri Boîte postale 297 2012 Luxembourg Tel. Gen. 21101 Tel. Forex 26771 Telex Gen. 1776 dnc lu Telex Forex 3503 dnc lu

A wholly owned subsidiary of Christiania Bank OG Kreditkasse, Oslo, Norway

Can you identify Sweden's most international bank?

The bank is the leading commercial bank in Sweden, with foreign business, international issues and investment banking as its specialities. Internationally it ranks eleventh in terms of foreign exchange business (Euromoney 1981).

You will find it in Athens (for the Middle East), Luxembourg, Madrid, Mexico City, Moscow, New York, Oslo, Paris, São Paulo, Singapore and Tokyo. It is represented in London, Frankfurt, Geneva, Amsterdam by associated banks and in Sydney.

The bank handles about 50% of all payments between Sweden and other countries. It has 367 offices in Sweden - and a number of domestic subsidiaries - serving 70% of all companies listed on the Swedish Stock Exchange

There is only one Bank that fits this description:

OKOBANK

MEMBER OF UNICO BANKING GROUP

Andelsbanken als Danebank (Denmark) DG BANK Druische Genosenschaftsbank (Germany)

STRENGTH INTISTOCAL BANKING

WHEN VISITING FINLAND

WHEN DOING BUSINESS

MAKE USE OF OUR SERVICES

over Finisad

CALL ON US

WITH FINLAND -

vast network of about 1200 banking susters ("osnuspankki") with local banking knowhow all

Genossenschaftliche Zentralbank AG (Austria) OKOBANK Osuuspankkien Keskuspankki Oy (Finland) Rabobank Nederland (The Netberlands)

THE INTESTITERNATIONAL

Osmispankkien Keskuspankki Ov

Address: Arkadiankatu 23

SF-00100 HELSINKI 10

it international network of foreign correspondents

Tel.: Int. + 358 0 4041, Telex: 124714 okohe sf and Bank Europäischer Genossenschaftsbanken

Shareholder in London & Commental Bankers Ltd.

Skandinaviska Enskilda Banken

Stockholm tel: +4687635000, telex: 11000 essebhs, 19154 essebss. Göteborg tel +4631621000, telex: 21020 essebg s. Malmö tel: +4640206000, telex: 32850 essebm s. Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Walkington State of the Company of the

| 120 | 276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 1276 | 12

Floating Rate Notes

min kum

at him till

Mi Lille

Selected Over-the-Counter

| International Company | Inte

A winning combination.

The International Monetary Market gave the professionals short-term liquidity. Now we've added flexibility.

For years banks, government securities dealers, and managers of institutional funds have been using our T-bill* contract to offset interest rate risk tied to short-term cash market positions. The addition of a CD futures contract to the IMM's existing T-bill contract has created a futures market interrelationship that mirrors the cash market, thus allowing professionals to directly hedge cash market risk with a new degree of flexibility. This flexibility and interplay between markets has created, on the IMM, the most liquid CD contract. This assures the best prices and fastest order filling.

Professional traders always assess liquidity before deciding to enter a market. In short-term futures this is available only through the International Monetary Market. Not only is the IMM T-bill contract the only successful short-term contract in the world, trading over $20 billion a day, the new CD contract is becoming an industry standard.

Hedging CD's by using interest rate futures is just one of the many examples of the interlocking relationships that exist in today's domestic and international money markets. Arbitraging between the cash market and the futures market is another. Spreading between CD futures and T-bill futures is yet another. This unusual flexibility is precisely why the IMM has positioned its CD trading pit next to the T-bill pit. Only the International Monetary Market has the combination of experience, liquidity and now flexibility to allow traders to take advantage of the many interrelationships involving futures contracts.

For a copy of the IMM booklet "Inside CD Futures," please write to the International Monetary Market, 444 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60606. Or call one of the following IMM numbers:

Chicago 312-930-3048, New York 212-363-7000, London 01-920-0722.

*IMM futures contracts in CLS. government debt are not obligations of any department or agency of the CLS.

Seagram Agrees to Limit Holding of Du Pont

From Agency Dispatche

MONTREAL — Scagram said Tuesday it has signed a friendly long-term agreement with Du Pont to limit its holding in that company's voting stock. The agreement also gives each company representation on the other's board of directors.

Seagram said its holding in Du Pont will not exceed 25 percent, and Du Pont will have a right of first refusal to buy the shares if Seagram offers them for sale. Seagram acquired about 20 percent of Du Pont's stock in its battle with Du Pont and Mobil to gain control of Conoco.

Scagram, which is based here, said the 10-year agreement will be extended automatically for five years unless it gives notice by the end of the sixth year of its intention to terminate the agreement.

Lukens Complains of Dumping by Japan Steel From Agency Dispai

COATESVILLE, Pa. - Lukens Steel, the leading U.S. producer of stainless-steel-clad plate, filed a complaint with the Commerce Department Tuesday charging Japan Steel Works with selling clad plate on the U.S. market at less than production cost, in violation of U.S. trade laws.

Lukeus President W.R. Wilson said the company had evidence indicating that Japan Steel Works was selling clad plate at about 14 percent less than fair market value, for large petrochemical projects in Kentucky. Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Japan's exports of clad plate to the United States jumped to 1,265 short tons in the first six months of this year from less than 40 tons in 1979 and 1980, Mr. Wilson said. Lukens asked the Commerce Department to impose duties to bring Japan Steel Works' prices up to U.S.

Komatsu Predicts Record Income, Sales for '81

TOKYO -- Komatsu, a leading Japanese manufacturer of construction equipment, said Tuesday it expects to report record net income and sales for the business year ending Dec. 31, despite a fall in domestic sales.

A company spokesman said net income is expected to exceed last year's record of 27.77 billion yen ($121 million) with sales up from the 1980 record of 647.77 billion.

Komatsu reported consolidated net income of 14.83 billion yen and sales of 333.45 billion, both records, for the half-year ended June 30. These figures were up by 10.5 percent and 5.8 percent respectively from the year-earlier figures. Earnings per share were up to 19.87 yen from 18.48:

Guthrie Recommends Share Sale to Pernas

LONDON - Guifarie Corp.'s board has reluctantly decided to recommend that shareholders accept an offer from Permodalan Nasional Berhad, or Pernas, to buy all of Guthrie's common shares, it said Tues-

Pernas, Malaysia's national equity corporation, which secured a majority share in Guthrie last month, is badding £9.01 for the remaining shares. On Tuesday, Guthrie estimated net tangible assets attributable to ordinary shareholders as of Sept. 30 at £250 million, or about £8 per Guthrie, which has plantation holdings in Southeast Asia, forecast its 1981 pretax profit at not less than £28.5 million against £24.0 million last year, with almost all the increase deriving from non-plantation interests.

Pan Am Plans to Cut Fares To London by up to 59%

New York Timer Service NEW YORK -- Pan American World Airways, in an effort to at- sirliner on a trans-Atlantic flight. tract more oversess business, has announced fare ents of up to 59 percent on some of its London routes, including a ene-way untostricted fare between New York and London for $261.

The New York to London fare undercuts by $57 the unrestricted economy fare of Laker Airways.

Sources in Kuwait Report New Effort For OPEC Talks

BAHRAIN — OPEC oil ministers are trying to arrange an emergency mosting to agree on a new unified price. A decision on whether to hold the talks is possible next week, informed Kuwaiti oil sources said Tuesday.

OPEC ministers are scheduled to meet in Abu Dhabi on Dec. 10, but the sources said telephone consultations between the 13 ministers have recently been intensified in an attempt to arrange an earlier

The Guif sources said there was pressure to decide on the meeting quickly, because some ministers felt that to have talks too close to the Abu Dhabi discussions would

The analysts said Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, has made remarks recently indicating a willingness to raise Saudi prices to $34 a barrel, an offer he made at the special conference in Geneva in August.

Iraq Reportedly to Cut Crude Oil Price by $2

TORYO — Irig will lower the price of its crude oil by $2 to $34,93 a barrel retroactive to Oct. I. Kyodo news service reported Tuesday, It said Japanese oil com-panies received notices about the price reduction Tuesday from Iraq National Gil, which is state-owned. The Iraqi move, which followed reports last week that Kuwait and Oman had cut their oil prices, could trigger a chain reaction among other Gulf oil states and lead to a restructuring of OPEC pricing, according to oil industry sources quoted by Kyodo.

Laker's $318 fare had been the lowest available for a scheduled A spokesman for Trans World Airlines, which is also a major car-tier, in the North Adantic, said Monday that the company "will be competitive." He apparently meant that TWA would seek to nonneed by Pan Am. The fare cuts, due to go into dfect Nov. 1, are subject to the ap-proval of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the U.K. government. A spokesman for the board said it would probably give speedy ap-proval after Pan Am files, because the board has pushed for lower fares since deregulation went into effect three years ago. Approval by the U.K. govern-ment, the spokesman said, depended on the terms of the longstanding agreement between London and Washington.

The cuts by Pan Am could put pressure both on Laker and British Airways, which has had heavy financial losses. Both can be expect-ed to urge the British government to disallow the fare cuts.

quire no advance booking, advance purchase or minimum or MAXHIUUIII STAVS. The largest reduction is in the one-way fare between San Francis-

The new fares, Pan Am said, re-co and London, from $961 to $396, a reduction of 59 percent. New Chairman's Strategy

The carrier, which had a loss of $240 million in the first half of this year, also announced cuts in its first-class Clipper fare. The one-way fare between New York and London would fall to $526 from Michael Derchin, airline analyst for Oppenheimer & Co., said the cuts were typical of the approach of C. Edward Acker, the former chairman of Air Florida, who took over as chairman and chief executive of Pan Am in September. Mr. Derchin said Mr. Acker was bringing to Pan Am the strategy he used to build Air Florida. He added that at this point it was a lowrisk strategy since Pan Am was fly-ing with many empty seats. He added that the strategy might at-tract more passengers during a seasonal downturn for all internation-

"The bet is," Mr. Derchin added, "that it will generate more business than he will lose in terms of revenue from lower fares."

CURRENCY RATES

Interbank exchange rates for Oct. 6, 198), excluding bank service charges. 2 4 D.M. P.F. R.L.
24775 A46 118.53 44.725 8.5877
137.5126 44.57 14.725 6.68 2.1555 3.745 1.885

Feeta 5.675 2000a 1.0125 ECU 1.8875	16:200 2:200 24:27 84:20 6:2016 2:204	23.57 - A164 A1694 1,293.67	22(20) 14/6" 294.32" 76.855" 5,077" 2.859 44,597 2,5729	749 - 749 - 740
Punis. Currency 1 1825 Augustion 5. 1485 Augustion oblition 14854 Enterior 5. 14854 Enterior 5. 14854 Enterior 5. 1586 Punish trains 1586 Punish t	Por 1 U.S.S. 2-mily 0.3676 0.0736 15.775 0.0043	Carreller 115	S Button Singapore's E LEGY S. Advisor road E BUTTO S. Morane was SATAL Secular seate SATAL Secular forms AND Telescop EAST Telescop SATAL STATES SA	2112 2112 6345 4823 4823 532 532 329 2493 1473

BUSINESS NEWS BRIEFS Sadat's Death Sends Markets Into Turmoil

NEW YORK -- World financial markets slipped into turmoil Tuesday in reaction to the news that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat had been shot and then had later died. Both the dollar and gold rose sharply in value immediately following first reports of the shooting but then fell back.

At the opening of foreign exchange markets in New York, the dollar spurted on first reports Mr. Sadat had been wounded in an assassination attempt, dealers said. Then, with reports that Mr. Sadat was dead, the dollar rose again before falling off, dealers said.

The dollar climbed to a high of 2,2655 Deutsche marks, but by midday it had slipped to 2,2405 DM. Monday the dollar closed at

"The markets took it [the attack on Sadat] quite calmly," said Edward Yardeni, chief economist at the investment firm of E.F. Hut-

The price of gold in New York jumped to $455.50 an ounce from London's afternoon fix of $443 after Mr. Sadat's death was confirmed in Cairo, dealers said. London gold closed at $449.50, down from the day's high of $456.60, but $5 up on the price before news of the in Zurich, gold surged by about $20 an ounce at one point in hectic afternoon trading, reaching $458. Later, Zurich gold quotes

U.S., Japan

Warned on

Gap in Trade

TOKYO — Japan has been told it faces a renewal of trade friction with the United States unless it makes efforts to open its markets to U.S. products, government offi-

They said the warning was issued in a report by the so-called Japan-U.S. Wisemen's Council, shortly after a private Japanese research institute predicted the bilat-eral trade imbalance this year would soar to a record $13 billion

The council, a semi-official advisory group, said in the reports to President Reagan and Japanese Premier Zenko Suzuki that trade friction would be revived unless

Japan made quick efforts to open its markets and the U.S. redoubled export promotion, officials added.

Established last year by both governments to help prevent a resurgence of trade friction, the council said without giving figures that the bilateral trade balance this year had already reached a record level and was expected to expand.

The council also expressed concern over the possibility of a trade friction of a new and more complex type in view of the slow prog-

Japanese agriculture continued to be protected heavily, it added.

compiled by the council was re-leased only five days after the Japanese government adopted a broad and largely unspecific program to boost imports in an effort to avert trade friction with the United Meanwhile, Japan's private

Yamaichi Research Institute of Securities and Economics also warned of fresh trade friction between Japan and the United States and Western Europe following a big rise in Japan's current-account

· The institute predicted that the surplus would reach $8.9 billion in in fiscal 1977.

States and Western Europe.

The second and final report ricultural products.

cials said Tuesday.

in Japan's favor.

standardized at $453.50, where dealers said the market closed

In Europe, the dollar began the day declining in continuing reaction to the weekend revaluation of the mark within the European Monetary System and lower U.S. interest rates. But it quickly reversed its slide after news of the shooting reached markets.

On London's foreign exchange market, the dollar closed sharply higher against most cur-rencies smid a scramble for dollars inspired by concern about possible new tension in the Mideast, dealers said.

The dollar rose over 2.27 DM shortly after confirmation of Mr. Sadat's death. But it eased later to close at 2.2540 DM compared with Monday's closing 2.2265. The pound dropped to $1.8490 from Monday's $1.8542.

In Frankfurt, the dollar rose in hectic late trading to around 2.28 DM after Mr. Sadat's death was officially announced as operators tried to cover short positions established early in the day, dealers said. Spreads were widened to at least one pfennig from the normal eight to ten points.

Much of the trading on West German financial markets was halted following news of the assassination, dealers said.

Many short dollar positions had already ed out during the hours of uncertainty following initital news of the attack on Mr. Sadat, when the dollar had traded around 2.25 DM, three plennigs up on Tuesday's first

The dollar began the day at around 2.22 DM and quickly established an easier tone, largely on the back of softer Eurodollar deposit rates, dealers said.

During this period many operators are believed to have established short dollar positions against the mark and other Continental currencies, later prompting what one dealer described as "a mad scramble for dollars."

The Bundesbank did not intervene at the 2.2470 DM fixing, during the period when it was believed Mr. Sadat had been only wounded, but was thought to have sold dollars on official news of his death at around the 2.2850

In Paris, the dollar closed sharply higher in thin trading at 5.65-.67 francs after touching 5.72 briefly just after the news, compared with the fixing of 5.6175. Prices on U.S. commodity futures markets were mixed. Precious metals futures moved sharply higher then slipped somewhat. Cocoa and sugar futures markets in New York eased stightly after early rallies.

Commodity markets in London reacted nervously to the news with metals ending near their day's highs, dealers said. Most non-fer-rous metals on the London metal exchange moved higher with gold in active trading, but also fluctuated in line with currency movements on a confused foreign exchange market.

Arabs Protest IMF Clash With Holy Feast

By Hobart Rowen

Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON — Sandi Arabia and other nations are threaten-ing to boycott next year's joint an-nual meeting of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund in Toronto because the scheduled dates conflict with the Moslem festival of Id al-Adha.

This holiday, one of the two most important in the Islamie religion, is a feast marking the end of the annual pilgrimage to Mecca. One official said it is of the same relative order of importance as Christmas is for Christians.

A group of Arab nations peti-tioned the IMF and World Bank at last week's sessions in Washington to change the dates for the meeting next year - Sept. 28 through Oct. 1 - to avoid the conflict. The matter was referred to the executive directors of both agencies "on an urgent basis." But Canadian officials, to whom the Arab group has appealed sepa-ficult to get hotel space for the meetings at any other time. This year, 10,500 officials and guests high holy days.

registered for the meetings here. No Conflict With Ramadan

In 1975, at the request of the Arab nations, the annual meeting was advanced to the end of August from the end of September to avoid a conflict with the holy month of Ramadan.

At the latest annual meeting, the first two days of the four-day ses-sion coincided with Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish new year, Israeli officials last summer had expressed their regret over the sched-ule for the 1981 meeting, but World Bank-IMF officials, who said they had received no other complaints, told the Israelis they had not been aware of the potential conflict, and there was not enough time to shift the dates. The Israeh central bank has sent World Bank-IMF officials a 10-year calendar showing the dates of Rosh Hashanah and the other Jewish Conflicts with Jewish high holy days have been frequent in recent years. The Jewish new year also coincided with the annual meetings in 1973 in Nairobi and in 1979 in Belgrade, and Yom Kip-pur, the Jewish day of atonement. coincided with the annual meeting in 1976 in Manila.

India Loan Talks Completed NEW DELHI (Reuters) -- No gotiations for a $5.7-billion IMF loan were completed to the satisfaction of the Indian government and the IMF management, an In-dian spokesman said Monday. Some U.S. officials had expressed reservations about the loan -the largest of its type ever granted by the IMF -- saying India was not poor enough and the conditions attached not rigid enough for

Harvester Refuses Disclosures to Bankers

CHICAGO - International Harvester, in an unusual development that illustrates the difficult problems facing the company as it attempts to avoid financial collapse, has refused to tell its bankers where it has put $505 million.

ress of bilateral negotiations on Meanwhile, Harvester's new debt restructuring package is running into some of the same prob-Headed by Japan's former minlems that torpedoed an earlier ister for external economic affairs. plan. As a result, the company is Nobuliko Ushiba, and former likely to encounter significant de-lays in completing the plan and might even fall to achieve the refi-U.S. ambassador to Japan, Robert Ingersoil, the council said while Japanese markets had been opened for some manufactured goods, non-tariff barriers remained. nancing, one banker said.

Harvester outlined its new rescue package last week in a daylong presentation here to representatives of its more than 200 banks and long-term lenders, who must all approve the plan. The meeting was held behind closed doors under tight security. According to one banker present, Harvester officials were asked where the company had deposited $505 million in cash received from the July 31 sale of its solar turbines division to Caterpillar Tractor, but they would not say.

Hisrvester's refusal to provide the information "shows they've already retained bankruptcy coun-sel, who are advising them what to do in case they have to file for pro-tection" under the bankruptcy code, asserted the banker, who did not want to be identified.

the fiscal year ending next March, and climb to a record $14.2 billion A Harvester spokesman con-firmed that officials would not in fiscal 1982. This compares with specify where the money has been the previous high of $13.99 billion deposited, but he said the refusal stemmed from concern that "some banks might think it should have gone to them." Meanwhile, bankers say Harvester's new debt res-tructuring plan is raising objec-tions from some lenders. The company abandoned a previous plan early last month, after months of negotiations, when it became clear that its operating losses for the year ending Oct. 31 could exceed $500 million, partly due to high interest rates.

As reported, the new plan calls for lenders to convert Harvester's short-term debt into a $1.5-billion term loan and to convert its credit subsidiary's short-term debt into a $1.9-billion term loan. Both loans would be repayable Dec. 15, 1983, although Harvester has conceded that it could not repay them by then and would expect to renegotiate the loans in 1983.

The new proposals include several significant changes from the earlier plan, notably that loans to the parent company would be se-cured against its fixed assets, including Harvester's major U.S. plants, instead of being unsecured. In addition, the parent company would not have to pay more than 16-percent interest in cash, and the credit unit would not have to pay more than 11 percent in cash, with any excess interest charges being paid in the form of notes and warrants to buy Harvester common shares. The company also would suspend preferred dividend pay-ments for the life of the two-year

Some bankers are already picking holes in the plan and the projections that serve as its foundation. "People just don't accept the numbers" provided by Harvester to prove it can remain viable one banker said. Harvester's projections have been "ludicrous all VCar." never come close" to matching ac-

In its latest projections, Harvester sees a return to operational profits by Oct. 31, 1983, and "tromendous improvements" in its costs of achieving sales, one of the main factors in determining a com-pany's profitability, one lender said. In the nine months ended July 31, the company sold $5.26 billion of products, but its costs and expenses totaled $5.79 billion including $4.74 billion representing the cost of sales. With Harvester operating at what one lender called an efficiency rate of about 50 percent, "it's very hard to see how their performance can improve that much," he added.

On top of the specific objections, lenders say it will be difficult to obtain agreement among Harvester's more than 200 lenders, simply because of the divergent interests involved. "It's hard to get 200 people to agree on anything," said one banker, who noted that Harvester's foreign lenders do not always share the views of its U.S. lenders, while some of Harvester's smaller regional lenders feel they are being railroaded into an agree ment by the big banks.

U.S. Oil Stocks Rally As NYSE Prices Slip

NEW YORK - Stock prices, which seesawed early in the day following the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat turned lower Tuesday afternoon as domestic-oil issues staged a rally.

Trading was subdued.
The Dow Jones industrial average, which had climbed more than 3 points and dropped nearly five in the first hour, closed off 3.61 at 856.26. It shed 0.86 Monday.

The NYSE turnover amounted to about 45.4 million shares, down from the 51.29 million traded Monday.

Declines edged advances 792-659 among the 1,850 issues traded. Prices were higher in moderate trading of American Stock Ex-

Investor Uncertainty

Analysts said the slower trading pace indicated investors, like the rest of the world, were uncertain about the ramifications of Mr. Sadat's death.

Brokers said orders dried op quickly after word of Mr. Sadar's shooting circulated the investment community, which had been en-couraged recently by a decline in Many speculators and profes-sional traders tried to capitalize on the uncertain conditions in that part of the world by purchasing domestic oil stocks that do not have large Middle East holdings.

Oil prices may rise soon. Investors also were encouraged as interest rates continued to decline gradually. Many were hopeful the Federal Reserve's Open Market Committee would decide to ease credit a bit at its Tuesday

Sługgishness Expected

Most analysts, noting the Dow industrial average had climbed 36.72 points in the five sessions last week, said they had expected some sloggishness because of profit taking that became a factor late

On the NYSE trading floor, domestic oils performed well. Atlantie Richfield climbed 21/4 to 46. Ashland rose 1½ 31½. Getty put on 2½ to 61½. Superior Oil was higher after a block of 100,000 shares at 34. Ohio Standard was strong following a block of 133,000 shares at 43. Union Oil of California, Marathon, Cities Service, and Phillips Petroleum were in the winning column most of the day. However, Indiana Standard was lower with a block of 100,000 shares at 54. The company has considerable interest in Egyptian oil exploration and production. Castle & Cooke grabbed attention in trading that included a block of 949,900 shares at 9½.

Santa Fe International sharply higher. Kuwait has agreed to buy Santa Fe for $2.5 billion, or

ADVERTISEMENT

SONY CORPORATION

The undersigned announces that the Third Quarter Report 1981 of Sony Corporation will be available in Amsterdam at Piemon, Heldring & Piemon N.V., Algemene Bank Nederland N.V., terdam-Rotterdam Bank N.V. Bank Mices & Hope NV.

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V. Amsterdam, September 28, 1981 to make bank credit arrangements to solve its problems, was lower. The company Monday refused to tell its lenders where it has put

On the Amex, Dome Petroleum, Gulf Oil of Canada and Houston Oil Trust were active.

$505 million from the sale of a

In corporate news, Gulf and Western Industries said in a filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission that it now owns 1,651,900 shares, or 9.5 percent of the common stock of B.F. Good-

Unfair Trade Alleged on Santa Fe Bid

WASHINGTON - Benjamin Rosenthal, chairman of a House government operations subcom-mittee, said Tuesday he has received reports of "extensive insider" purchases of Santa Fe International securities. The company is the target of a $2.5-billion take-over by the government of Kuwait. In a letter to the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Democrat urged a halt to trading in the company's stock pending further investigation.

Trading was halted on the New York Stock Exchange, where the shares up $19.125 to $43.125. Rep. Rosenthal also wrote to Treasury Secretary Donald Regan urging an investigation of the investment and its effects on U.S. national interest and said that he would hold a hearing into the matter by his commerce, consumer and monetary affairs subcommit-

In his letter to SEC Chairman John Shad, Rep. Rosenthal said, "I have received reports of extensive insider purchases of call options in recent weeks for the purchase of Santa Fe International Corp." He said that he received information that the call orders came from the Kuwait office of a leading broker and from Swiss brokers "whose unnamed clients stand to make millions on such transac-After news reports of the

Kuwait deal appeared in newspapers Tuesday morning sources close to Rep. Rosenthal said brokers associated with the Pacific Stock Exchange told him about the

WEEKLY NOTIFICATION COMPTREND II A MANAGED COMMODITY ACCOUNT.

Equity on January 1, 1981: $100,000.00 Equity on October 1, 1981: $278,455.46

after all charges For information call or write Royall Frazier, or lan Somerville, TAPMAN: Trend Analysis and Portfolio Manage-ment, Inc., Wall Street Plaza, New York, New York, 10005, (212) 269-1041, TAPMAN is a wholly owned subsidiary of Balfour, Maclaine International LTD.

Miners, Processors, & Shippers of E.P.A. Compliance and Other Low Sulphur Steam and Stoker Coals

Presently Shipping 1 Million Tons With A Capacity to Ship 21/2 Million Tons

River Processing has the capacity and reserves to ship coal 365 days a year

RIVER PROCESSING, INC. Enquiries Invited

Main Office P.O. Box 1055 Hazard, Kentucky 41701 Phone: 606-439-2382 Teles: 218-417

Southern Distribution Sales Office Diversified Fuels, Inc. Suite 504 1900 Winston Road Knowiffe. Tennessee 37919 Prione: 615-690-8967 M. Bowling, Sales & Marketing Randy Edgemon. President

All of these Securities have been offered outside the United States.

U.S. $50,000,000 CPC Finance N.V.

New Issue / September, 1981

16%% Guaranteed Notes Due September 15, 1986

Unconditionally Guaranteed as to Payment of Principal, Premium, if any, and Interest by CPC International Inc.

Salomon Brothers International

Algemene Bank Nederland N.V. Banque Nationale de Paris

Dresdner Bank Aktiengesellschaft

Banque Bruxelles Lambert S.A. Credit Sulsse First Boston Limited Morgan Grenfell & Co. Limited

Morgan Guaranty Ltd

2011年 明显的现在分词 1920年,192 125 92.20 9 15 1.40 9 15 1.70 9 15 1 2214 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
22 Aerokro
23 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
22 Aerokro
23 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
22 Aerokro
23 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
22 Aerokro
23 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
20 Aerokro
21 Aerokro
22 Aerokro
23 Aerokro
24 Aerokro
25 Aerokro
26 Aerokro
27 Aerokro
28 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
29 Aerokro
20 Aerokr 776 Husky
Ski LCA
Ski LCA
18 L 15 + 16 24.76 - 16 14.76 - 16 14.76 - 16 14.76 - 16 21.76 - 16 21.76 - 16 21.76 - 16 12.76 - 16 217446664 1172 7 5774 57964 1566 76567 166767666 16676766 1667676 1667 476 + 16 510 - 14 512 - 14 55 - 14 15 14 16 16 14 16 16 16 16 17 16 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 16 18 1 13.55% + 1 15.55% + 521 2446+ 15-15-15-10-45+ 15-10-45+ 15-2815-75-10-5-1 194 1044 714 2814 774 1774 1775 144 1376 1376 1376 ,30 1,20 ,430 1,18 ,38r ,52 10% 14% c 45 11 14% 13% 28% 24% 24% 27% 14% 1-16 1676- % 1976- %
570- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- %
1776- % 1696 1954 1254 1254 1254 1554 1554 of 1.80 2474 944 28 174 9 914 134 305 A 40 B 24 126 A 126 .58r .60a .15e 778+ 16 1474- 46 1474- 46 5 2674+ 16 460+ 16 1070+ 16 1276- 16 1,70 291 40a ,15 24 223 11.40 45 .701 .560 .92 1,65 1.5 2.0 5 Felmon Fingen Fingen Fitcon File LSh Fister Fiscor Fitcog Fingen Fignen 874 414 876 43 97₂ 254 414 18 874 4 775 4 44 84 94 20 674 1874 12% 21% ,12e 22th Gorlloi 12 Gelms 5 th Gemco 11 Gobbs 4th Gorlose 14 Genlsc 15 George 10 George 11 Th George 11 Th George 11 George 11 George 12 George 13 George 13 George 13 George 14 George 11 George 12 George 12 George 13 George 11 George 11 George 12 George 13 George 11 George 12 George 13 George 14 George 14 George 15 George 17 Geo

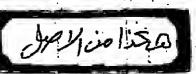

7,70c ;48

4,2 20 10 5 41 10, 9 24 22 85 9,5 10 1 18 4 .9 15 555 82 8 1 716 276 164 1176 434 104 2176 510-1 1510-1 1510-1 171 _52 n _346 7.158 .22t .60t .12e .52 734 175 504 537 5 .60 .40 .40 .40b 2 17/2 17/2 4% 21% 37/6 17/4 Soles floures are unofficial

- New yearly low, u—New Yearly high, Unless otherwise noted, rates of dividends in oble are around disbursements based on the lo o—Aiso extra or extros, b—Ansuoli rate pius stock dividend.
c—Liquidoting dividend. e—Declared or polit in precedins 12 months. i—Declared or polid offer stock dividend or sulfitus. i—Polid this year, dividend on mitted, deferred or no action laten pr last dividend meetins. k—Detathed or poli fais year, an occumolative leave with dividends in arrows, n—New issue. r—Declared or pold in preceding 12 months plus stock; dividend. i—Polid in stock in preceding 12 months, estimated costs white on ex-dividend or ex-distribution date. Yearly highs and lows reflect the previous 32 weeks plus in current week, but not the inject regilor day.

Where a solit or stock dividend amounting to 38 per cent a more has been pold the year's high-low range and dividend ar stock only.

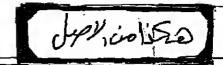

FOR READERS WHOSE LIVES ARE BIGGER THAN NATIONAL BOUNDARIES.

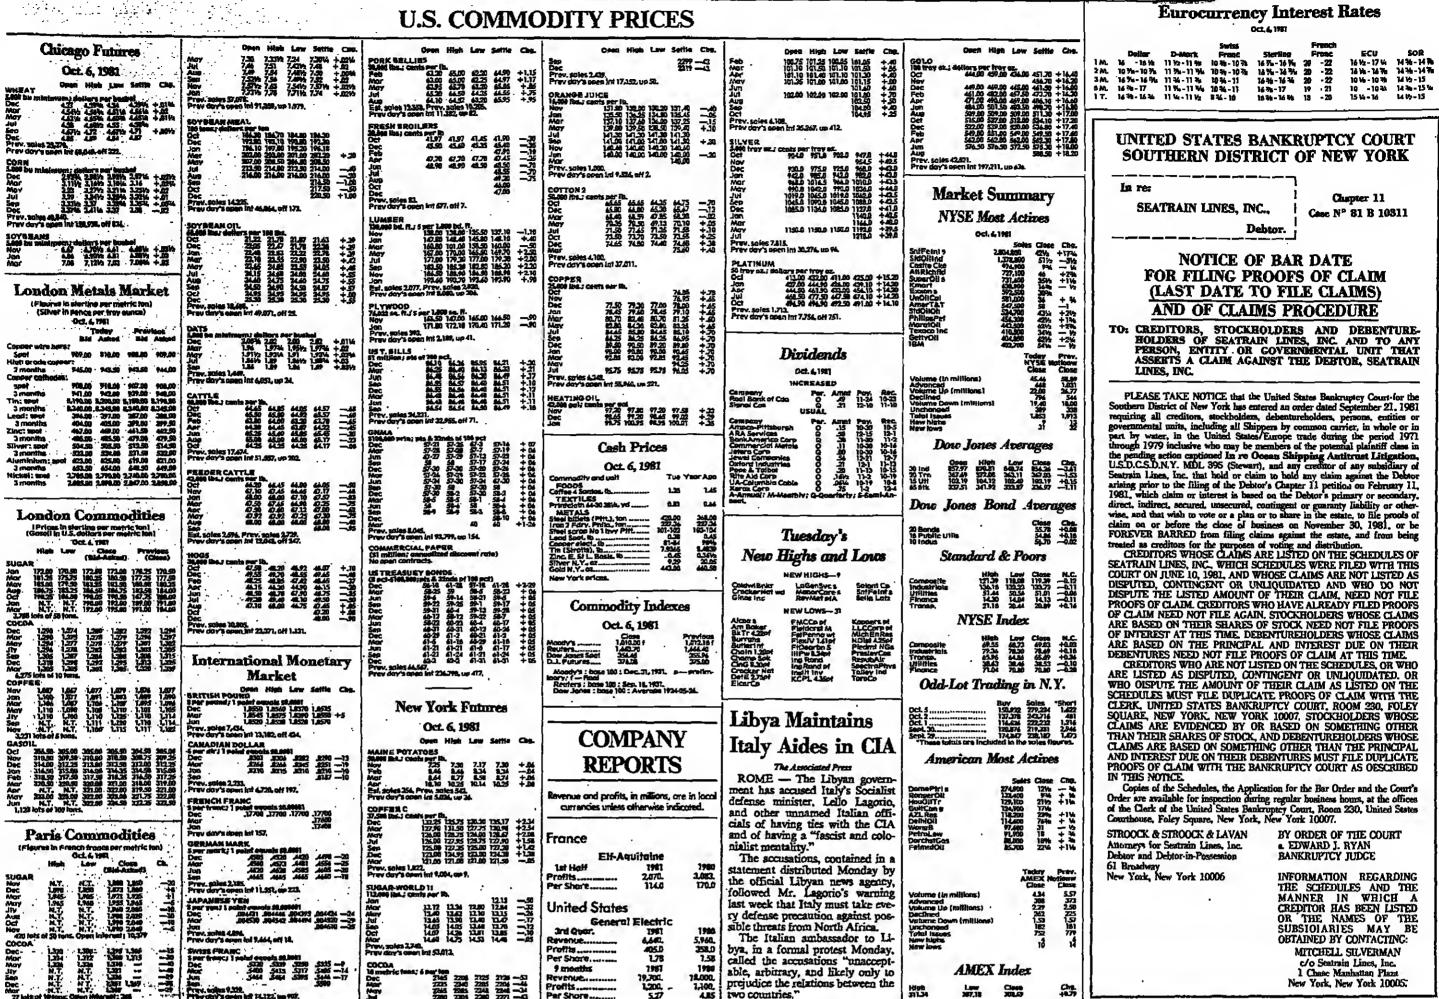

International Herald Tribune We've got news for you.

والمنطقة المستان والمنطقة والم

Only the Geobankers have instant voice communication linking 7 foreign exchange cities-simultaneously.

Speed is absolutely vital in getting you the most favorable rate available when you buy or sell foreign currency. That's why the Geobankers of Manufacturers Hanover have developed a unique communications system that outspeeds both the telephone and telex.

The system allows a seven-way conversation between New York, London, Paris, Frankfurt, Zurich, Brussels and Milan.

Now our foreign exchange trading professionals in all seven cities can tell each other instantly, at any given moment, the local asking and offering prices in any major currency. Not only that, but they can also flash up-to-the-minute news of local developments affecting their own currency.

We save time. You save money.

Good news always travels fast.

By passing your trading interest to all seven cities simultaneously, we are often able to get you a rate that's better in one place than the others—particularly on trades with broken maturity dates. When Frankfurt quotes a rate on marks, for instance, London may call out a better price—and New York may jump in with a better one still.

Also helping to bring about the best transaction possible is the fact that each member of our trading staff specializes in one currency while trading in all.

No numbers to dial, no keyboards to punch.

The Manufacturers Hanover voice network is a direct line, constantly open, linking seven major foreign exchange markets. To hold an inter-country conference call, our traders simply speak into a voice-activated, desktop microphone—relaying spot and forward quotes and fast-breaking news affecting the market.

Instant, transatlantic voice communications also benefit subscribers to the Manufacturers Hanover Foreign Exchange Advisory Service. Because we are able to pass along timely, valuable insights into constantly changing market activity.

A global trading room to make every second count.

No other foreign exchange bank has anything like the Manufacturers Hanover voice network. It's another example of what makes us a leading factor in currency transactions. In fact, our average daily trading volume has tripled in just two years.

It's another example of Geobanking as well—the way of worldwide banking at Manufacturers Hanover, a major U.S. bank with over $50 billion in assets.

Put the total global commitment of Manufacturers Hanover to work for you. Contact a Geobanker today, and let us demonstrate our professionalism in foreign exchange.

The Geobanking traders in conference, clockwise from the top, are: D. van der Fraenen in Brussels; F. Wirtz in Frankfurt; R.A.W. Dukes in London; N. Buratti in Milan; J.P. de Laet in Paris; and N. Röhren in Zurich. Center: A. Agostini in New York over, Lisbon, London, Luxembourg, Madrid, Manchester, Milan, Munich, Oslo, Paris, Rome, Zurich, Worldwide: Amman, Bahrain, Bangkok, Beirut, Bogota, Bombay, Buenos Aires, Cairo, Caracas, Chicago, Hong Kong, Houston, Jakarta, Kusis Lumpur, Lima, Los Angeles, Manila, Mexico City, Miami, Nairobi, Rio de Janeiro, San Francisco, Santiago, Sao Paulo, Seoul, Singapore, Sydney, Taipei, Tokyo, Toronto.

MANUFACTURERS HANOVER

The banking source. Worldwide.
Headquarters: 350 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y.

"To Be Opened

ACROSS Huron, 5 Kind of devil

13 Drive 14 Atlas abbr. ide at sea 16 Bryant or Gillette 17 Simple's

22 Willys-Knight, e.g. 23 Foulard 24 Belligerence 33 Beed 35 Part of a baby's routine
36 Spun, as a web
37 City on the Rhine
39 Sound

R Hebrew hymn 41 Certain 42 Kind of jacket 43 Extrication 48 Resinous ubstance

49 Alliance

ALGIERS

AMSTERDAM

ANKARA ATHEMS AUCKLAND BANGKOK BEIRUT BELGRADE

BOSTON

BUDAPEST

CACRO CASABLANÇA

CHICAGO

EDIN BURGH FLORENCE

GENEVA NELSINKI HONG KONG

WEATHER

fiber for rope 62 Japanese beverage 63 Lear's motion bscription 66 O'Casey or

DOWN 1 Southern dish 2 Of the ear . state 5 Leave

6 Astringent 7 Soprano Grist 8 Ultimate 10 U.S.S.R. 12 Flatten by 13 Like Carroll's Hatter 26 "Tall, and terrific" 21 Comfort, in MADRID

MANILA MEXICO CITY MIAMI MILAN

MONTREAL MOSCOW MUNICH NAIROBI NASSAU NEW DELHI

NEW YORK NICE OSLO PARIS PEKING PRAGUE RIO DE JAKE

TAIPEI

TELAVIV

TOKYO TUNIS VENICE
VIENNA
WARSAW
WASHINGT

ADVERTISEMENT

INTERNATIONAL FUNDS

October 6, 1981

INVESTMENT Frankfur

wy Nor. Amer. Inv. Fund. (w) Nor. Amer. Bank Fd w) N.A.A.F. m) NSP FIT 10SP : $126.44] d ! Panmec Shipping S.A...

Other Funds

SF 444.30 SF 740.00 SF 770.00 SF 723.00

Bermud: $19.9 $162.90 $165.51 $34.63 $ 79.59 $ 25.77 $ 94.05 $ 20.51

ERNST & Cle AG PB 2627 Bern Fund SF 17.44 stow Fund SF 4.14 Fund N.V. ST 2.55

DIT INVESTMENT FRANKFURT

INTERNATIONAL INCOME FUND

ROTHSCHILD ASSET MGTM (CI):

—)r I O.C. Dir Commodity Tr.....

LOW C F Foir 17 4.1 Foir 10 50 66 Foir 10 50 Foir 19 46 Foir 9 46 Foir 13 55 Cloudy 9 48 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 10 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 10 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 10 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 10 50 Cloudy 11 52 Roin 11 50 Cloudy 10 Cloudy 10

Cloudy
Foody
Foody
Fold
Cloudy
Fold

25 Ancient Greek weights or coins 25 Island discovered by

> 27 Nautical 29 Paydin

side 31 Stylish shop 32 Exhausted 37 Messes un 39 Haw's partner 41 Retort irritably 44 Married on the run 45 Achieved 46 Medleval lyric 46 Medieval lyric poem 47 Steep slope 50 Sky Bear 51 Approximate 52 Pen name of H. H. Munco 53 "Dies ____"

53 "Dies-," ancient hymn 54 Roman-fleuve 55 1958 Pulitzer recipient 56 Distinctive flavor 57 Twilights 58 Morning

| High | LOW | C # C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F | C F |

ACE SCHOOL FOR GIFTED CHILDREN ... HOW ABOUT THAT, CHUCK?

JACK AND JILL TO FETCH A PAIL OF WATER SOUILLTOOK JACK FELL DOWN THE CABLECAR WENTUPTHEHILL AND BROKE HIS CROWN

HERE'S THE BRADLEY CONTRACT-AND DON'T BUMBLE IT! 0 N D

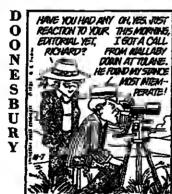

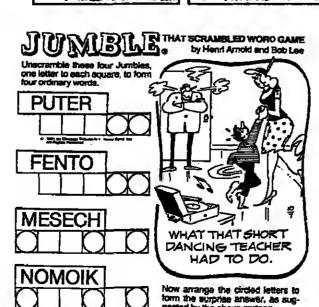

Jumbles: FOCUS NEEDY CLEAVE INFLUX Answer: What she thought the defensive back was-VERY OFFENSIVE

Imprime par P.I.O. - 1, Boulevard Ney, 75018 Paris

CLOSE IT! THERE'S A DRAFT! THERE'S ALWAYS A DRAFT IN THERE !

BOOKS

RICHARD NIXON

The Shaping of His Character By Fawn M. Brodie. (Illustrated.) 574 pp. $18.95. W. W. Norton & Co., 500 Fifth Ave., New York 10110.

Reviewed By Christopher Lehmann-Haupt

THE late Fawn M. Brodie was something of a psychohistorian or so one would have to conclude from passages in the two books that she published prior to the current one, "The Devil Drives: A Life of Sir Richard Burton" and the cootroversial Thomas Jefferson: An Iotimate His-

So there was almost bound to be in her final biographical study, "Richard Nuton: The Shaping of His Charac-ter," at least a few of those psychoanalytic passages that make a reader flinch with their simplistic presumptuousness.

For example: "Did Frank Nixoo kick his sons? The theme of kicking. and of being kicked, appears early in Nixon's life, and surfaces repeatedly." "His statement to the press in 1962, after the defeat by Pat Brown, became famous: 'You won't have Dick Nixon to kick around any more.' Less widely known were private comments such as 'We'll kick their toes off in 1968,' and 'Kick the weirdos and beardos on the college campuses.' "Whether Frank Nixon kicked his son or not is not as control to the Winner of the weight as the college campuses.' certain as that Nixon felt himself to be kicked around by his father." Or apropos of his famous Moscow con-frontacion with Nikita S. Khrushchev "But Nixon turned the shouting aside with a soft word, as he had done youth, and the confrontation ended amicably." in countless kitchen debates in his

Straightforward Reconstruction

Yet such shots from the hip are few and far between in Brodie's biogra-phy, which, though written in the per-spective of the catastrophic end of the Nixoo presidency, coocentrates its details on the years before his 1968 elec-tion. Indeed one wonders at times whether the book was really intended to be a psychological study. For after starting off with an intense examina-tion of Nixon's childhood and youth in which Brodie looks at "The Punishing Father," "The Saintly Mother,"
"The Unsmiling Child" and "Death and Two Brothers," the book seems to shift gears and become a straightforward reconstruction of a career that is already too familiar to readers.

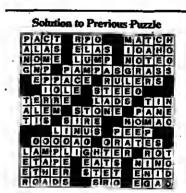

Eventually, though, we come across a particularly striking example of what makes Brodie different and more challenging as a psychohistorian. She has been discussing the role of accidents in Nixon's career. This of course brings up the assassination of John F. Kennedy. This in turn raises what Brodie sees as the connected subjects of Fidel Castro and Nixon's Nixon. attempts to blame Kennedy for Ngo Dinh Diem's assassination, which Brodie introduces by writing, somewhat cryptically, "The Diem story, also essential in illuminating the theme of fratricide in Nixon's life, we shall tell only briefly."

Theme of Fratricide

Fratricide? we wonder. What does the death of Diem have to do with the "theme of fratricide in Nixoo's life." Then we recall Brodie's early point that Nixon must have felt enormous guilt about surviving, and even

Artist Donates Works

The Associated Press
CITTA DI CASTELLO, Italy — Alberto Burri, one of Italy's leading contemporary artists, after resisting pres-sure from New York, Paris and Rome, has announced that he would donate his life works to his native city, which has poured nearly $1 million into a one-man museum. Burri is known for his collages of burlap sackcloth, crackled paint and wood combustion.

prospering from the deaths of two of his brothers, Edward and Arthur. And we realize that much of what she has been discussing in apparently neutral terms really has to do with this theme

This point she clinches in her final chapter. The Nixon Character, where after recalling all the brother. rivels Nixon has contended with der-ring his career (Gerhart and Hanns Ei-sler, Alger and Donald Hiss, Fide and Raul Castro, John and Robert Kennedy), she concludes: The pains to which Nixon went to prove that John Kennedy had connived in the sassination of the brothers Dien would seem to have been one more attempt to say, Someone die guilty, oot I.

guilty, oot I.

The big drawback to Brodie's painstaking, overarching approach is that it involves so much recapitulation of the sordid and, for the time being, too familiar, Nixon story. The only maidental compensation for reading it as again is that by reviewing all the vast research that has been done on Nix. on's career, the author is able to introduce certain details we may not have heard before, such as Leonard Garment's speculation to Robert Wood-ward and Carl Bernstein that the real reason Nixon failed to destroy his off-ice tapes was because he "wanted the world to see him go to the bathroom." which Brodie takes to mean he want-ed to reveal his ineffable dirtiness.

But the advantages to her leisurely rehashing approach far outweigh the disadvantages. By compiling so much evidence for her insights, Brodie and only avoids (mostly) the glib insights that psycholistorians are so inclined to toss off, she also succeeds in creating a weighty portrait of Nixon as a remarkable man undone by forces that shaped his parents and his child-hood. That he had a dimension of tragedy may be hard to imagine for many who have had to live through the past three decades. But as the sound of his voice fades and the hidden sides of his character are unearthed, one suspects he will emerge as a more tragic figure than many of us would begrudge. This process of excavation Brodie's study has begun.

Christopher Lehmann-Haupt is: the staff of The New York Times.

Best Sellers

The New York Threes This list is based on reports from moookstores throughout the United Sta

FICTION

4 THE THIRD DEADLY SIN, by CORKY PARK, by Martin Cruz 6 THE CARDINAL SINS by An-B NIGHT PROBE, by Clive Cossler. 14
BREAD UPON THE WATERS. by Irwin Shree

10 THE LAST DAYS OF AMERICA, by Paul Endman.

11 THE GIATTER DOME, by Joseph Wambangh 12 LUCIANO'S LUCK, by Jack Hig-gina

13 THE CLOWNS OF GOD, by Morris West

14 WOMEN'S WORK, by Ame Toistoi Wallach

15 CHANCES, by Jackie Collins.

NONFICTION THE BEVERLY HILLS DIET. by Judy Mixed

THE LORD GOD MADE THEM
ALL, by James Herviot

ALL, by James Herviot

NEVER-SAY-DIET BOOK, by Richard Simmous

THE CINDERELLA COMPLEX,
by Color Design

by Colette Dowling
MISS PIGGY'S GUIDE TO LIFE, by Miss Piggy as told to Henry Beard. Heavy Beard.

6 LIVING ALONE & LIKING IT., by Lynn Shahau.

7 HOW TO MAKE LOVE TO A MAN, by Alexandra Penney.

8 KEEP IT SIMPLE, by Marion Burros

9 COSMOS, by Carl Segum.

10 THEORY Z, by William G. Ouchi

11 THE EAGLE'S GIFT, by Carlos Castanoda.

Castaneda
12 THE HITE REPORT ON MALE
SEXUALITY, by Shere Hite.
13 JANE BRODY'S NUTRITION
BOOK, by Jane Brody.
14 SOCIAL STUDIES, by Fran Lebowley. bowitz

15 YOU CAN NEGOTIATE ANYTHING, by Herb Cohen

BRIDGE

A N event that was developed in New York City and has found surprisingly few imitators, is the triathlon, in which four players compete as a team, as pairs and as individuals. with overall rankings in all three cate-

On the diagramed deal a former triathlon winner had a rare experience. South was able to avoid the loss of a trump trick although he was missing six trumps, headed by the queen-jack. Neither defender had a queen-jack

North-South bid quietly to two hearts.
West led the spade ten, which was covered with the jack, queen and ace.
South led a club, and when West

Pass Pass Pass

West led the spade ten.

♦KQ76 NORTH ♦KJ3 VA9 ♦A1082 ♣K1032 EAST (D) ♦105 ♥Q6 ♦KQ763 ♦Q9764 VJ542 SOUTH ◆A82 ♥K10873

498 East and West were vulnerable. The out sacrificing a trick. 10 IN.T.

tricks, South therefore made nine.

Making overtricks by clever maneuvering of this sort will be vital when he attempts to regain his triath-ion title, for two of the events are scored by match points and one on B board-a-match basis.

Construction, To lowery.

played low, the king was played from dummy. West took a club with his queen and persevered with spades.

South took the king in dummy, ruffed a club, crossed to the diamoud ace and ruffed the last club. He was safe from an overruff since West had to follow. The position was now this: EAST 409

SOUTH

By Alan Truscott

8 ♥K108 ♦95

NORTH

VA9

WEST

♦ 1082

Now it was a simple matter to exit with a spade or a diamond. Sooner or later he could be sure to make three trump tricks thanks to the presence of a doubleton honor in the West hand. With any other trump distribution barring, of course, a queen-jack dou-bleton — one of the defenders would have been able to lead a trump with-

Instead of making the obvious eight

The Soccer Scene

Eagles Beat Falcons on Field Goals

PHILADELPHIA - Two interceptions and a famble set up three Tony Franklin field goals as the undefeated Philadelphia Eagles beat the Atlanta Falcons, 16-13, in a National Football League game Monday night.

The Eagles withstood a second-half rally in which Atlan-ta's Mick Luckhurst kicked a 35-yard field goal and, 12 seconds later, cornerback Kenny Johnson returned a fumbled kickoff return 20 yards to cut the Eagles' lead to 13-10 with 4:05 left in the third period.

Philadelphia made it 16-10 with 11:46 left in the game on Franklin's third field goal, a 43-yarder. Atlanta then drove to a first down at the Eagles' 18, and Steve Bartkowski threw to Jenkins in the end zone for a touchdown, but the play was wiped out by a holding penalty.

Luckhurst, an English import who was signed as a free agent, kicked a 43-yard field goal to make it 16-13 with 6:45 left. Philadelphia's Ron Jaworski completed 17 of 26 passes for Philadelphia's Al Chesley (59) slipping away from Atlanta's Mike Kenn, right, after he intercepted a Steve Bartkowski pass in the first quarter to set up the Eagles' first field goal.

NFL Standings

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

AMERICAN CONFERENCE
T PP PA Pct.
W T PP PA Pct.
W T PP PA Pct.
T P NATIONAL CONFERENCE

1 4 9 83 109 280
Wastern Division
3 2 9 122 78 .000
3 2 9 123 94 .000
3 2 9 113 106 .000
3 1 4 9 50 105 .200 Sendary, Oct. 11
Cleveland of Pithsburgh
Los Angeles of Atlante
New England on New York Jets
Philodelphia of New Orleans
Chalandful Baltimane
Opiciand of Kaness City
Seaffile of Houston
Tannes Bay at Green Bay
Washington at Chicago
Delinas at San Francisco
Delinas of Deriver

A Relaxing Day Off With Billy Martin — Well, Not Quite

By Ross Newhan Los Angeles Times Service

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Billy Martin, the Oakland manager, satat a hotel bar here Monday aftermoon swapping stories with friends while waiting for A's equipment man Frank Giensczyk, listening via radio in the hotel lobby, to bring him reports on the first game of Kansas City's rescheduled double-header in Cleveland.

"Four-zip in the fourth," Ciensczyk said, sticking his head into

Martin absorbed the news, then slid a tongue into his cheek and said, "Makes you mad to think that Kansas City had the chance to go to Cleveland today and play a couple games while we're forced to wellen.

The atmosphere around Billy Martin seldom stays relaxed for long, this occasion being no exception. He was soon talking about having been lied to by American League president Lee MacPhail and saying they could shove the best of five series for the AL West championship, that it wouldn't start until Kansas City played two more makeup games because the Royals hadn't won anything yet.

Martin's anger didn't stem so much from the fact that the Roy-als, via their 9-0 victory over Cleveland, had clinched the Second Season title. Nor did it seem to stem from the fact that Oak- And he was angry simply be-land, the first-half titlist and pos- cause he thought the Royals, sit here relaxing, drinking a beer or sessor of the second best overall forced to go to Cleveland because two." sessor of the second best overall forced to go to Cleveland because record in baseball (64-45 compared to Cincinnati's 66-42) would now play two games here instead of just one.

The first of those games was scheduled Tuesday, with Mike Norris (12-9) of the A's opposing Dennis Leonard (13-11), twice a shutout winner against Oakland in the last three weeks.

Martin was angry at reports that the Indians had just gone through the motions against the Royals, saying, "If that's true, they should get the beaviest fine in baseball history. When is the commissioner going to stand up and do some-thing?"

Spiliterff, Wright (4), Horsenaker 19) and Wather, Kacifer (9); Welfs, Monee (8) and CBanda, W.-Sellinerff, S.S. L.-Walts, 8-10, HR.— Kanses City, G.Breff 1a), A.—Jos.

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS

EDITORIAL ASSISTANT, void From working papers, good typist. Reable Good with Figures, Call Mine Snow, Paris 747 12 65, marnings, American student to work on its U.S. holiday programs. Box 258, Herold Tribune, 92521 Neutly Cedes, France.

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

VERY ATTRACTIVE highly respectable lady, 30, well tra-volve, flower in German, Spanish, Eng-lath, Sweptish and Norwegian, Intelligent and efficient, willing to work 20 hours' week.
Only legal and genuine assignments considered. Can you afford see!

Tel: Lendes 267 2248.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Pon't prins INTERNATIONAL SECRETARIAL POSITIONS

ie Jozef Mlynarczyk is amnestied after his drunken behavior at Warsaw airport a year ago, and back too are the leading players who re-belled on his behalf — Zbigniew Boniek, Władisław Zmuda, Stanislaw Terlecki and Wlodzimierz Smolarek. The suspensions, ranging from other firm stride nearer World two months to two years, were en-The ice in question is used to cool drinks. Obviously, we appreforced when Poland traveled to Malta. East Germany, however, is ciate that Soviet players are mostly tectotal now that some of their col-leagues have been banished for sterner opposition, and the forces that prevail the world over, the morality of forgiveness and picking the best men for th job, are as drankenness. But even ice in their Cokes is a danger, to judge from intestinal complaints that afflicted strong in the East as the West. Boniek, the playmaker, is partic-Internationale of Milan players who contested a UEFA Cup match ularly vital to his nation's hopes. He is the best talent in Poland. in Turkey a fortnight ago. The Italians took their own food and their irascible but nevertheless a match own cook, and still tripped up on local ice. Little else can bother the Russians in Ankara, where no World Cup visitor has failed to triumph. Played eight, lost eight, with a sin-gle goal against 23, is the Turkish record, and part of that was in-curred in Moscow last month when the Dynamo Thilisi men at

By Rob Hughes
International Herald Tribune LONDON - If it is not too little or too late, here is a message for Soviet national coach Konstantin

Ice in Turkey? No, we haven't departed from reason. Nor are we unaware that the Russians are the hottest of favorites to beat the Turks on Wednesday and take an-

Cup qualification.

Beskov: Keep off the Turkish ice.

the Soviet helm ran out 4-0 victors. Such inequality is inconceivable in two other World Cup matches involving the Iron Curtain con-tenders. In Leipzig on Saturday, East Germany clashes with Po-land, and in Bucharest the goal-shy Romanians attempt to conquer

Switzerland. The Leipzig encounter is pure pistols-at-dawn between the mechanized Germans and their more

BASEBALL

Chuck Hiller, Hub Kittle, Hol Lonier, Dave Rick-attract and Red Schoendienst, cooches, would be his Kingston, Octorio, junior teorn.

BASKETBALL

BUFFALD SABRES—Cinimed Yvon Lambert, left wing, from the Montreal Conadiene.

COLORADO ROCKIES—Claimed John War

Hitchinal League
CHICAGO CUBS—Blaned Randy Mort er, to a one-year contract for the 1982 and ST.LOUIS CARDINALS—Announce

te, plocekicker, on waivers, HOCKEY

Caution: Slippery When Iced flamboyant, less reliable neighbor.
The Polish national unrest is apparent in its soccer: National goalthird consecutive World Cup parent in its soccer: National goalfinals, or whether the East Germans succeed for the first time since 1974.

Desperation Time

Romania, meanwhile, is desperate for goals against the Swiss. The morning after Romania and Hungary drew, 0-0, in Bucharest to apparently damn England to failure in their group, a Romanian official was crying on the shoulder of England manager Ron Greenwood: "The Romanians," he said, "are petrified of having to play games to qualify against Switzerland. Apparently Romania has a terrible history against the Swiss, with 7-1 and 4-1 recent results. Apparently not. Ron. The Romanians, with a mere four goals against three in six games so far, winner. Zmuda and Mlynarczyk last played the Swiss in 1968 and 1969, winning both times. They did lose, 7-1, in Zurich 14 years are needed for experience, and young left winger Smolarek is needed now that the nation has abondoned trying to back the for-eign legionnaires Grezejorz Lato and Andrezej Smzarmach.

Their misdeed will be buried for ago, but they beat the Swiss, 4-2, before that.

What the Romanians fear is not so much Claudio Sulser & Co. good if they can bold or defeat the East Germans. In Chorzow last from Switzerland, but their own inability to score. Since Marcel Raducann defected to Borussia May, East Germany considered it-self cheated in losing 1-0 after its Dortmund they have no goalscor-er, and while he telphones home to his wife and baby son and to his former teammates, they are threatstrong, fast, experienced striker Joachim Striech had a goal disalened with the carrot and the stick.

Neither team has warmed toward this task successfully. Po-land lost a friendly match to West Germany, 2-0, and East Germany The carrot was voiced by national soccer overlord Stefan Kovacs when he promised that those players who don't run away can go to the West after the World Cup. The went down, 4-2, to the English club champion, Aston Villa But since Malta is the only other constick came from Kovacs' bosses, who warn that he, as well as his laboring team, will lose all privitender in their group, Saturday's leges, not to mention visas, if they don't qualify. The way Costica Stefanescu marshals the Romanian rear guard, one goal may be sufficient. That same precious margin already appears likely to take New Zealand to the finals after its historic 0-0 draw in Peking and 1-0 home victory over China. Wherever they come from, they are human and and therefore ripe for the taking.

FISA Re-Elects Balestre

The Associated Press

PARIS - Jean-Marie Balestre of France was elected Tuesday to a Sport Federation (FISA), the ruling body of world motor racing. Balestre received 33 votes; his only

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

The magnificent

STELLA SOLARIS

The yocht-like

STELLA OCEANIS

3-4-7 DAY CRUISES

The best of the Greek letonds, Egypt, sroet, Cyprus and Turkey, Every Monday and Friday from Fireuse. Please apply to your trunel agent or SUN UNE, 2 Kar. Service Str., Athens.

Telez 21-5621, Pisone 3228-883

HOTELS

NIGHT CLUBS

ITALY

HOTE. LA PENCE et des Aristes, Pre-formed for its unique atmosphera, kou-urious cumfort, but moderate prices. Near Theorie to Fenice, 5 mins welli-ning distones from 35. Morros Sciume. Reservotions. Tel: 41 32333 Venice Tix 41130 Fenica. Monoger Donée Apol-lonio.

U.S.A.

TUDOR HOTEL, 304 East 42nd St., New York City. In festionable, East Side Manhatten, It black from UN. Single from $48; doubles from $60. Teles. 422951. Tel: 800-522-7568

FOR SALE & WANTED

CARTIER, PATEX, BOLEX
8. other high quolity clocks, wotches 8. every worsted by English collector, 18 prices cash poid. Tel London 286 0647 Mr. Marsin, or send defails to Box 40238, HT, 103 Kingeway, London WC2.

EDUCATION

REALISTICALLY learn Franch. French cooling and wines in a comfortable French harne in rurel BLECGLNY. Small numbers, adults only. For informa-tione YETABO, Polly, 89140 Ponts-Yone, France.

ESCORTS & GUIDES

AMSTERDAM APOLLO Escort Service 76 Apolioloon, Amsterdam (0) 20 766176.

FRANKFURT ESCORT AGENCY TEL

OGT 1-671653
VIENNA - HARMONY Escort Service.
Tel: 63 89 05 or 02244/2418.
ATHENS ESCORT SERVICE. Tel:
Athens 340 3062. Escorts worsted.

MADRID: CATHERINE & ROBERT Excert Service, Tel. 254 9160.

DUESSELDORS-COLOGNE Domino English Escort Agency, 0211/38 31 41, ZISECH - Tel: 0049-6103-82048.

ZURICH - Tel: 0049-6103-82048.
Omego Escot Service/Germony.
FRANKTIET - WESSADEN - MAINZ
SHRLEY Escot Service 0611/282728.
FRANKTIET - SIMONE AUSTRIAN
ESCOT Service. Tel: 59-50-46.
FRANKTIET - KAREN Escot Service.
Tel: 0611-681662.
DUESSED CRET ESCORT SERVICE. Tel:
0211-492605.

LONDON CHANTELE Escort Service. Tel: 231 1158 or 231 8818.

LONDON EXECUTIVE Excert Service.

Tel: 262 3108.

LONDON BIANCA Scort Service, Tels 01 352 3467.

LONDON MARSLE ARCH Escort Service. Tel: 01 723 5999.

Managers Bill Virdon of Houston, left, and Tom Lasorda of Los Angeles met between workouts at the Astrodome on the day before the start of their National League West mini-playoff series.

Baseball's Set for a Long October

duces another new wrinkle - divisional playoffs created in the wake of the seven-week strike that divided the year into two separate but not necessarily equal champion-

Four teams - Kansas City and Milwaukee in the American League, and Montreal and Housion in the National — who used the second season as a ticket to post-season play, are opening the playoffs at home.

In Tuesday's games, Los Angeles was at Houston in the National

Reds, Concepcion Set 5-Year Accord For $4.5 Million

The Associated From CINCINNATI — Shortstop
Dave Concepcion changed his plans to test the free-agent market Tuesday and signoff the largest contract ever given by the Cincinnati Reds.

The 33-year-old Venezuelan agreed to a five-year guaranteed contract that will pay him approximately $4.5 million through 1986. "I believe it's the largest compen-sation package paid to a shortstop in major league baseball," the Reds' president, Dick Wagner, said in announcing the signing.

The Reds broke a long-standing policy by offering the guaranteed contract, under which Concepcion will be paid even if he is injured while playing and cannot perform.
The five-time Gold Glove-winning shortstop had one of his best years offentively in 1981 after having surgery on his right elbow. He battod 306, finished fifth in the National Longue with 67 runs batted in, and tied for the league lead with 14 game winning RBI.

France Plans a Comeback

United From International NEW YORK - Joe Frazier, the former heavyweight champion, said Monday he intends to begin a comeback must simuth against un-bearen Monte Sinsters, Prezier re-tired after being stopped by Goorge Forement in hime, 1976.

NEW YORK — Baseball's Kansas City in the American lowing games before the split seastrangest season this work introbegin Wednesday, with Philadel-phia at Montreal in the National League and New York at Mil-waukee in the American. The survivors in each best-of-five series advance to the league championship series, beginning Oct. 13. That will lead to the World Series, starting Oct. 20. Barring rainouts, the seventh game of the World Series, if needed, is scheduled Oct. 28, which would be the latest date in history for a championship baseball game.

The strike-interrupted season caused other oddities as well. Missing from the post-season lineup are the Cincinnati Reds, who had baseball's best overall record this season with a 66-42 mark but finished second to the Dodgers in the first half of the season and to the Astros in the second half.

"Here we are," said the Reds president, Dick Wagner, "with the best record in baseball, yet we don't get any of the fruit."

Also absent from the playoffs are the St. Louis Cardinals, who had the best record in the NL East over the full season at 59-43 but also finished second in both halves, first behind the Phillies and then behind the Expos.

In Columbus, Ohio, three fans suit seeking to stop the playoffs because of the split season, alleg-ing that it has caused them "severe mental distress, psychological damage and permanent loss of faith in the integrity of major league baseball.

The three, rooters for the Reds, Cardinals and Detroit Tigers, said they invested large amounts of formula used by statisticians.

drawn Tuesday, sought $150,000 and a declaration that Cincinnati, St. Louis, Milwankee and Oakland were division champs, with the playoffs to begin in Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

What Might Have Been

Based on combining the standings of the split season, Milwaukee would have won the AL East by one game over Baltimore with New York finishing third, two games behind. Oakland would have won the AL West by five games over Texas, with Kansas City fourth, 10 games behind, and under .500 at 50-53.

In the NL, Cincinnati would have won the West by four games over Los Angeles and six over Houston, and the Cardinals would have finished two games ahead of Montreal and two and a half in front of Philadelphia in the East.

After being eliminated from the playoffs on Saturday, the Reds staged pre-game ceremonies Sun-day and presented themselves with a pennant that said, "Baseball's Best Record 1981."

Because of the strike, which cancoled about a third of the 162game season, there were no 20game winners among the pitchers filed — and then dropped — a law- and no 100-runs-batted-in men and no 100-runs-patien-in men among the hitters this season. Pittsburgh's Bill Madlock led the National League in hitting with a .341 average but became the first batting champion to do it with fewer than 100 hits. Madlock was 95-for-279 and had 320 plate appearances, one more than over the minimum he needed based on the

> How the Standings Would Have Looked NATIONAL LEAGUE AMERICAN LEAGUE at W L Pol. 68 62 df Jdf ---39 dc Jdf ---39 dc Jdf 2 39 dp Jdf 2 39 dp Jdf 2 39 dp Jdf 2 39 Jd Jdf 7 37 dp Jdf 2 34 10. 254 254 261 261 261 261 2 272 13 13 13 21% 294 7 TL Misery (Fle.) (2-) Chicago Chicago 14, town 31, 136-11 15, town (3-1) 14, UCLA (3-1) 17, Onle St. (3-1) 京が京都市の .611 573 586 586 .672 Cincinnell Los Aneries Houston Son Francis 11. Nebrosko (2-2) 19. Florido SJ. (2-1) A Ministroi 3. ... (Note: Arimen Sinte o India: arimen pre-here during the last weekend of the regular sesson, should have been forced to stay there a little longer, concentrating on anything except Tuesday's playoff opener. Martin's Understanding It was Martin's understanding that the Royals had to play the second game no matter what happened in the opener. Martin said MacPhail had assured the A's that the Royals would have to play both games, that assurance coming last week when the A's agreed to let Kansas City skip a makeup game against Toronto so that the playoffs could open Tuesday as If the Royals had played and lost Monday's second game in Cleveland and a rescheduled game with Toronto (which would have been played Tuesday), the A's would have won the Second Season title and been rewarded with four of the five playoff games at home. When the Toronto game was tossed out ("We gave up purity in the interest of practicality," MacPhail said Wednesday), the second game in Cleveland meant nothing. The Royals, in fact, could even have forfeited it after winning

"And they could have been fined $500,000 if they had done that," Martin said.

That Kind of a Year

The controversy Martin generated when Ciensczyk told him the Royals were on their way back seemed an appropriate addition to a strike-torn season Martin described as an abortion. It also seemed much ado about nothing, particularly since the A's president, Roy Eisenhardt, acknowledged he had suggested the plan by which the Royals would travel to Cleveland but pass Toronto. Nevertheless

"If you lie to me," Martin said, "I'll come right at your throat. A man's word is his bond. I'd have never agreed to letting Kansas City out of the Toronto game if I had known they were going to play just one game in Cleveland. I don't care if they had cleared the bench and used the rinky-dinks, they were supposed to play the second

"I'm going to make some calls. If I find out I've been fied to, they can shove the mini-series. It won't start until the Royals play two more games. They can go back to Cleveland tomorrow, play in To-ronto Wednesday and we'll open the mini-series Friday. If it's snowing in Toronto, they can play it here, with Toronto the home

Martin's misunderstanding seemed to be more with his club president than league president. Eisenhardt acknowledged as much He also said the playoff would open on schedule and that Martin would cool off by Tuesday.

College Football Polls The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Top Treaty learns in The Associated Press callenge front oil point with first place votes in parentheses. Session's record and leading shorts, Points based on 25-H-17-17-15-15-16-15-16-15-16-16-16-16-16-16 LSouthern Col (58) 2.Penn St. (a) 3-04 U.BS
3-64 U.BS
3-64 U.BS
4-04 U.BS
4-04 U.BS
4-05 7.BS
4-06 455
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 46776
1-1 467 Texas (1) SWorth Corolina 9.Clemson 19.Okleheme 15.lowo 14.Wigoti (Fla.)

United Press Internal of Board of Cooches Too 28 college feesball bars, with first-place votes and record parentheses. perendicises. 1. Southern Col (40) (4-0) 2. Penn St. (2) (7-0) 1. Texas (3-0) 4. Pittsburgh (3-0) 5. North Coroline (4. Michigan (3-1) 7. Alabama (4-1) 8. Brighton Young (5-6) 9. Georgia (3-1) 10. Clembon (4-6) 11. Missouri (4-6)

ma (7-1-1)

Billy Martin Monday's Line Score

Brubaker, left wing, from the Hartford Wi NEW YORK ISLANDERS—Assigned DALLAS MAVERICKS-Cut Ched Kinch, NEW YORK ISLANDERS—Assigned A Hondy, defensement, Jolle Skilott, carder, Glen Duncon, left wine, to Indianapolis of Central Hockey League. PITTSBURGH PENGUINS—Claimed J Bednarksi, defenseman, from the Buf-Sabres. suord and Art Housey, center, NEW YORK KNICKS—Walved John Biolr and

HARTFORD WHALERS—Cloimed Mike McDougal, right wing, from the New York Rangers, and Rob McClanghon, center, from the Buttoin Sobres.

LDS ANGELES KINGS—Claimed AI Sime, de-tensement, from the Hartford Wholers, and Tra-vor Johnanses, defensemen, from the St. Louis

MONTREAL CANADIENS—Claimed Jeff

Tarry Kromer, guards
FOOTBALL
Medianal Football Lague
CLEVELAND BROWNS—Placed Dava Sabres. ST. LOUIS BLUES—Claimed Gary Edwards, Gootle, from the Edmonton Ollers.

VANCOUVER CANUCKS—Cluimed Ron Detorms, center, from the Colorade Rockles, WASHINGTON CAPITALS—Claimed Terry
Aurmy, determentan, from the Philodelohip Fly-HOCKETY
Mutturel Hockey Leuree
BOSTOM BRUINS—Assigned Croig MocTovish, Center, and Doug Marrison, right wins, to Erie of the American Nockey League, Amigned Roy Scholtz, peatle, to Southow of the Internalianal League, Returned Mits Mariet, gootle, to bit Kleesten, Control, busines town

lowed for offside.

winnipeg Jets-Claimed Crais Levie and COLLEGE

second three-year term as president of the International Auto challenger, Basil Tye of Britain received 17. MISSOURI VALLEY CONFERENCE-

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Transactions-

(Continued from Back Page)
EMPLOYMENT	AUTOMOBILES	AUTOS 1
	CHRYSCHET Commiss 1977 white and
TEACHING POSITIONS	- CHEVECLE! Corveite 1977 white, cu- tomptic, sir conditioned. American II- canos. $12,500, Holland (020) 460-617.	TRAN

POSITIONS WANTED

TUESDAYS in the IHT Classified Sect PRIM OF BROUGH SOLICITORS re-opines a bilingual secretary for their office in Paris. English mother langua, English shorthand & oudio, Tel: 207 56 79 Paris. 777-Oras.
FICHICH RIVERA: seeking capable well-traveled young secretary, good education, nice character, to desir in terractional businessman (33) in ex-SECRETARIES AVAILABLE

LOCKING FOR A SECRETARY? GX. COL G.S. Interim, Paris 225 59 25. TEACHING POSITIONS

WF ARE LOCKENS FOR on instructor, American nationality, for a part-line job or a teacher for our staff, from November 1st, 1981 to March 31st, 1982. M. Pasquet, Plaintures Corona, 168, Ave. Paul Volkent Couturier, 93126—La Courseve, Tel. 238 92 50, Telese 690 554. ESCORTS & GUIDES

A-AMERICAN ESCORT SERVICE ESCORTS NY & EVERYWHERE America-Transworld 212-591-2934 212-461-6091 212-961-1945 Girls, be an except. Coll or write POB 176, Fresh Meadows, NY 11365, USA

CONTACIA INTERNATIONAL e
 Excur Service in Europe
GERMANY: 06103-86122
Frankfurt - Wisschoolen - MainzCologue - Been - Dessessiont Berlin - Manich - Honsburg.
SWITZELAND: 009-6103-86122
Zurich - Benel - Leourse - BerneLessonne - Geneve.
BEGRIM: 0049-6103-86122
Brunels + major ciffes.
HOLLAND: 020-636956
Ansterdam-Hispae-Betterdom.
BNGLAND: 01-622 7969
LONDON.

SIMCA-FAIT, Boliflo 1937, very good condition, US$ 3000. Call sweeings [61] 71 58-30 France. LANGUAGE SCHOOL seeks experi-exced tractors, English/American, Tel-Poris 500 0473.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE COUPLE Moins d'Hotal - Femme de Chordres Poris Ba, Nouvi, joge Reference serious Enrivez over photo: Box 253, Hendd Thome, 92521 Neully Codes, Fronce.

MOTHER'S HELPER Must love children. Send resume &/or reference with picture for full information on this proportion, Write 218 N. Aslantic Dr., Lardene Fl 33462, USA.

PUSITIONS WANTED

BUTTER, 50, single, no ties, seaks permonent position, with ware to long term employment. Con votet & cook, Responsible, good references, available new, Europe preferred, but free to travel & work conyestered, but free to travel & work conyestere, or very codoptable. Raply Box 40212, B-17, 103 (Ringsway, London WC2.

BNGESH NANNES & Mothers' Helps free now. Nash Agency, 27 Grand Percede, Brighton, UK. Tet. 682 666.

MATRIE D'HOTTEL - CHALIFFEIR, escaling references, free impredictely. Tel. 378 45 12 Pors.

AUTOMOBILES Year ROLLS-ROYCE Dec EXECUTIVE SECRETARY, reliable, or periodical, fully blingual French / Eng-ish, mets drallenging position Pare area. Call Paris 258 91 33. At your service.
GARAGE LAUSANNE
Ave de to Horpe 1
1007 Louxenne, Switzerland
Telephone, 021/26.52.37.

ESCORTS & GUIDES YOU ARE--OR GO TEL: 212-737 3291. CACHET U.S.A.

BNGLAND: 01-422 7969 LONDON. CITHER EC CAPITALS Tal: Germany 0-6103-86122

REGENCY - USA WORLDWIDE MULTELINGUAL ESCORT SERVICE NEW YORK CITY Tel: 212.838-8027

& 212J53-1864

By reservation only.

AUTO SHIPPING SHIP YOUR CAR TO & FROM U.S.A.
VIA ANTWEIP AND SAVE Free hotel. Regulor sollings, JRC/McGoire Airport delivery, AMESCO, Kräbbestroot 2, Antwerp, Belgium. Tek 31 42 39.
Telsec 71469.
TRANSCAR 20 rue Le Sueur, 75116.
Paris, Tek 500 03 04. Nice 83 95 33.
Antwerp 23 99 85. Connes 39 43 44.

AUTOS TAX FREE TAX FREE CARS
ALL MAKES - ALL MODELS
European and worldwide delivery
Insurance - Shipment
Open Monday through Soturday.
Call or write for FREE catalog.

SHIPSIDE SHIPSIDE BUILDING P.O.B. 7568, AMSTERDAM AIRPORT-C Phone (20) 152833 - Talex 12568

ESCORTS & GUIDES

NTERNATIONAL

ESCORT SERVICE

AND PROMOTIONS
N.Y. U.S.A.
Travel crywhere with multiringual excepts.
Major Credit Cards Accepted.
212-765-754, 330 W. 56h St., N.Y., N.Y. 1001
International Exacts needed.

LONDON

PARK LANE

ESCORT AGENCY Tel: 231 1158 or 231 8818.

ZURICH

Tel: 01/361 90 00

ARISTOCATS

Escort Service Lendon 437 4741/2 12 noon - midnight

LONDON PLAZA •

Escort Service Tel: (01) 402 7748

London Classics

Escort Agency Tel: (01) 794 5218.

LONDON MAYFAIR

1979 MERCEPES BENZ 450 SLC Auto modic Brown, beinge leather interior nir conditioned, light alloy wheels, Al frequency consultarization. Correlation resintationed. Magnificant condition 72,000 loss, No customs duty point crywhere. Transii plates, USS 17,000, or other currency for quick sole. Dissi it, 62 Royste de Hancon, 1722 Visinoz. Geneva. Tel. 022 521515. MUSICIEDES 300 D, NEW, looded Phone Germany (0) 6868-517. Teles 445242 DES D.

> CAPRICE ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK

ESCORT SERVICE NEW YORK 212-242-0838 or 212-874-1310 'MAM, FORDA 205-405-1722 FILALDEDDALE, FLA. 305-942-543 Other major cities available. LONDON

Portman Escort Agency

67 Chillern Street, Leadon W1 TBL: 486 3724 or 486 1 158

LONDON BELGRAVIA ort Service tel: 736 5877.

AMSTERDAM HONESTY ESCORT SERVICE TEL: 233143.

TAX FREE NSĈO

TAX FREE CARS
LARGEST STOCK IN RUROPE
Send for free cotolog & stock let. 9:
Noorderloon, 2000 Arthwarp, Belgium
Tek 031-426240. The 35207 TRANS-B. EUROPORT TAX FREE CARS All makes. Call for free catolog. Box 12011, Rotterdam Airport, Holland Tel: 010-623077, The 250/1 RPCAR NL

AVIATION

CITATION I SP WITH TR ndord electronics pack 375 hours total time All leather uphobsery Showroom condition USA 617-665-0099 Mr Tully

SERVICES PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDE Pleasant presentation. English/French Pleasant present Paris 562 05 87.

PARTS YOUNG LADY, PR/casistant. Excellent presentation. Paris 553 62 62 PR GIRL PRIDAY. Blingual travelling assistant, Paris 527 01 93. AUTOS TAX FREE TAX FREE CARS constant, Puris 527 01 93.

INTIL PR / BUSINESS ASSISTANT :
Paris, Tall 530 13 75.

YOUNG PRENCH LADY, For a parsor of anistrat in Paris call, 541 17 40.

BUSINESS INTERPRETER and tourise guide, Paris 774 75 65.

INTERPRETERY TRAVEL companio multilingual, Paris 633 68 09. Largest inventory in Europe.
European, Japanese and American cors.
All brond new. Some day delivery and transit registerion.
P.C.T. Export International
604, Bradabasin - 2060 Marksom.
Antwerp-Belgium. Tel. 031/46.50.15 or 46.50.31 or 46.70.91. Th: 35546.

LEGAL SERVICES TAX FREE CARS SPAIN - Legal Advice - Foriegn Invest ment, Ioxation, Brigation, company real estate, banking and mining law Bax 212, Herald Tribone, Pedra Teo eira 8, Madrid 20, Spain. ALL MAKES & MODELS with Swiss licence plates. RAMPY MOTORS INC. 1290 Genevo-Versob, 89 route Suissa Tel: 022/55 44 43, Telex: 28279 or 289477

LOW COST FLIGHTS TO USA or WORLDWIDE, contact your US travel agents Paris 225 12 39.

ESCORTS & GUIDES

Samantha Escort Service USA: 212-744-0625

ESCORT GUIDE SERVICE Tab 247731.

LONDON - CHELSEA GIRL Excert Service, 51 Besuchamp Place, Lendon SW3. Tol: 01 584 6513/2749, 4-12 pm.

HAMBURG Escort Agency. Tel: 040-644 5112. EVA LONDON •

> GENEVA - JADE Escort Service. Tel: 022/31 95 09.

Excort Service Tel: 01 724 2557

AMSTERDAM Holiand Escort Service. Phone: 252259.

E.E.C. - CAPITALS Excort Service. Germony 0/7851-5719 HEATHROW ESCORT SERVICE Tel 0452 23144

ROME EUROPE Secont & Guide Service. Tel: 06/589 2604 - 589 1146 [10 cm. - 10 cm.] LONDON ZAKA Exort Agency. Heathrow & Gatwick area. Tel: 570 8038.

NEW YORK CITY, LA VENTURA Escot Service by Mio & Range, 212-888 1666; Work DC 703-998-0011.

vio. Tel: 01 723 599.

LONDON TANIA ESCORT Service.
Tel: 01 221 636.

LONDON JET SET ESCORT SERVICE.
Tel: 01 408 0228.

ENGLISH ESCORT SERVICE.
London/Heathrow. Tel: (01) 757 8754.

LONDON MARIE CLARRE Escort Agency. Tel: (01) 235 1843.

ZOE OF LONDON 6 Heathrow Escort Agency. Tel: (01) 757 6444.

ANISTERDAM. JB Escort Servica.
22/285 Butten Winningenstront. 3 - 5.
22/285 Escort SERVICE Tel: 057 5
1876-1130 - 1 pm. / 6 - 8 pm.
COPENHAGEN EXCLUSIVE Escort Service. Tel: 1-244034, 12 cm. to 12 pm.
21/2810-1-51MONE ESCORT SERVICE
Tel: 241 63 76.

NRW YORK ESCORT SERVICE
 NRW YORK ESCORT SERVICE
 Tel: 212-620-3116 or 212-620-0133.
 WONDERUL COPENHAGEN Escort
 Service, Tel: (1) 19 70 32.

Observer

Tightening My Belt

By Russell Baker

NEW YORK — President Reagan made it clear from the start that Americans would have to tighten their belts and make sacrifices, and I approved, so naturally when the mass-transit subsidy was cut I was startled because it meant shelling out 25 percent more for a bus ride.

Phoning the White House, I told the president "One of your people has made a little mistake and as a result the price of going to work has just gone up 25 per-

Baker "Well," said the president, "as I said, Americans have to tighten their belts and make sacrifices."

"That's good and we approve of it around our way, but we didn't think you were talking about Americans like us," I said.

"Just take in the belt a notch," he explained. "Twenty-five percent on a bus fare isn't much."

One day my company decided to promote me to the Omaha office, which meant the house would have to be sold quickly so there would be enough money to buy a new one in Omaha

The real-estate agent laughed. "With today's mortgage rates," be said, "you'll be lucky to find a buyer by this time next year." I telephoned the White House.

Ed Meese answered. "I'd like to speak to the president, please.

"The president is sleeping. Is your problem worth waking him up for?" I said the president had to be told mortgage rates were so high that people couldn't afford to be

"Just tighten your belt and feel good about making a sacrifice for your country," Meese said. "I know the president said everybody would have to tighten their belts," I said, "but in my case I thought an exception would be

"I can't wake the president up to tell him that," said Meese, and

AMERICA CALLING

MOVING

OUR

PACKING

IS PERFECT

INTERDEAN

International

Mover

UMSTERDAM:

AMSTERDAMS
ATHENS:
BARCELONA:
BONN:
BREMEN; BRUSSELS;
CAUTZ; O'NCAGO;
FRANKFURT; GENEVA
HAGUE;
HOUSTON:
1 CAMON;

HOUSTONE LONDONE LONGO BEACH: MADED: MUNICH: NAMES: NEW YORK: PARIS: ROME: YENNA: ZURICH:

I didn't give up the promotion easily. "We'll sell our stocks," I

The stock broker wore the friendly but reserved expression of an undertaker calling for the nextof-kin. "Perhaps you haven't been following the market lately," he

I hadn't. The losses were news to me. "By selling now you might make enough to buy a few packing crates," the broker said.

I telephoned the White House. David Stockman answered. "I'd like to speak to Ed Meese,

"Meese is sleeping," Stockman said, "Is your problem worth wak-ing him up for?" I said Ed Meese had to be in-formed immediately that the stock market was grinding decent mid-die-class investors down to fine

"Tighten the old belt a notch," said Stockman. "The president al-ways said Americans would have to make sacrifices." "I know that, but I thought he was talking about other Ameri-cans, not about me," I shouted.

The following week an entire family arrived with suitcases, trunks, furniture. Daughter, sonin-law, baby. They had been kicked out of their apartment because they couldn't get up the money to buy it in a condominium conversion.

I upbraided the son-in-law. "If you'd gone into the army like I did in World War II, you could have bought the place with a 4½-percent VA mortgage under the GI Bill," I "Sure, old timer," said the lad, "and if I'd been born in 1840 I could have distinguished myself at the Battle of Gettysburg. Mean-time, with interest rates at 20 percent, we're out on the street unless you take us in."

I telephoned the White House, The switchboard operator answered. "I'd like to speak to David Stockman please."
"Mr. Stockman is sleeping."

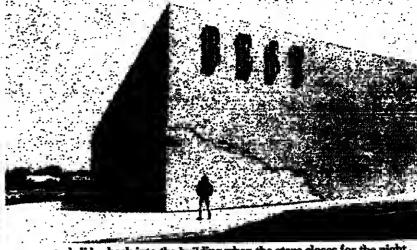

said the operator. "Then I'll take Ed Meese."

"Mr. Meese is sleeping."
"The president?" There was no answer, but from the slow regular breathing on the telephone I guessed the operator had begun sleeping, too. I tight-ened my belt and hung up. New York Times Service Niche rolls forward to provide entrance to Sacramento store during day . . .

nd slides back into the building when the store closes for the night.

U.S. Firm Brings Sense of Humor to Its Stores

By George W. Wilbur

The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Va. — Best Products Co. is projecting an unusual corporate image through storefronts that peel, tilt, roll back and crumble.

Eye-popping architectural in-novation has become the trademark of the Richmond-based catalog merchandising business. Its showroom in Houston, which has attracted international attention, features a jagged outline and a cascade of tumbling bricks that suggests arrested demolition.

"We don't think it is necessary that business portray itself as interested only in profit, with no sense of humor," said company president Andrew M. Lewis. "We hope these buildings will help humanize the relationship between business and the consum-

Best Products, founded 25 years ago by Lewis' parents, Sidney and Frances, operates 92 showrooms in 10 states and is scheduled to open seven more outlets this fall. Its annual sales exceed $1 billion.

The design changes began in the early 1970s, when the Lewises realized that all their stores and those of their competitors looked pretty much alike, company spokesman Mike Welton said. James Wines, a founder and partner of the New York-based design firm SITE, proposed a new false front for one of Best's showrooms in Richmond with a brick veneer that appeared to be peeling away from the building.

"It was an instant success," said Welton. "Passers-by would come rushing into the showroom to warn that the building was falling apart." Best later expand-ed the design changes to eight other showrooms around the country.

Gigantic Flowers

At Towson, Md. the storefront tilts up and back at a 35degree angle. At Oxford, Pa, dozens of gigantic flowers appear to grow from the front of the

In Sacramento, a 42-ton jagged notch at one corner of a showroom is rolled out on tracks in the morning to reveal the main entrance, then is rolled back at

A "fractured facade" at Cutler Ridge, Fla., makes the showroom appear as if it had been hit by an explosion, with three jagged segments spread across a parking lot. A waterfall across the entire front of the Hialeah, Fla., building provides a diffuse view of what appears to be a tropical

These buildings have undoubtedly been good for business," said Welton. "People come to photograph them and wind up buying.

building has an entrance flanked by two 12-foot-high stone engles. Outside is a cross between a medieval most and an Italian Renaissance fountain. Inside are displayed hundreds of pieces of the Lewis family's art collection and dozens of antique jukeboxes.

Plans for future showrooms also include a number of radical designs. One under study would create a store that appears to be an oversized ranch-style house, with customers entering through a slightly raised garage door. Another would be like an Asian temple, with a herd of porcelain elephants converging on the entrance.

"It's been a long time since buildings were fun," said Welton.

Loren and Ponti Art

Ordered Confiscated The Italian Supreme Court has ordered the confiscation of an estimated $6.7 million worth of an owned by Sophis Loren and he film-producer husband, Carle Pos ti. Last week's ruling, made publi in Rome Monday, allows the state to take possession of works by P. casso, Braque, de Chirico, the 18th-century Venetian artis Canaletto and other works now Canaletto and outer in Milan The art works may be sold at au or given to museums. The government seized the art works in [97] when Loren, on n visit to Italy, a tempted to take some of them one of the country. She was last charged, with Ponti, of currence fraud and was exonerated, Ponti was convicted in absentia in 1979. was converted in assembla or of currency snuggling. The Penns live in Paris, and Ponti, who was sentenced to four years in pains and fined $27 million, has not been in tuly for several years.

A former Illinois Supreme Com justice said he wanted to lead justice said he wanted to lead Delta Air Lines a lesson on input in trent their passengers. And he fail A Cook County Circuit Count input awarded $208,000 to Thomas Kuczynski, 78, and his with Melanie, 61, as compensation for head humaned from a fishing humaned from being bumped from a flight to 0 lando, Fla., in February, 1976. a citizen, I wanted to be lieure the retired justice said after the verdict was announced. "I wanted to give them a lesson." Mrs. Kle-zynski said she hoped the airling would remember the lesson. "Its public will be respected when the come to the airport, and they know that confirmed, valid ticket mean what they think they mean

Welsh poet Dylan Thomas who welsb poet Dynan Thomas, the died after downing 18 shot of 115 straight whiskey during a 1953 U.S. lecture tour, is to be honored with a plaque in the Poets' Corner of Westminster Abbey in London. Although 10,000 Weishman and petitioned to have their most factors are applied and poet homes. mous novelist and poet home Thomas' elevation was most like due to a remark by former U. President Jimmy Carter. Whit touring the abbey, which contain the tombs or monuments. Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton an Byron, Carter pointedly remarks on the absence of Thomas. "In quite certain it was Carter-flut tipped the scale," said Common Fitzgibbon, Thomas' biographic."

EMPLOYMENT

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

MENTS CAR
Friday 3 p.m. Fresta - F 235, Peugeot 305 - Peugeot 604 - fra - F 300, in-	REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE
ction, coll us (Paris)	PARIS AREA FURNISHED
ATTE JE	Your Studio or 2-Room Aportment AT THE CLARIDGE 74 Champs Elysees 8th
	I month or more A prestigious oddress. Reception Service, telen, messages. Monthement service, security.

SOUTH OF FRANCE

LIXEMBOURG

PARIS & SUBURBS

INIT'L MOVING & EXPORT, boggoge

43.85.30 601108 448 9553 961.41.41 598 5511 671.24.50 141.50.36 738.32.88 490.7444 742.85.11 475.43.57 82.43.64

ANNOUNCEMENTS SUBSCRIBE to the INTERNATIONAL HERALD

TRIBUNE AND SAVE. As a new subscriber to the sermational Herald Tribuse you can save up to 42%

For details on this special stroductory offer, write for

#IT Subscriptions Department, 181, Avenue Charles-de-Gastle, 92200 Neufly-sur-Seine, France, r phone Paris 747-12-65 eat. 305 IN ASIA AND PACETIC

niact out local distributor ar: International Heroid Tribone 1801 Tel Sang Commercial Build 24-34 Hermany Road HONG KONG Tel: 18K 5-286726

> SUBSCRIBE TO THE WALL STREET JOURNAL ATTERNATIONAL AIR EDITION

Send order with payment to J. Pahlitry THE WALL STREET JOURNAL International Press Centre 76 Shoe Lane London E.C. 4, England

WANTED
STORMS
Japanese TV deamentary program is planning to introduce tolerated distance of Europe to Japan. If you know any children under 15 years of age who are more talented than adults in the fields of any contract of the service and the service of the ser ic, sports, new inventions, and other risks, please send details to Sox 263, Herald Tribune, 92521 Newlity Cedex, France.

Inyway / Paradea, Amsterdent, Today Michael McClure, Gerald Dawe, Mazi-si Kurene, Hellend-Hellendina. FESING Low? - having problems? SOS HELP criss-line in English, 3 p.m. 11 p.m. Tet: Paris 723 80 80.

UFD47BS HOA92FB, KEEP IN TOUCH Home/Office, Subscribel 2406 - 18th Ave. NW, Olympia, WA 98502, USA. BMW 320 - F 450, Remount 5 curromon g VAT. For reserv now on 574 97 39

Ancient farms, old estates, abundaned chapels, venerable parks, age-old gardens, ancestral polaces and monors in TUSCANY/ITALY

troikable for purchase, information from Aebersold & Digesti Walchestrame 17, CH-8006 Zurich, Switzerland, Tel: 01/362 9505

363.20.00

KEY COMMERCIAL SITE DALLAS, TEXAS AREA. DALLAS, TEXAS AREA.

10.41 Available corner lot frontiInterstate I-20; ecoellent expose interstate I-70; ecoellent expose y occess. Proven site; located intermination of the proven interpretate
intermination of the proven interpretate
intermination of the proven interpretate
intermination of the provention of the p loble or 9.5%

PALM BEACH FLOREDA PROPERTIES FOR SALE ur representative, Doing Harring will be in London Oct. 3-14. Coll 235 8375. Define Regity Inc.

VAII. COLORADO U.S.A. Jim Schorsch, representative for Voil Associates, inc., avoilable for consultation & information on Voil stil resort & Bec-wer Creek resort, Oct. 12-18. Bits Hotal, Landon Tel. 01 A03 8181.

EXCLUSIVE BOCA RATION. New home, 330 sc.m. with swimming pool. U.S $ 250,000. Contact: Remail, 940 Sweetweeter Lane, Boca Ration, Florida 33434. Tel: 1305-391 2096.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

CREAT BRITAIN LONDON: New known furnished flots. Gorden setting, heated pool. Conven-ient carports. Surf 1-4, $750/190/week. Tol. London 202 4869 or 986 4062. LONDON. For the best furnished flots and houses. Consult the Specialists: Philips, Kny and Lewis, Tely London 839 2245.

LONDON PARK LANE, Actor's 2 bed-com knowy flot. £ 220/week. Close Clubs and Oxford Street. 01 493 9235. LONDON literary properties, short/flow lets - MERRIST 01 434 3717/8/9.

Renthouse International 020-448751 (4 lines) Amsterdom, Bolestein 43.

PARIS AREA FURNISHED MONTPARNASSE. Comfortable rooms) in lovely home, Facilities, cen-tral hearing, lift, piono. 734 34 49 NO AGENT BMA fully agaigned large Studio, kitchen, bathy 525 16 86

ANNOUNCE

udia or 2-Room Apartment REAL ESTA FOR SAL THE CLARIDGE namps Hysees 8th I month or more prestigious oddress ITALY rion Service, teles, message intercence service, security. Private salon. Tel: 359 67 97 Teles: 290 548F 15th METRO DUPLEX. 5 rue August Bortholdi, 28 sq.m. F1700. No ogent. Free Oct - Aug 1982. Visit 12:30 pm Thursday.

CASTLE near Luxembourg City, renovated, in good condition, becutiful remarks lectricar, with 30,592 sq.m. land, DM3,000,000. Tel, Germany (0) 68 68/517. Teleme 445242 des d.

AVENUE MONTAIGNE. Champs Bysers. Huge 3 rooms + maid's room. F390,000 + F8000 exch. Couple aged 74-76. F, CRUZ, 8 rue La Boete. 266 19 00 Peris. HENRI MARTIN, rice apartment, high class, large reception, 5 bedrooms, both & 2 maste rooms, 504 48 66.

S1.717.75.50.

Sen year financing available or 9.5% Contract
UNIVESTORS S.A.
30 Averse Legrand
1050 Brassle, Solphum
Tel: 649 96 66 Teles: 25 304.
Agents for:
Henry S. Miller Company of Dalles and Houslon.
The Largest Reafter
based in the Southwest USA.

INVESTMENT INCOME Returning 21% p.c. cranteed for first 7 years CTC Equipment AG sells internation overcost.

Covercost.

Coverco Missignestresse 64 4012 Basel, Switzerland Tel₁ (061) 44 47 47. Teles: 63426.

PANAMA Consider operating internationally COMPLETELY TAX FREE Write for informative brachure about utilization of Personn companies, step registrations, trust services, company management, or last of official English translations of Personnation Lows.

We are Personnation Lows.

First to:

INT'L SERVICE COMPANY, INC.

Intersect Building,

P.O. BOX 7440, Powerse 5

Republic of Panama.

Tel: 64-8000 - Cable: INTERSECO

Teleses: ITT 3151 * MUII 2708

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED INT'L REAL ESTATE SERVICE 'SOLEIL' The only true specialist, Short or long term, high cle furnished rectal 75008 PARIS 280 20 42

16th near BOIS

Vary beautiful 5-6 rooms, high of F9300. Tel 280 20 42.

Front of Houston building uses pile of bricks to create crumbling effect.

563 25 60. NEAR CHAMP DE MARS. Very beord-ful 4 rooms, old building, high class, litchen, bath. All comforts, 6th floor, lift. Tel. 705 02 52 from 11 cum. 51. CLOUD 110 sq.m., high class, double living, 2 bedrooms, 2 boths, parking, 7 6500 charges included. Tel: 265 96 15.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED AT HOME IN PARIS PARIS PROMO

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED SACLE 46 STUDIO TO 7 ROOMS 563 66 65

1$T. CLASS APARTMENTS & HOUSES FURNISHED & UNFURNISHED H. INTERNATIONAL 51 La Bourdonais Paris 7 551 66 99

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED EMBASSY SERVICE 8 Ave. de Messine, 75008 Paris

SHORT STAYS IN PARIS, FLATOTEL provide an attractive break from ho-tels, with fully equipped studio to 5-coom operaments, including litchem, and hotal service if desired, from stoys of one week upwards. Information / central booleing from PLATOTE, 43 run 5t, Charles, Yoris 15th, Tel 577 54 04, Tre 200406.

562 78 99

PRIVATE, cardrol near Champs Byses, 29; charming modern rooms, sixylight, cale, F.290. Tel, 321 55 78 on.; CHAMPS BLYSES, high class studio, short/long term, Tel, 562 93 32. SHORT TERM NEAR ILIDISMOURG garders, no agent, Tel, 329 38 83.

WANTED/EXCHANGE INT'L OFFICE SEEKS FOR ITS MANAGEMENT cutiful high closs expertment, 4 ros and more. Paris 281 10 20.

FURNISHED OFFICE

IN PARIS

domiclications.

Meeting Reexts, projector and sensitaneous translation equipment

GEORGE V EXECUTIVE CENTER 30 AVE. GEORGE V, 75008 PARIS Tel: 723 78 08. Telex: 612 225F.

Your Office in Paris

is ready when you need it, even for a couple of leaves. Fully functional modern offices and conference rooms to rest by the bour, day, month, etc... Your locking or permanent base. Prestige realing address, All services.

BBE CENTRE HONORE

71, Faubourg St. Hancre, 75008 Paris, Tel: 266 90 75, Telesu 642066F

NEAR MADRIENE PARIS

Your business address.
 Office address focilities with middless, phone, lelex.

S.M.P. A flue do l'Arcade, /508 PARS.

TELEX: 642061 F - TEL: 268 06 90

Stavanger - Norway

Our prompt information & office services of all kinds. Please contact.
Tel: 4 - 53 52 08. Tel: 4 0388 P.O. Box 767 N 4001 STAVANGER NORWAY

YOUR OFFICE IN GERMANY furnished offices/conference rocks, high closs, mol., telephone, telephone, select service, Germani, English, French, Spanish sepretariate, Contact: 851 - Tathersalistr, 35 6800 Marnheim I, W. Germany Tel. (Q) 621-22134 Tiz: 463740 851 D

LONDON - RURNISHED OFFICES Suites of all sizes at New Bond St. and Soville Row, Issuriously furnished, Tele-phoruss, televas, secretarical & reception rocities. Albarmania Administration Ltd., Tel: (01) 493 8165. Teles: 8955510.

PARES ADDRESS, Champs-Byses. Since 1957 LS.P. provides mail, phone, talex, meeting rooms, 5 R, d'Artois, Paris 8a. Tel: 359 4704 Tbs: 642504 F.

BRUSSELS Business Address / Office, Tix., phone, secretariol services. Con-tact Men. Tel: 511 22 26 Telesu 61344.

LONDON BUSINESS ADDRESS/ PHONE/TRLEX Energines, Soile 66, 87 Regent St., W1. Tel. 439 7094.

vice. Keizersgrocht 99. 265749. Tolex 16183.

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

group, previous control completed, 3 yrs mortesing acperance in Soudi, Egypt & Gulf seeks new chollenging position & longuage, 8 ox 259, Herold Tribune, 92521 Newlly Geden, France, ADMINISTRATIVE & PINANCIAL monoger, 40, femilier with French fla-cel policies & U.S. financial reporting. Write Box 264, Heroid Tribune, 92521 Neully Cades, France.

AMERICAN T-SHERT COMPANY seeks full time & port-sine mind us players. Apply Thursday & Friday is tween 10 n.m. & 6 p.m. of I-Shirffen, Les Guotre Temps McR, Le Dalens, Solary negohoble, U.S. ARTIST seeks female transfer extern. Tel: Paris 321 5678.24

CLASSIFIEDS

International Business Message Center.

ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN: Publish your Business Message in the International Herald Tribune; over a quarter of a million readers worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read your message. Just telex us Paris 613595, before 10:00 a.m. ensuring that we can telex you back and your message will appear within 48 hours. You will be billed at U.S. $8.20 or local equivalent per line. You must include complete and verifiable

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES	BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES
21½ per cent GUARANTEED on certificate of Deposits menum 5000 neurol laterat Poyments	DIVERSIFICATION Privately owned containes leased major shipping companies through motiongsment services of TCS have a safety provided doore overage Lodlar returns. The TCS fleet management system is different, so comprehensive that

 Deposits insured
 All mojor currencies accepted
 Centificate of Deposits pay yearly2114 per cent .17 per cent .17% per cent .17% per cent

For immediate transfer, call-London (01) 836 4688 CR USA [213] 202 1124 BROKERS AND INVESTORS (UNEQUE OPPORTUNITY)

Investors are invited to become partners in drilling of one or more all or gos wells on proven ocreage. The company invests with year.

- Insured by major recognized cornier.

- Your levestment funds are escrowed in interest bearing account with major bank until well in in production.

- Goal is to provide return of investment with interest partners.

- A return of 4 to 1 or better is expected.

- Producing reserves provide income and hedge against infliction.

- Minimum investment $60,000, for complete cletcils, contact. Precident of Colobe Ren SA, Mon-Repos 24, 1005 Lausanne, Switzerland, Telex 25185

- Telephone 021/22 35 12.

LIMITED COMPANIES

N

would like you to consider it. TRANS CONTAINER SERVICES AG Gellertstrope 18 CH-4052 Bosel, Switzerick Security Services & Products . Executive Protection. Confidential Investigations. Surveillance & Undercover S. Surveillance e. Criserona.

Assignments.
Assignments.
Assignments.
Assignments.
Assignments.
Biscourse Discrepe & Assignments.
Bullet Proof)
Bullet Proof)
Bullet Proof)
Bullet Proof)
CONTACT: LONDON (01) 586 8234
(24 hours)

GBLEY'S EL TORO'

MECHANICAL BULL or seen in the movie Urban Cowboy' storring John Tryvolta, is new evolution for immediate delivery in Europe and the For Fost. Country and Western is on its way and is going to stoy. We have a complete program fet andudes more than just selling you is mechine. We can show you have to make a lot of budd this wister. For further information. Earl L. Dubin, Exclusive Distributor, Hotel Nursberg, Mosselar. 20, D-6 Fronkfurt/M., Germany, Tek [0] 611-236742.

COMPREHENSIVE SERVICE TO Exporters & Importers If you are purchasing goods from, or saling goods to Great Britain, we can provide compassions sources of supply, quotations, marketing, finance, letters of credit, warehousing and distribution. Commission extended for introduction of business. Bodior Trading Ltd, 17 Red-crass Way, London SEI 118, Telephone (01) 403 5566. Telex 291112 BKTRAD G.

FORMED IN THE ISLE OF MAN, GUERNSEY, LEBERA, AND MANY OTHER COUNTRIES, FOR FURTHER DETAILS CONTACT: ASTON COMPANY FORMATION LTD 8 Prospect Hill Dougles ide of Man Tel: Dougles, (0224) 26591 The 629311 OSTRIBUTORS WANTED. Excisished 34 year old int'l direct marketing housewares company seeks inchroducts to distribute its products. Nest have inceviselys of direct marketing & building on exponization. Over 30 high quality, high profit, proven products. For details contact Lance Dowd, Saladmanter, 141 Howell St., Dellas, Tx., 75207 USA or teles 730018. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Enroll your vessel in the Hondures Inter-national Registry. No some cost. No in-termediary. Simple and fast procedures through leles or mail. Offices & branch at throughout the world. Write to: P.O. Box 72-C Teguioglogy, Republic Hondures, Tales 1306 HAMB HT TEXTILE MACHINERY TAMPON PRODUCTION MACHINE COTTON SWAB

COTTON SYMBE PORMING MACHINE COTTON PAD MACHINE K. Familine-Ludwig A. Co. 8646 Wagen h. Jone-Switzer Taig05/275016 The 875349 falu ch. JEANS WANTED LEVIS DENIMI ABC NORDIC DROTTHINGG 2 UPFSAIA SWEDEN . Tel: 18 134 190 Teleo: 76|65 UPFTRAD

U.S. BUYING AGENTS Act As Your Agent In U.S.A.
New York-Based Company Will Negotions All Your Buying Needs
Diversified Contacts With Large International Contact Name
CREMT SOLURD
515 E. 85 St., New York, N.Y. 10028

EXPATRIATE who had problems with his property in UK while obroad is now available to help private owners avoid smiler problems. Contact Wolf, 9 St. Albans Avenue, Queens Park, Bournemoch, Dorser, UK.

U.S. BASED international engineering and necrotting firm with access to all categories of perfensional U.S. citizen engineers and construction management personnel, desires offisiotion with international firms who have positions evolicible in Mid-East, Europe, Indonesia and Australia. We can make all arrangements for processing and relocation from the U.S.A. to any country in the world. Flease contact Bill Norman at High-Tech Advancaments, 1505 Fourth 9t, Suite 208, Sonto Monica, California 90401, Phone 213 451 8450. Also have positions available for expostrate paraticel returning to U.S.A. HIGH POWERD INVESTMENT advis-or in Europe wanted, to become part-ner in large land synndication projects in western United States. Partner/manin western United States. Partner/man-gues share consissions, managament fees and persenties of upside. Your large client/investors earn profit be-tween wholerade purchase and reflection (on location). A substantial apportunity for the sophisticited and influential advisor-portner and his large investor clients. The best may apply. 12077 Withins Blud, Blox 576, Los Angeles, CA 9025.

O'ROUSINESS IN CANADA, Start and run year own business in Conada from your location. Details: STAR, Box 111969, 8900 Augsburg, Garmany.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

OFFSHORE BANK & TRUST CO. FOR SALE LICENSED READY TO OPERATE $ 49,500-CASH Sax 15037, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neurlly Codex, France.

DISTRIBUTIORS WANTED, to sell now worldwide, new cheep product for born, general public (palent pending, Gold Medal, General Inventers Forimal arder, chain stores, drink manufacturer, grit shops & advertising item, et. Leaflet & price list. Shaltor Int'l lec. B.P. 98, 7825 Paris Cades 17.

COMPUTER PORTRAITS Printed on T-dhirts, on all costs business that can bern you $6000 $8000/month. Color, b & w. new & used systems core, on the control of the cont CENTRAL FLORIDA BUSINESSES for sola. Free brochure. Call or write Sherwood Commercial Brokers, 140 S. Orlando Ave., Winter Pork, FU 32789 USA, 305-644-0440.

HOW TO MAKE A FORTUNE publish your own newslatter, that Lane, GrO 3845, Hong Kong. BUSINESS SERVICES

REPRESENTATION About to ocquire or already own or have sold or wish to self immovable property in France... You stay require Representation or As-pillance or Advice in connection with your responsibilities lowerds the French Administrative Authorities.

> CALL, WRITE OR TRUEX Free of any abligation, for CONSUITANTS seri 1, Proce Sophie Laffile 06560 Valbanne Sophia Antipolis, france Tel: (93) 87 12 74 or 74 6340 Telox 461 975

no improve Product Newstendarty, Establish Quality Assurance/Quality, Central Programs to Meet USA, Juga-nesse and other National Engineering Standards for Pressure Vessels, Piping, Bottoing Machinery, Bactrical equip-neest. Stips or Industrial Construction. Paint or Coolings, Consoliunt Availables, Page 1998 - 1999, Period Tribute, 92321 Neurilly Cardes, France.

BUSINESS SERVICES OFFICE SERVICES YOUR LONDON U.K.

tarting a new company or subsidiary emonently based outside London royding professional or consultative We offer business executives fully furnished and serviced pressing office sutes in Central London, (no lease, flexible feores for a day/enorth/year/with secretarial and P.A. services. For this highly cost-effective service EXECUTRADE CENTRES

London 01 828 4377 Teles; 913001 TEXTS TYPED ON TRANSLATED. 2 dynamic freelone English & French mother longus secretories available to type lads on IBM mochine, translations in English & French. Tek 461 18 36
Ports or Box 261, Harold Tribune, 25221 Neully Cades, France.
POLITICAL RISK counseling for government & business planning & essecutive protection. Official & private interests also represented in U.S. Cortact Archor Agency, 1250 4th 9s. S.W., 504W, Washington, DC 20024.
MALTERATIONAL ASSISTANCE—AIK conference interpreters, mailbox, secretory, phone, erronds, financial computer programming. # mailing.

DON'T VISIT PARIS ALONG. Take a high standard private guids with cor.
Coll AFOS. 541 (18 89/529 55 75.
RISEPRETER LADY/Public Relations.
Your Assistant & Rein, Take On 31 Inc.

Your Assistant & Rein, Take On 31 Inc.

Your Assistant & Rein, Take On 31 Inc.

INTERPRETER LADY/Public Relations.
Your Assistant in Paris. Tel: 500 31 08. FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS

INVESTORS WANTED for aquity or mortgage investments in U.S. – Tescs office buildings. Pieces respond to Down M. Currey, 3800 Polary Drive, Swite A. Tyler, Tescs 75/03, U.S. SMALL INVESTORS NEWSLETTER Free copy: ASC, N. Ebbeses VE 25, 1911 Copenhagen V, Denmark. DIAMONDS

To Diamond Owners

☐ WORLD WIDE ☐

And all those who want to know what is the real market prize of diamonds. We are the only publishers of a monthly bacilist giving the nost serious and accurate prices and information of the diamond nade world wride.

Circulation: 25,000 capies per month. To obtain a free copy, places mail a self-addressed envelope to Georges Evens

Anter Polished Dept., 92 Pelikasmetraet
2000 Antwerpen, Belgium.

Capies also ovailable in PARIS - 285 87 79
LONDON - 404 (924) + 405 9687
AMSTEDDAM - 22 95 41
ZUROH - 222 19 31
NEW YORK - 719 5324> 391 2981
RIO DI JANERIO - 227 1137
Toles: $3117 DIMBOD 8 (BELGILIM)

EMPLOYMENT EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE long/short assignments in Preventive, Occupational, or Public Health, Experi-nated in administration & organization of Health Sovices - Europe, Africa, USA, Bost-Anneal UK & USA, Bost-40240, IHT, 103-Kingsway, London WCZ.

PAGE 15

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD

QUICKLY AND EASILY BY PHONE: Call your local IHT representative with your test. You will be informed of the cast immediately, and once prepayment is made your ad will appear within 48 hours. BY MAIL: Send your text to your local litt representative and you will be advised of the cost in local currency by return. Payment before publication is necessary.

BY TELEX: If you have an urgent business text, telex us, and it will be published within 48 hours in our INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS MESSAGE CENTER. For your guidance: the basic rate is $8.20 per line per day + local taxes. There are 25 letters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Minimum space is 2 lines. No

In all the above cases, you can now avoid delay by charging your American Express Card account. Cards Please indicate the following: ADDRESS:

Please charge my ad to my American Express Cord accoun VALIDITY SIGNATURE: from....

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD

at our office necrest you

PARIS (HEAD OFFICE)

For France and all countries not listed below Ave. Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex. Tel.: 747-12-65. Telex: 613595. BUROPE in the control of the property of the control of th UNITED 13M300Ms. For selectifications contact the Paris seriptions contact the Paris office. For otherstand only con-tact. Emma Reach, L.H.L., 103 (Ingewey, Landon, W.C.2, Telu-242 51 75, Telus 262,007. OTHERS HONG KONG: C. Cherroy & Asso-ciate Ltd., 703 Car Po Commer-cial Building, 18. Syndhura Ter-ron, Carte, Hong Kong, Tel-S.A.20 906 Telex; 63079 CCALHX. Stract P.O. Box 11297, Tel Ave. Tel. 229873 8, 242294, Telest 341118 EXTV E. DIT 6376. JAPAN: Todosh Mori, Medo Sele-Japan Ire., Temuracho Buldra, 3-3-14. Stanbashi, Musiko Isa. To-tyo 103. Teles. 25666. Tela 504 1925. SHIGAR-OISE: MALAYSIA: Min Sebastian, Mins Sebastian Asso-cies Inc., 5, Stadium Walk, 3rd Floor, Singapore 1439. Tel: 447 4697. Telest, ESSO/A-Cable: MREADS SINGAPORE SOUTH AFRICA: Robin A, Hormond, International Media Representatives, PO Box 4,145, Johannessurg 2000, Tels 25-8217, Telson 8-4013.

U.S.A.: Sandy O'Haro, Internation of Heroid Tribune, 444 Madison Ave. - New York 10022. Tel. 212-752-3690

TEL:

b/ rageur st., vvi., ret., say /y/vs., LONDON OFFICE. International Ser-vice. All facilities. P.O.S., 31 Croven St., London WCZ. (01) 839 7481. EURO CENTER AMSTERDAM. Full ser-vice. Keizersgrocht 99. Tel.(020) محدامنالاعل